Capitol Protest Avoids Violence

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Chanting "peace now," thousands of demonstrators marched nonviolently to the state Capitol today where they held a rally protesting the Vietnam war and the shooting deaths of four Kent State University students.

"Never again should the National Guard be called out and given live ammunition to practice its trade against ordinary citizens," proclaimed Assemblyman Willie Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, as the young people cheered.

The protesters, esimated to number 7,000 by State Police Chief Guy R. Oaks and 10,000 by city police, included college students on a long weekend because of Gov. Ronald Reagan's requested four-day "cooling-off period" shutdown of California's higher education system.

The demonstrators were urged by Dick Hodge, 31, one of the "Oakland 7" antidraft protest lawyers, to later "shut the universities down" themselves.

The crowd, which filled most of west Capitol Park, loudly booed when told Reagan had left at mid-morning to attend a Republican fundraising dinner tonight in Etiwanda near San Bernardino.

The demonstrators, many of whom had slept overnight on the Capitol grounds, marched six blocks to the state seat of government led by a huge American flag and two motorcycle policemen.

Demonstration leaders werned their colleagues over a public address system to "keep it cool" and "ignore hecklers."

Steve Whitmore, Sacramento State College student body president and a demonstration coordinator, had promised that "99.9 per cent of us will do everything we can to prevent violence. We hope to have just a good rap session with people sitting out in the sun and feeling good."

But Commanding General Glenn C. Ames wasn't taking any chances. He ordered National Guard units to be prepared to act promptly if needed. State and local police closely guarded the rally from

Protests Still Idle Campuses

The College of Marin and Sonoma State College remained closed today, but Marin high schools were open and for the most part conducted normal school days, as student concern about the expansion of the war in Southeast Asia continued. (See also story, photos on page 21.)

Sir Francis Drake High School was a notable exception as all classes were turned over to discussion of the war.

About 75 students left the campus this morning to attend a discussion session at the home of a student. Sixty more were reported to have left the campus to attend antiwar activities elsewhere.

Some classes met on a lawn at the school, where a microphone had been set up for a forum discussion. Student after student proceeded to the microphone to express concern and ideas about the war.

An attempt to find student speakers who would support the Nixon administration's conduct of the war was to no avail.

About 150 students were on the lawn. Teachers patrolled the campus to keep nonstudents from entering.

Principal Harold Allison said that the striking students, if they did not have parental permission to be away from the campus, would face disciplinary procedures.

The lawn and classroom discussions were authorized in a statement from the school's senate, composed of students, faculty and Allison, whiche was read to the student body at a general assembly first thing this morning.

About 500 students and faculty at Drake have signed a petition protesting the United States involvement in Cambodia.

Absenteeism was about twice normal today at Terra Linda High School, with approximately 300 of the school's 2,100 students absent. Students were allowed to listen to speakers discuss the Cambodian situation in the school gym.

At San Rafael High School, teachers of morning social studies classes brought in speakers to discuss student concern about peace, poverty, race and ecology. Absenteeism was average, according to Principal Alan Ellsberg.

Tamalpais and Redwood high schools reported normal attendance and no special programs was scheduled at either school.

Attendance was about 25 per cent below normal at Novato High School, but the drop was attributed to the flu. The school reported no antiwar demonstrations.

San Marin and Tomales high schools were both quiet. Attendance was normal and there was no demonstration. The flag at San Marin High School was not flying because of a light mist falling, officials said, and was not connected with any war protest.

The College of Marin, scheduled to reopen Monday, will be struck through Wednesday with an informational picket line set up by the Marin Peace Coalition, a coalition spokesman said today.

The coalition also scheduled a film, "Voyage of the Phoenix," on North Vietnam at 1 p.m. today in the supervisors' chambers of the Marin County Civic Center. The film was to be followed by speakers and an open forum for discussion of the war.

The coalition is made up of College of Marin students and faculty and other interested persons.

Students March On Ohio Capitol

COMBINED AP & UPI

As 227 colleges and universities were closed today in the widening Cambodian invasion and anger over the slayings at Kent State University, thousand students in Ohio — trigger state in the current uprisings — marched on the closed and heavily guarded capitol at Columbus to protest the deaths of the four students by the National Guard.

The students marched from the Veterans Memorial Auditorium, about a mile from the Capitol, through part of the downtown area and onto the Statehouse grounds.

A force of 150 Ohio Highway Patrol officers armed with shotguns and riot clubs ringed the building. About a dozen patrolmen guarded a flagpole flying the American and State of Ohio flag.

"Nobody's going to pull down that flag or invade the Statehouse," said Ohio Highway Patrol Supt. Robert M. Chiaramonte. "We are not going to be a punching bag for anyone."

A nearby building housing the Columbus Dispatch and the Columbus Citizen Journal also was locked, but the papers continued to work.

A patrol officer was asked if the shotguns were loaded.

"You're damn right they're loaded," he replied.

In Washington, the vanguard of thousands of students expected to participate in an antiwar rally Saturday began arriving from throughout the country.

March Set; Nixon On TV Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — With thousands of antiwar protesters heading for a hurriedly called demonstration in the nation's capital, President Nixon has moved to ease the crisis mounting over the use of American troops in Cambodia.

The President scheduled a news conference tonight (7 p.m. PDT) — his first nationally televised session with newsmen since Jan. 30—on the eve of a demonstration here expected to draw tens of thousands of protesters.

Even as the President prepared for the news conference at his Maryland mountain retreat Thursday night and today, demonstrators were evident in Washington—on Capitol Hill, near the White House and on college campuses.

Nixon is expected to take a conciliatory approach to the demonstrators, mostly young people, following the stance he adopted Thursday when he told several college and university presidents the administration would soften its hostile tone toward the dissidents.

The President took steps in that direction today.

He announced the appointment of G. Alexander Heard, chancellor of Vanderbilt University, as a special adviser to keep him posted directly on student thinking during the next two months.

He arranged for students and other demonstrators to have informal discussions with various administration policy makers both at open air meetings and indoor sessions during the current weekend.

Calls went out for the Saturday protest after Nixon announced a week ago that a joint U.S.-South Vietnamese attack had been mounted into Cambodia.

Spurred by the deaths Monday of four students when Ohio National Guardsmen opened fire on demonstrators at Kent State University, protests have swept many college campuses, often resulting in violence and student strikes.

Leaders of the Saturday demonstration have talked in terms of up to 35,000 persons for a protest in Lafayette Square just across the street from the White House, although officials say the dissenters will not be allowed that close. It was not known whether the President will be in Washington during the demonstration.

Other reports estimate the crowd at close to 100,000 persons, posing a problem for both government officials and protest leaders planning steps for controlling the demonstration.

The rally leaders held crash training programs for marshals to keep the demonstration within its stated nonviolent goal, while the 2,000-man District of Columbia National Guard was being prepared along with Washington police.

In another development Davis A. Keene, national chairman of the Young Americans for Freedom, accused leaders of the march of deliberately planning a confrontation to produce violence as part of a revolutionary movement.

Keen's statement said: 'We are urging students and others to stay away from the White House tomorrow."

There were indications U.S. officials were leaning toward relying on local authority and the National Guard available in the Washington area without drawing paratroopers and Marines from other bases.

Officials said whatever military force is gathered probably will be kept as much out of sight as possible unless troubles develop requiring its use.

The touchiest problem revolves around the dispute over the demonstration site. Officials, saying the two-block Lafayette Square is too close to the White House for safety, have ordered the park to be cordoned off, creating a demilitarized zone-like area a block north of the executive mansion.

Protest organizers had offered Thursday night to compromise, giving up the Lafayette area in exchange for the Ellipse south of the White House. But the government said this also was too close and would be cordoned off.

Earlier, the Justice Department had offered use of the Washington Monument grounds several blocks from the mansion, but the demonstration leaders turned down that site.

In a statement Thursday

Richardson Bay Plan Still Alive

By DAVID DIETZ

SAN FRANCISCO — Marin County's contested plan for development of Richardson Bay north of Sausalito stayed alive yesterday.

Although it had been expected to, the Bay Conservation and Development Commission declined to kill the proposal, going as far as to open the way for compromise on disputed features of the package.

The plan, while creating extensive recreational facilities and an open body of water in the center of the 128-acre area, also provides — to executive director Joseph E. Bodovitz's and commission dismay — for high-rise buildings of up to 12 stories and would enable each of the eight property owners in the region to fill up to 40 per cent of open water property he holds.

What rescued the project, at least temporarily, were challenges to Bodovitz's arguments as presented by county planning staff. The commission said the two agency staffs should discuss areas of disagreement and bring the plan back — for the sixth time — at BCDC's May 21 meeting.

Whether behind-the-scenes work in the next two weeks will resolve the issue remained unclear, however, since Michael Wornum, a Marin supervisor and BCDC member, pointed out that Marin was aware how the BCDC staff felt and was looking instead for suggestions from the commission, which has the final

Rohnert Park Trio Counters–Libel Suit

By BONNIE BARD

A $3 million libel suit against persons accusing the Rohnert Park city manager and city councilmen of corruption was filed yesterday in Sonoma County Superior Court.

The suit was filed on behalf of City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan and city councilmen Jack Buchanan and James W. Rogers. Each is seeking $1 million in damages.

Named in the suit were the 22 persons who signed a petition charging the men with corruption and using city business for personal profit.

John F. DeMeo, attorney for the officials, said the petition clearly libels the three men. He said all had prior knowledge that the facts presented were untrue.

"The conclusion is inescapable that it was done with malice," DeMeo said.

Apollo 14 Launch Date Shoved Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — The flight of Apollo 14, already delayed beyond its original launch date by a money cutback, is being postponed at least another two months by the explosion on last month's Apollo 13.

"Apollo 14 cannot be launched before Dec. 3," said NASA administrator Thomas O. Paine Thursday. However even that launch date isn't firm, he said.

The planned moon landing site for astronauts Alan B. Shepherd Jr. and Edgar D. Mitchell also has been changed. They'll try for the scientifically fascinating region that Apollo 13 couldn't reach—Fra Mauro, a bleak wasteland of hills, ridges and craters on the eastern shore of the moon's Ocean of Storms.

Shepard, Mitchell and command module pilot Stuart Roosa, had been training in Hawaii to land in the moon's Sea of Serenity.

Now they'll have to go to the moonscape-type land in Arizona where the prime and backup crews of Apollo 13 trained.

The Fra Mauro region is thought to contain rocks nearly five billion years old.

Paine said information from the Apollo 13 review board indicates modifications to the Apollo 14 service module oxygen tanks will require at least two extra months.

Originally, Apollo 14 was set for launching in July. But a cutback in funds forced a stretchout in flight schedules and the launch date was changed to Oct. 1.

The House Appropriations Committee, reporting on a $17 billion money bill Thursday, included $3.2 billion for NASA in the fiscal year starting July 1, a cut of $136 million from President Nixon's recommendation.

The bill provides enough money for only one moon flight in the fiscal year, which means a delay for Apollo 15, originally targeted for the first half of calendar year 1971.

Agnew Questions Fatal Kent Shots

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says the fatal shooting of four Kent State University students by Ohio National Guard troops was murder if guardsmen fired without warning and without having been fired upon.

"I don't condone their action," he said of the guardsmen. "They responded with far too much force than they should have."

Agnew's remarks were in an interview Thursday night by David Frost whose television talk show is syndicated nationwide by Westinghouse's Group W, broadcasting division. The videotaped interview will be aired next Wednesday.

Frost asked Agnew: "If it is discovered there was no shot fired at them by a sniper, and they just opened fire without a warning shot or anything . . . is the word for that 'murder'?"

"Yes, but not first-degree," the vice president replied.

". . . When there is no premeditation but simply an over-response in the heat of anger that results in a killing, it is a murder, and it certainly cannot be condoned."

Agnew said the guardsmen "were probably under a great amount of tension. One or two may have lost control and that caused the tragedy . . .

"I would guess that if a very volatile young man got a brick in the neck or in the ribs he might just blow up," Agnew said.

"One of the things that is overlooked in that incident is that the guardsmen . . . are young people, too.

"They are no older, for the most part, than the students. And if the students are not charged with a high level of responsibility in their conduct, then perhaps we should not impose upon the guardsmen a higher level."

"It seems to me," Agnew continued, "that had the rocks not been thrown there would have been no chance of the killing."

Frost: "And I suppose had the tear gas not been thrown, the rocks wouldn't have been thrown?"

Agnew: "That's right, and had the buildings not been burned and the threatening assembly not been conducted, the tear gas wouldn't have been thrown."

Republican Governors Cancel Round

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Republican governors, many of them facing turmoil on home-state campuses, have called off their spring political meeting because of "the critical nature of the present crisis."

"This is no time to have a partisan conference," said Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania, canceling the spring meeting of the Republican Governors' Association.

Most of his colleagues already had sent their regrets, and in the end only seven state governors made it to Santa Fe in time to go home again.

"The disruption of peace, violence and potential violence throughout the nation at this time has made it necessary for us to cancel this spring conference," said Shafer, association chairman.

"The critical nature of the present crisis must receive the highest priority attention by all governors."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Lebanese Strike

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab guerrillas in Lebanon made another attack in northern Israel Thursday night despite a new threat of retaliation from Defense Minister Moshe Dayan.

Guerrilla fire from across the border wounded four Israeli soldiers on patrol north of Metulla, the military command announced. The Israelis returned the fire, a spokesman said.

Dayan's warning to the guerrillas in Lebanon was partly prompted by a rocket attack Wednesday night that killed a 57-year-old Israeli and his 17-year-old daughter in the village of Kiryat Shomna. Residents of the village, six miles south of the border, demanded "reprisals and vengeance."

"Apart from civil defense measures," Dayan told newsmen, "we will have to carry on activity across the border."

Cuban Invaders

MIAMI (AP) — A second group of anti-Castro raiders has landed in Cuba, according to an exile radio broadcast.

Salvador Lew of Miami radio station WQBA identified the invaders as commandoes of the Christian Nationalist Movement. He said the Miami-based group encountered no opposition in landing.

Lew gave no details. However, Pablo Castellon, who identified himself as a spokesman for the CNM, said the invaders were led by Capt. Orlando Lorenzo, 34-year-old secretary-general of the movement.

Truman Is 86

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman is 86 today.

Truman was expected to observe the occasion with a walk, reading hundreds of greetings from well wishers, and having a quiet dinner with Mrs. Truman and perhaps a few intimate friends.

Few Minutes Late

LONDON (AP) — "Nice to see you again," said Frank Sinatra to Princess Margaret.

Arriving a little late to meet the sister of Queen Elizabeth II in a suite at Festival Hall prior to a charity performance Thursday night, Sinatra explained: "We've been in the bar."

Sinatra then went on stage, backed by Count Basie's band, and won a standing ovation from a sellout audience of 3,000 with such numbers as "Fly Me to the Moon," "I've Got You Under My Skin," and "My Way."

Tickets were listed at 25 pounds ($60) and brought up to 100 pounds ($240) on the black market. Charity yield from the performance, and another tonight, was expected to be about 125,000 pounds, $300,000.

Sit-In Charges

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP) — Playwright-actor Ossie Davis and three other persons, including his son, face criminal trespass charges for conducting a four-hour sit-in at a draft board office.

The four were among a group protesting American involvement in Cambodia and the shooting of four Kent State University students by the Ohio National Guard.

Davis, his son Guy, 17, Peter Manchester, 17, and Rev. Robert Meyer were released without bail pending a court hearing next Thursday.

Tired Of Makeup

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ricardo Montalban says he and others are tired of seeing non-Latins in brown makeup and with phony accents playing Latin-type roles on screen and television.

The veteran actor, born in Mexico City, said Thursday at a board meeting of Nosotros, the Spanish word for "we," "We're tired of Anglos playing us."

Nosotros is a newly formed group pledged to fight for advancement of Latin Americans working as actors.

13 Riot Deaths

BOMBAY (AP) — Thirteen persons have been killed and more than 250 injured in Hindu-Muslim rioting in Maharastra State, police announced today.

The riots began Thursday in Bhiwandi and spread to neighboring villages, despite an overnight curfew. About 200 arrests have been made.

Fire engines and ambulances sent to Bhiwandi Thursday night from nearby areas were mostly unable to enter the town because of attacks by rioters.

Volcano Erupts

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Volcanic Mount Hekla continued to erupt today, but families who fled from their homes near the slopes were moving back as the lava flowed away from inhabited areas.

Hekla began erupting Tuesday night, dumping ash as far as 300 miles away. Farmers expressed concern that the ashes might poison their livestock, but scientists believe the danger is remote unless there is a major eruption.

Senate Readies Vote On Cambodian Curbs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate will vote late next week on legislation to hold President Nixon to his pledge U.S. troops will be withdrawn from Cambodia by July 1. Chances of passage are considered strong.

The amendment — which will be attached to the foreign military sales bill — would use the congressional power over the purse to deny Nixon any money for "retaining United States ground forces in Cambodia" beyond July 1.

The amendment was offered Thursday by Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky.

Church and Cooper said the bill would put the Senate on record officially and for the first time against the operation in Cambodia and it would force the administration to change any plans it might have to stay in Cambodia indefinitely or further widen the conflict to provide protection for the Cambodian government.

An even stronger proposal to cut off funds for the entire U.S. military operation in Vietnam and elsewhere in Southeast Asia by December has already drawn 15 cosponsors, including Senate assistant Democratic Leader Edward M. Kennedy.

'Spring Serenade' To Help Scholars

San Rafael High School's annual "Spring Serenade" concert, a scholarships benefit, will be presented next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the San Rafael High School auditorium.

Byron Jones, head of vocal music for San Rafael schools, will conduct five groups of numbers sung by four San Rafael High School choral groups.

There will be five soloists: sopranos Mary Franz, Linda Apple, Rebecca Jones and Debbie Gotelli and bass Chris Smith, and an instrumental ensemble composed of Michelle Laird, flute; Sandy Burt, oboe; Mark Jordan, first violin; Peggy Carter, second violin; Guy Vandergrift, viola; and Cindy Hill, harpsichord.

The a cappella choir will open the concert with the "Te Deum Laudamus" by Allessandro Scarlatti and close with "Ain't It a Shame," a folk song, and George M. Cohen's medley from "George M."

A chamber choir will sing "Basket" from Four Pastorales by Cceil Effinger, two German folk songs by Brahams and three Hungarian folk songs by Matyas Sieber.

A women's chorus will sing "Adoramus Te," Orland Di Lasso; "Vocalise," Rachmaninoff; the humming chorus from "Madame Butterfly" Puccini; and the men's chorus will do "The Vagabond," Vaughn Williams; "A Swan," Grieg; "Streets of Laredo," a Cowboy song; and "Here's to Women," an anonymous 18th century song.

Weed Case Abandoned After Evidence Killed

The Marin District Attorney's office yesterday reluctantly asked that a case against a Santa Venetia man accused of furnishing marijuana to neighborhood youngsters be dismissed after all the physical evidence had been ruled out of the case.

Released was David Malcolm Estep, 30, as well as another man arrested at his house on March 11, James Thomas May, 28, of Corte Madera.

On March 28 Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court ruled the search warrant issued against Estep illegal because the 13-year-old boy who said that Estep had drugs did not qualify legally as a "reliable informant."

The judge said that recent higher court cases indicated that the child could not qualify because he had never before given evidence leading to arrests.

At the time of that decision, marijuana and LSD seized at Estep's residence was ruled out of the case.

Estep was arrested after a 13-year-old girl was hospitalized from a bad trip caused by LSD reportedly stolen from his home. A 13-year-old boy said that he had swiped the drug after being shown it by Estep, who, the boy said, had given him puffs from marijuana cigarettes in the past.

Another youngster present at Estep's home when officers arrived with a search warrant told a similar story, according to officers.

May, present at Estep's home as a dinner guest, had been charged with possessing benzedrine and marijuana.

Marin Voter Rolls Grow; GOP Advantage Decreases

A total of 92,956 Marin voters has registered for the June 2 primary election with Republicans having the edge over the Democrats.

Registration is 4,694 higher than it was for the 1,968 primary.

Republican registration totaled 45,287 as compared to 41,989 for the Democrats giving the GOP an edge of 3,298 voters.

The Democrats show a gain from the 1966 primary when they trailed the Republicans by 3,970. Registration then was 43,688 Republicans and 39,718 Democrats.

Total registration included 4,501 nonpartisan voters, 939 Peace and Freedom Party, 207 American Independent Party and 33 designated miscellaneous.

Registration by supervisorial districts was:

First District — Democratic, 8,779; GOP, 10,852; P&F, 64 and AIP, 31.

Second District — Democratic, 8,484; GOP, 10,043; P&F, 175; and AIP, 32.

Third District — Democratic, 11,114; GOP, 11,285; P&F, 457; and AIP, 27.

Fourth District — Democratic, 7,245; GOP, 6,549; P&F, 222; and AIP, 57.

A Bomb Threat

Customers were evacuated from the No Name Bar, 757 Bridgeway, Sausalito, for about 20 minutes Wednesday after a man called the bar about 7:15 p.m. and said a bomb had been placed in the establishment. Sausalito police and firemen searched the premises, but found no evidence of a bomb.

Clausen Chooses Stand Of Hawks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Don Clausen, R-First District, has voted against House doves on the issue of the war in Indochina.

Clausen voted "no" on an amendment proposed by Rep. Robert L. Leggett, D-Calif., which would prohibit the President to send U.S. troops into Laos, Cambodia or Thailand without the consent of Congress. The amendment was attached to a $20.2 billion weapons procurement authorization bill.

The bill passed Wednesday, but the antiwar amendment was defeated 215 to 132 after a day of heated debate on U.S. involvement in Cambodia.

Students March On Columbus Under Guard

versity heads who met with President Nixon this week to discuss campus unrest, announced his resignation in Madison, Wis. Fred H. Harrington, who will become a professor in history, said he had planned the move for some time and it was unfortunate that it came at a time when the university was torn by four days of violent anti-war demonstrations.

Meanwhile at Kent, the last element of the Ohio National Guard called to duty to quell student unrest left the campus today. The Ohio Highway Patrol said its 20-man contingent would leave later today, leaving campus security in the hands of the university police.

The last Guard officer to leave the campus, Col. Harold M. Finley of Columbus, said, "We didn't want to come here in the first place. We don't solicit this kind of business."

The Kent faculty was to return to the silent campus later today and plan for the peaceful resumption of classes by 21,198 students.

At the University of Minnesota today, the garage doors at the Air Force ROTC building were set afire, causing about $300 damage. The interior of the metal-sheathed structure had only minor damage.

At the Marquettte University campus, Milwaukee, two fire bombs early today caused an estimated $7,000 damage to the administration building, while another fire bomb at the school of speech building resulted in $1,200 damage.

At the State University College at New Paltz, N.Y., fire damaged a two-story building Thursday night, and what was described as an ammonia bomb was hurled into a section of the student-held administration building.

Near the University of Washington campus, Seattle, early today bands of young persons hurled rocks at police, set up street barricades and ignited garbage dumped into the streets.

Seattle police said they received reports that groups of vigilantes, wielding clubs and using a chemical spray, roamed the campus while police and antiwar demonstrators clashed on its fringes.

In Athens, Ga., two University of Georgia students filed suit in Clarke County Superior Court asking that the university be reopened. The suit contended that the school closing is unconstitutional because it deprives them of equal protection under the law.

In New London, Conn., police said four homemade fire bombs were thrown at the State Armory but that little damage resulted.

At Yale University, a national fund-raising campaign began Thursday to collect money for antiwar candidates in next fall's congressional elections.

At the University of Bridgeport, Conn., students occupying four buildings Thursday were served with a court order requiring them to show cause Monday why they should not vacate them.

In Moscow, the news agency Tass reported, the Soviet Student Council sent a message to the National Student Association expressing "fighting solidarity" with "our American counterparts."

The Student Council, which represents Soviet university students, said its message was endorsed by individual Russian universities, including those in Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev.

In New York City, antiwar demonstrators began picketing the New York Stock Exchange in lower Manhattan and city leaders paid tribute to the slain Kent State students.

At least four youths at the State University at Buffalo were hit by birdshot fired during a police-student confrontation. It was not immediately determined who fired the pellets.

The incident came as about 60 city police and 400 students clashed in a tear gas and rock-throwing melee. Two of the injured students were treated at a makeshift infirmary.

National Guardsmen in Carbondale, Ill., hurled tear gas and advanced with fixed bayonets to rout large bands of students at Southern Illinois University.

They scattered some 300 demonstrators from the Illinois Central Railroad tracks where they had delayed the Panama Limited streamliner, New Orleans-bound from Chicago, for 50 minutes.

The fleeing students smashed dozens of store windows as they ran. They were the nucleus of some 1,200 protesters who earlier sat down in the intersection of U.S. 51 and Illinois 13 in the downtown section.

Dissident students at the University of Wisconsin clashed with Madison police for the fourth consecutive night. Several campus buildings were firebombed and fire fighters doused 40 to 45 blazes, but most of the damage was minor.

the ground and railings around the Capitol.

Demonstrators chanted "Sieg Heil," "Stop War" and carried signs reading, "Impeach Nixon," "Get out of Camelot, Ronnie," and "Yesterday Hitler, Today Nixon," "Jesus is the Way." A few also carried Viet Cong flags.

The protestors brought with them their own medical corps, civil rights attorneys, a rock band and folk singers.

While they condemned the Vietnam war, Nixon's sending of American soldiers into Cambodia and the Kent State slayings, the state Assembly decided to also invite two Sacramento Air Force bases to set up Armed Forces Day displays in Capitol Park.

The Senate was not in session, having shut down for the day because of feared violence.

March Set; Nixon Meets Press Tonight

night, the organizers said unless there is a change of minds about the Ellipse, "we will hold it at Lafayette Square and the government will have to accept responsibility for the consequences."

David Dellinger, a prominent protest leader, said a "disciplined, angry, defiant" and massive demonstration will move toward the White House. "We cannot be deflected to hold a rally at the monument," he said.

Another leader, Rennie Davis, told newsmen Thursday:

"Our anger and defiance will focus on the fact that the Nixon administration has opened war on three fronts: Indochina, repression against the black community and against young white people who are striking against the country."

Davis and Dellinger were part of the Chicago seven conspiracy trial growing out of the violence that took place at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

In spite of the strident tones, the protest organizers have stressed the nonviolent goal of their efforts. Dellinger said the purpose of the demonstration was too serious for "the fun and games" of a fight in the street with police. Others have said violent confrontation would only cause a backlash against the antiwar movement.

The President gave signs of easing the administration's strong rhetoric against campus dissenters earlier this week when he met with a group of Kent State students who came to the White House to discuss the violence at their schools.

Then, in the wake of a private letter from Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel warning against alienating the nation's young people, Nixon changed an earlier decision and agreed to meet a delegation of university officials.

Nathan Pusey, president of Harvard and spokesman for the eight university presidents who attended the session, said they told Nixon of the "distress, frustration and anger among student and faculty across the nation."

"We found the President an attentive listener," Pusey said in a statement. "We spoke forcefully of the deep and widening apprehensions on campuses everywhere and the reasons for them. we want to assure the academic community that we were heard and that we made clear the truth as we believe it to be."

When asked if they had been assured by the President that hostile statements would stop, Pusey said "yes."

Nixon has been criticized for characterizing some campus protesters as bums, a phrase the White House says was directed to violent dissenters. Attacks have been directed at Vice President Spiro T. Agnew for using harsh terms in discussing student protesters.

Agnew came in for particular attention during the meeting and the university heads indicated their impression that the vice president would take a softer approach in future remarks.

Nixon Thursday also called the nation's governors to Washington for a Monday meeting to talk over the surge of dissent. This came as a conference of the 32 Republican governors was called off in Santa Fe, N.M., "because of the critical nature of the present crisis."

The GOP group said it was deemed most important that the governors be in their own state to watch over the demonstrations scheduled across the nation in conjunction with the Washington protest.

Ireland Hoping To Convert Bogs Into Pasture Land

DUBLIN (UPI) — Irish scientists have within their grasp the answer to a dream of centuries psrt.

They hope to convert the Republic's bog districts into green pastureland in a climax to a success story that has changed the face of rural Ireland.

Down through the centuries Ireland's bogs have yielded a rich harvest to thrifty workers who cut and saved its turf, or peat, as it is sometimes called.

But it was only when the Irish gained self-government in the 1920s that the full potential in power and wealth of the boglands was appreciated.

The story of turf itself, of course, an old story — as old as the hills in fact.

The first chapters were written tens of thousands of years ago when successive layers of plants and mosses withered and died in waterlogged areas building up by slow degrees the boglands which covered one-seventh of the country.

USED AS FUEL

From early days the locals recognized that turf made an excellent fuel and they used it in their own homes or sold it in neighboring towns.

It was only when the State stepped in with scientific methods to exploit the turf fields that it became a large-scale national industry employing thousands of workers.

Ten years after the first private company atetmpted to save turf by machinery in 1924, a Government-sponsored company—the Turf Development Board, which later became Bord Na Mona—was established and the history of the bogs took a new turn.

HELPED IN WAR

One of the immediate effects of this policy was that it enabled Ireland to survive the war years when coal importing virtually ceased.

Nowadays the process of saving turf bears little resemblance to the traditional methods of winning fuel from the bogs.

More than 130,000 acres of bogland have been acquired by Bord Na Mona in a giant operation which has changed the lives of the people in the area.

Vast railway complexes have been laid, huge drainage schemes have been completed and an array of the most modern machinery has been utilized to process the turf.

A single cutting machine can win over 2,000 tons of turf in a four-month season. When it is dry the turf is gathered and racked by other machines.

Ireland has turned her deposit of peat to good account—she has made the past serve the present. But her real goal lies ahead. Scientists are satisfied they can turn cutaway or exhausted bogs into fertile, productive land.

Heads Finance

Thomas P. O'Ward of 49 Serra Way, Terra Linda has been named to head the finance committee for the election of Donald Rosenberg to the Marin Municipal Court judgeship being vacated this year by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr.

SUIT

Bergin, George B. Dill, Jo Ann Dill and B. A. Skelly.

Although four of the persons later requested their names be withdrawn from the petition, DeMeo said it would not absolve them of blame.

The citizens charged that all three men have had business dealings with William Schiller of Storer Cable Television and that those business dealings have prevented the city council from demanding full service from the firm.

The charges have been forwarded to the Sonoma County District Attorney's office for a full investigation. No action has been taken pending the return next week of Dist. Atty. Kiernan Hyland fro a convention.

DeMeo said the business dealings with Schiller were made in connection with independent occupations of the men and that under state law, no conflict of interest has been shown.

City Atty. Richard M. Maxwell told the council Monday that he believed no laws had been broken in the business arrangements. Golis, one of those named in the action, yesterday issued a letter to Edward C. Trigeiro, foreman of the Sonoma County Grand Jury, asking to meet with him and Hyland to discuss a grand jury investigation of the matter.

Golis also issued a letter to Callinan requesting to speak for one hour at the May 18 council meeting. Golis said he wanted time to discuss the findings of Maxwell and to make a recommendation that he be fired. He said he would also ask the council to refer the charges to the grand jury for an investigation.

In response to the suit, Golis said, "It only cost $33 for the plaintiffs to file this libel suit and we welcome it. We know that in the judicial setting our case will be heard and listened to." he said. "We know that we will get the opportunity to present the relevant testimony, to ask the relevant questions without being gavelled and gagged.

"We are not going to allow this cheap ploy of the plaintiffs to curtail our efforts as well as the activities of the city attorney, Richard M. Maxwell, before the grand jury where it belongs."

Golis, also an attorney, said he felt confident that the charges of misconduct would be upheld by the court.

"We know that this is a difficult task and we wish we could avoid it, but we cannot compromise in our fight for honest, open government for the city of Rohnert Park," Golis said.

BAY

say, on how to make the plan acceptable to it.

At issue then, said commissioner Melville Owen, is how much the commission is willing to bend on strict provisions of its own San Francisco Bay plan, with which Bodovitz says Marin's plan conflicts.

Bodovitz had called the Marin plan "thoroughly unacceptable" because it is "so completely at variance with so many key policies" of the bay plan, but the county staff, quoting the plan, asserted it found the development scheme in conformity.

Highlights of the county staff's rebuttal were:

1. That it was "completely unrealistic" to recommend a moratorium on development in Richardson Bay until such time as waste discharges are piped to the ocean. Such a pipeline "may never happen in our lifetimes."

2. That the plan should not be denied on the basis Richardson Bay is polluted, since there are experts who disagree with that conclusion. New development would meet county, state and regional standards.

3. That bay fill guidelines should not be applied at this time because the plan is merely a general development guide. "These criteria can only be applied at the detailed, development plan stage."

4. That BCDC cannot deny use permits for bay development "on the basis of appearance and design," therefore criticism of high rises is unjustified.

5. That unified development by property owners would probably be best, "but we have eight property owners who want to proceed independently." (Bodovitz had said joint development offered greater "options for ingenuity in design and development.")

The first major gold rush in the U.S. was not in the West but occurred at Dahlonega, Ga., in 1814 where the find was so rich a mint was established and operated until after the Civil War.

OBITUARIES

James A. Cecchi Dies At 67

James A. Cecchi, of 30 Ash Avenue, Corte Madera, died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital following a long illness. He was 67.

A native of Lucca, Italy, Cecchi moved with his family to San Francisco just before the 1906 earthquake.

In 1921 he went to work as a civilian steam engineer for Army Transport at Fort Mason in San Francisco and retired as a chief engineer in 1958.

He then worked as a stationary engineer at various San Francisco sites until 1964 repairing boilers and doing other repair work.

Cecchi was chief engineer on the Army ferry boat Yerba Buena during World War II. The ferry was one of the last steam ferries in San Francisco Bay.

He is survived by his wife, Catherine, a brother, John Cecchi of Santa Rosa and four sisters, Josephine Bale of Soquel, Santa Cruz County; Anne Haskins, Millbrae; Eve Hall of San Francisco and Mary Smith of Lakewood, Los Angeles County, and many nieces and nephews.

Requiem Mass will be offered Saturday at 10 a.m. in St. Patrick's Church, Larkspur. Recitation of the Rosary will be tonight at 8:30 p.m. in the Keaton Funeral Chapel, San Rafael.

Burial will be private. The family prefers contributions to a favorite charity.

FLOSSIE CALDWELL

Flossie E. Caldwell of San Rafael, mother of Edwin A. Caldwell, former bishop of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in San Rafael, died yesterday at a local hospital after a short illness. She was 76.

Mrs. Caldwell resided at her son's Fairfax home for five years after moving to Marin seven years ago from Monrovia in the San Gabriel Valley. For the past two years she has resided at 675 Rosal Way.

A native of Layton, Ariz., she lived in Utah for a few years before moving to Los Angeles 37 years ago.

Surviving are Bishop Caldwell of Fairfax; two daughters, Rita Pickham of Provo, Utah, Aleata Coleman of Salt Lake City, Utah; four other sons, Donald and David Caldwell, both of Las Vegas, Nev.; Boyd Caldwell of Henderson, Nev. and Jack Caldwell of Boulder City, Nev.; two sisters, Ethel Cook of Safford, Ariz., Lou Layton of Arcadia; two brothers, Farrell Evans of Phoenix, Ariz., Glen Evans of Monrovia and 23 grandchildren.

Funeral will be Monday at 1:30 p.m. at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Bon Air Road, Greenbrae. Friends may call at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo from 6 p.m. Saturday until noon Monday.

CLARENCE HEFFERNAN

Clarence James Heffernan of 60 Cypress Drive, Fairfax, died yesterday in a local hospital after a short illness. He was 72.

A San Francisco native, Heffernan lived there until he moved to Fairfax 10 years ago.

Heffernan served in the Navy during World War I.

He retired as a garage maintenance worker for the San Francisco Municipal Railway seven years ago. He was a member of the San Francisco Employees Association.

Surviving are his wife Gladys; four daughters, Mrs. Richard Douglas of San Rafael, Barbara Hauge of Fairfax, June Surman of Pinole, Contra Costa County, and Lynne Waegner of San Rafael; a son, Robert E. Heffernan of Fairfax; and a sister, Alice Roach, who lives in Southern California.

Funeral will be Monday at 11 a.m. at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Interment will be at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

JOHN C. MEGAS

Funeral for John C. Megas of San Anselmo, retired restaurant owner, was held today at the Annunciation Cathedral in San Francisco with burial at the Greek Memorial Park in Colma.

Megas, who resided at 24 Vine Avenue, died Tuesday at a local hospital after a long illness. He was 88.

A native of Turkey, he moved to Chicago, Ill., in 1905 and to Oakland in 1917 where he operated a restaurant until retiring 28 years ago.

Also surviving are: a daughter, Eva Williams of San Anselmo; two sons, Constantine Megas of San Francisco and James Megas of Santa Rosa; a sister, Cleopatra Gouides of Oakland and six grandchildren.

Memorial contributions to the Greek Orthodox Church in Marin County, P. O. Box 2937, San Rafael, have been requested by the family.

NEWTON CALDWELL

Funeral for Newton Caldwell, 67, of Santa Venetia, who died at his home Wednesday following a long illness, will be held Monday at Fowler, Fresno County.

Caldwell, who lived at 263 North San Pedro Road, was a retired real estate broker.

He was a native of Lompoc, Santa Barbara County, and moved to Marin County in 1946. He was a member of Carpenters Union Local No. 35, San Rafael, and served in the Coast Guard during World War II.

He is survived by a son, John N. Caldwell of Aptos; a daughter, Mary E. Giraudo of San Francisco; a sister, Louise Ellis of Fowler; and three brothers, Harold Caldwell of Stockton, Charles and Max Caldwell of Soquel.

Funeral will be held at 1:30 p.m. at Haller Mortuary, Fowler, with burial to follow at Fowler Memorial Cemetery.

ELIZABETH BARRY MC CRONE

Elizabeth Barry McCrone of 301 West Baltimore Avenue, Larkspur, a retired potter, died unexpectedly yesterday at her home.

A native of Huron, S.D., she moved to San Francisco in the early 1900s and came to San Anselmo 14 years ago. She moved to Larkspur in 1961.

Her husband, Day McCrone, a San Francisco transportation executive, died 30 years ago.

She was a founder and member of the Potter's Association of San Francisco.

A daughter, Beth Pack of Larkspur, and two grandsons survive.

Memorial service will be held Sunday at 5:30 p.m. at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Memorial contributions to the Potter's Association of San Francisco have been requested by the family.

Water Board Candidates Split Over Conservation

Should Marin Municipal Water District support a regional open space plan as a means toward limiting future demands for water?

Sharp division of opinion on this developed in responses of water district board candidates to a questionnaire circulated by the Marin Conservation League.

The league polled the candidates on 16 questions, of which eight were on water supply development and eight on use of district lands. Most division was produced by the question:

"Would you support a regional land use plan that reserves certain land in Marin County as open space, rather than a policy of providing water and sewage service wherever requested?"

Of the four candidates in Division 1, three indicated support for such a plan. Thomas J. Belway replied, "Water service should only be provided as fitting with the land use plan."

Ray W. Foreaker Jr. said, "I concur with the regional land use plan." William B. McNew answered simply, "Yes."

But Dr. Leo L. Stanley, incumbent seeking reelection, pointed out: "The district has agreed to provide water and sewage service."

Jordan L. Martinelli Jr., incumbent unopposed in Division 3, said, "I believe that a regional land use plan is reasonable," but added, "This comes under the heading of 'zoning' which falls under the responsiblity of the cities and the board of supervisors."

The four candidates in Division 4 gave a greater variety of answers.

George W. Blackwell replied: "If funds could be obtained to acquire lands for open space, I would support a regional land use plan. Without funds being available it is the duty of MMWD to supply water where requested and sewer service."

Eugene A. Miller said he would support such a plan "as a basis for limiting the extent to which all public services should be provided."

But Jeffory Morshead said this does not lie within the water district's authority. And Herman C. Zwart declared, "It is not up to the MMWD to decide who should get water and who should not."

Some division resulted, also, on the question: "Would you support efforts to introduce federal legislation that would include the Eel, Klamath, and Trinity rivers in the National Wild and Scenic Rivers Act?"

Foreaker and Miller felt this is outside the purview of the water district. Blackwell and Zwart declared support. McNew said, "Eel River, no. Klamath and Trinity rivers, yes!" Others felt the question too complicated to answer.

In response to a question on whether they would seek public hearings on Marin participation in the Eel River Water Council, Blackwell and Stanley pointed out that Marin County already is a member of the council, though Blackwell said he is against the Eel River plan if MMWD does not need the water. None opposed hearings.

The Marin Conservation League asked also whether the candidates would encourage a district research program on reclaiming and desalting water.

McNew said no. Foreaker, Martinelli, Morshead and Zwart said this is beyond the range of the water district. Stanley, Blackwell and Miller said yes.

Belway and Morshead opposed merging of sanitary districts with the water district. All other candidates favored it.

None opposed an educational program on water conservation, suggested in another question, although Morshead said, "I doubt that it would produce results sufficient to justify the costs."

As to land use, the candidates were largely in agreement that district lands should be kept in district control and that their recreational uses should not be expanded far beyond the present ones. Morshead claimed he is seeking a permanent solution to assure the lands will remain in undeveloped state. Belway twice took occasion to insert endorsements of Sierra Club programs. All opposed commercial development on water district lands, although Stanley, Martinelli and Miller felt some tied to hiking and riding use might be permissible.

Division 1 includes the part of the district north of Puerto Suello Hill and extending through Sleepy Hollow, Fairfax and the San Geronimo Valley. Division 3 is the Ross Valley except for part of Fairfax and excluding the parts of Kentfield north of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. Division 4 includes the remainder of Kentfield, Corte Madera, and the Mill Valley area.

Star Observers Session Tonight

Star Observers of Marin, an astronomy study group, will have a star observing session in Sleepy Hollow tonight, weather permitting.

Mel Beck, group secretary, said those participating will gather at the former San Rafael Recreation Center, Second and Brooks Streets at 7:40 o'clock.

Walter Kuhne of the Kuhne Co., a scientific optical instrument company, will speak at the monthly meeting of the group at 8 p.m. May 28 at the Ross Valley Savings and Loan Co., San Anselmo.

His topic will be "Optical Scientific Instruments and Lasers' and the program will include movies of the solar eclipse in March as seen from Mexico.

Census Bureau Has Red Face

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Census Bureau said Thursday it had no intention of embarrassing the Mormon church and apologized.

Church leaders said they were offended by these instructions to census-takers on household heads: "Among American Indians, Mormons, etc., there may be more than one wife of the head. If so, mark all of them as wife."

The church officials complained to their senators that polygamy has not been practiced by Mormons for more than 80 years.

Conservationists Honor Students' Fire Posters

Two Marin and three Southern Sonoma students have been awarded prizes for posters entered in the Redwood Region Conservation Council's 1970 fire prevention contest.

Door Smashed

A rock hurling vandal smashed and destroyed the front door at San Oak Distributors Inc., 62 Belvedere Street, San Rafael police reported today. The incident occurred between 5 p.m. Wednesday and 8:30 a.m. yesterday, police said.

Watchers Report Leap From Span

A long-haired man about 25 years old reportedly leaped from the Golden Gate Bridge at 3:55 p.m. yesterday.

The California Highway Patrol said a bridge painter and a pedestrian reported seeing the man dressed in a brown trench coat, brown pants and glasses jump from the bridge just south of the south tower.

No body was retrieved.

Pair To Exhibit In Flower Show

Barbara Menzies and Roberta Shockey of Stinson Beach, contributors to the Stinson Beach Wildflower Show, will exhibit specimens at an exhibition of California Wildflowers at the Oakland museum May 16 and 17.

More than 150 species of wildflowers will be displayed at the show co-sponsored by the California Native Plant Society and the Natural Science Guild of the Oakland Museum Association.

Mrs. Shockey said some of the plants exhibited at the Stinson Beach show, May 2 and 3, which drew 1,425 persons, will be exhibited at the Oakland show.

The show will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

STUDENTS COLLECT MONEY FOR WAR PROTEST

Pharmacy students Jim Robertson, seated, and Gary Oderda of the University School of Pharmacy in San Francisco collect a dollar from two passersby at a booth set up in front of the Sausalito Pharmacy, 701 Bridgeway. The money collected yesterday was to send telegrams to President Richard M. Nixon asking him to stop the war in Southeast Asia. Columbia Eagle Crewman Seeking Back Wages Pay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A crewman from the hijacked ammunition ship Columbia Eagle has filed a $100,000 suit for back wages, overtime and war zone pay.

Curtis T. Ridge of Daly City was third assistant engineer when the ship was taken over by two gun-wielding mutineering crewmen 109 miles off South Vietnam March 14.

Ridge and 23 other crew members were forced to take to lifeboats while the mutineers and a skeleton crew took the munition ship to Cambodia.

Ridge also said the ship owners, Columbia Steamship Co., failed "to furnish a competent crew and a safe and seaworthy vessel" and a "safe place to work and rest aboard the vessel."

His lawyer, Marvin J. Davis, said four other crewmen would also file suit.

No Complaint Filed In Family Dispute

No complaint has been filed in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court against James L. Seaton, 43, of 237-300 Stony Point Road, Petaluma.

Seaton had been arrested Wednesday on suspicion of battery when police said they saw him strike his wife, La Donna, 35.

Environment Contest Winners Announced

Environmental problems — litter, noise, dirty air and water, and overcrowding — are afflicting Mill Valley as much as any city in the country, and at least 80 persons konw it.

That's how many entries were received in the "Let's Look at Mill Valley" contest, the winners of which were announced at an awards breakfast at the Outdoor Art Club this mornng.

The businessmen's committee of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the contest, hoped that it not only would point out problems in the city's environment but also suggest ways of coping with them.

The entries, more than half of which came from Old Mill School, were judged by Jan Mountjoy, former mayor Dean N. Meyer and artist Clement Hurd. Media used included essays, film and slide shows, skits and displays.

About 125 persons attended the breakfast and heard a song by the third grade class at Strawberry Point School and a play by the drama class at Edna Maguire School, directed by George Muldoon.

Classes and winners were:

Adult — first, Richard M. Russell; second, Vida Wheeler. Professional — first, Jeff Berner. High school — first, Russell Brand. Sixth to eighth grades — first, Stephen Spitler; second, Craig Saunders and others; third, Cynthia Reck and Judy Miller; fourth, Connie and Marion Lenz, Margie Hepp, Deanna Dudley; fifth, Glen Sheehan, Mike Gough, Nick Van Kriedt.

First to fifth grades — first, Antonine Markoff; second, Lila Glaser; third, Alexis (no last name given); fourth, Mara Faith; fifth, Kathy Sharp; sixth, Mike Jawetz and Ben Gold. Special group category — second and third graders at Old Mill School.

Petaluma Land Annex Is Delayed

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Local Agency Formation Commission yesterday delayed action on a 38 acre annexation to Petaluma pending the submission of more detailed maps.

The annexation would include land between South McDowell Boulevard, Casa Grande Road and Lakeville Highway.

The commission said that beginning with the June 4 meeting, the sessions will begin at 3 p.m. instead of 4 p.m. The commission meets the first Thursday of every month at the county administration center, Santa Rosa.

Pleads Innocent To Murder Count

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Earl P. Paige, 51, pleaded innocent yesterday in Sonoma County Superior Court to charges of first degree murder, kidnapping and assault with a deadly weapon.

Judge Kenneth M. Eymann said he would set the matter for trial next Thursday. Paige is charged with the April 5 murder of John Robert Perry, 26, of Petaluma, in a Windsor bar.

Paige is also accused of kidnaping his wife, Naomi, from the bar after shooting and of assaulting her later in a Healdsburg motel.

Driver Suffers Minor Injuries

A 33-year-old Cotati man complained of pain in his right leg and cuts and abrasions on his forehead following an auto-pickup truck accident at 5:10 p.m. yesterday on Wilson Hill Road in West Marin just south of the Sonoma County Line.

The California Highway patrol said William J. Beretta, 46, of 2445 Chileno Valley Road, Petaluma, attempted to turn left from Westmore Lane onto Wilson Hill Road, but saw a car driven by Robert E. Houdeshell, 33, of Myrtle Avenue would hit him so he stopped and the car hit his truck.

Houdeshell was to see his own doctor, the highway patrol said.

Larkspur Trustees Discuss Budget, But Take No Action

Larkspur School District trustees discussed last night a tentative budget of $1,725,243 for 1970-71, a $64,057 increase over this year's $1,661,186 outlay.

Trustees did not take, however, any action on the new budget, according to Asst. Supt. Gilbert Slusher, but hope to do so at the next meeting May 21 at 8 p.m. in the administration office.

Slusher attributed the proposed increase to inflation, and an expected salary increase for teachers.

The teachers' committee is still negotiating next year's salaries with the board, Slusher said, and will meet again Monday at 8 p.m. in the administration office.

The Larkspur School District board also:

TESTING — Heard a report from Supt. Milton S. Cohen that sixth grade students in the district had been ranked 28th in the state and third in Marin by the state Department of Education testing program given last October as 28th.

MUSEUM — Approved increasing $167 fee to $360 for cost of students to use the Louise A. Boyd Museum of Natural Science facilities next year.

HEALTH — Approved paying California Dental Service and Blue Cross $561 per 105 teachers and other employees. This is an $83 increase per teacher over this year's payment.

PERSONNEL — Hired June Robichaud at salary of $450 a month as district purchasing secretary to replace Jane Brouilett and William L. Jones at $460 as custodian at Neil Cummins School to replace David Saldana.

ABSENT — Trustee Cornelia J. Perrone was absenet.

School Tools Stolen

Tools valued at $527 were taken from the woodworking shop at San Marin High School between 5 p.m., Wednesday and 7:55 a.m. yesterday, Vice Principal Harry J. Moore reported yesterday to Novato Police.

Babies Now Are More Expensive

One small human creature now costs about $1,500 from date of conception through his first week, the Health Insurance Institute estimates. And that's quite a cheap baby too, allowing only $164 for maternity clothing, $7 for a bath table or tub, $225 for the obstetrician and $10 for birth announcements.

As broken down, the projected budget runs like this: $571 for the hospital; $280 for all medical costs; $70 for the baby's wardrobe; $384 for nursery, bath and feeding items; $63 for such miscellany as one box of disposable diapers and a thermometer.

If you stay longer than six days in the hospital, have a complicated birth, stay in a private room or have twins, this budget will only strain your stitches. On the other hand, you can save some money by using hand-me-downs, providing yourself with extravagantly generous relatives, carrying health insurance or settling, at least temporarily, for a poodle.

Angel Island Marker Text Given Approval

The draft of the text to go on a historical landmark on Angel Island was approved by the Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission last night.

Asst. City Mgr. Robert L. Kleinert said the plaque will replace a marker now in hospital cove on the island which commemorated only the cove.

The new plaque will sketch a brief history of the entire island and tell how Juan Manuel D. Ayala landed there in 1775 on the first ship to enter San Francisco Bay.

Louise Teather, historian of the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society, wrote the draft of the marker. It will be sent to the city council for its approval and then to the California Landmarks Association, Kleinert said.

The commission also heard a report from commissioner F. G. Knight on the Spring Garden Festival, which will be held May 16 at 11 a.m. at Richardson Bay Park. It will feature a cutting and plant exchange for home gardeners and garden clubs, Kleinert said.

Goldstein Hits Search In Book Case, Flays Gardiner

A municipal court judge today ruled invalid a search warrant issued by a superior court judge in a San Rafael obscene magazine case and criticized the other judge for accompanying a search party.

"A judge should not assume the role of an undercover investigator," Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin Municipal Court wrote in a memorandum accompanying his decision.

He was critical of Superior Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner for "leading the search party" to a San Rafael warehouse where 46 allegedly obscene magazines were confiscated on Christmas Eve.

He ruled the search warrant issued by Gardiner was too broad and did not adequately specify the matter to be seized.

His ruling on the warrant removed more than half the evidence from the case against Donald Calvin Warnecke, 38, of Corte Madera, president of the Sands Oak Book Distributing Company and the firm's manager Eddie Louis Burleson, 30, of San Francisco.

Left in the case were magazines seized by a San Rafael police officer on December 4 when he went alone to the warehouse at 62 Belvedere Street.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua W. Thomas said today that he will appeal Judge Goldstein's decision on the warrant. He added that Judge Gardiner had been asked by the district attorney's office to go along on the Christmas Eve raid so that someone other than a police officer would make a ruling as to whether the magazines were obscene.

The publications in question bore such titles as "Pussy Willow," "Pleasure Partners," "Raunchy" and "Bush Whackers" and sold for $3 to $5. The raiding party took only one sample of each and left behind thousands of magazines ready for distribution.

Dr. Kortum Condemns Asia Policy

I-J Special Report

NAPA — Dr. William K. Kortum of Petaluma, candidate for the Democratic nomination for representative from the First District, has condemned President Richard M. Nixon's decision to send troops into Cambodia.

"President Nixon made a fateful decision last Thursday," he told the Napa Democratic Central Committee Wednesday night. "It was a decision similar to the one made many years ago that embroiled our country in a war that has cost nearly 42,000 American lives, some 350,000 American casualties — not to mention the fantastic and equally tragic cost in lives and resources to South Vietnam."

"We can no longer allow this decision to remain unchallenged," Kortum said. "We must not allow the Vietnam War to become the Indochina War. All of us must now seriously question the wisdom of an ever-escalating war and the president's decision."

Cities Asked To Attend Transit Talk

All city councilmen and planning commissioners should be invited to a discussion of the county's balanced transportation program at the Civic Center on May 20, the City-County Planning Council agreed last night.

H. Rune Carlson, transportation planner, and Albert Solnit, chief of advance planning, at 8 p.m. that day will explain the program before Marin County Transit District directors.

The first phase of the balanced transportation study, already completed, shows that transportation facilities are falling far behind the developments that are envisaged in various general plans throughout the county.

"The second phase of the study will test some of the solutions to the transit problems," said Solnit.

Hugh Dougherty took over as acting chairman of the city-county body last night, succeeding former chairman Adelaide P. Wilson.

The City-County Planning Council approved a 1970-71 budget of $158,500, down from this year's $229,000, and rejected the county administrator's recommendation that its budget be cut further to $144,300. The big drop for the coming year results from a $73,000 cut in federal grants.

Solnit said the county administrator wanted to lop $10,500 from the administrative cost of the balanced transportation study. This would have removed the planning department's direction of the balanced transportation study and put it under the county administrator's direction, said Solnit.

The City-County Planning Council also:

REPLACEMENT — Named Fairfax Councilman Francis J. McConnell to succeed Mrs. Wilson as Fairfax's delegate.

NEXT MEETING — Set 8 p.m. June 4 as the date for the next regular meeting.

Coin Collection Among Items Taken

Karl D. Kinney Jr., 10 Haven Drive, Petaluma, told police that burglars had taken $9,072 in household items and a coin collection from his home in the past week.

The coin collection was valued at $4,855. Also taken while the family vacationed was jewelry, a camera, typewriter and liquor.

When Larry Marks discovered he couldn't make a living growing artichokes on his 14-acre parcel at Olema, he decided to cultivate the tourist trade instead. The result: the Olema Ranch Campground, which opened last year with great success. Now Marks and family are readying the campground for its second year serving visitors to the nearby Point Reyes National Seashore, and Marin Magazine editor Don Keown tells you about their plans tomorrow.

Are today's young girls really interested in such a frivolous activity as baton-twirling. Indeed they are, says 21-year-old Mindy Jones, who teaches the skill. And, she adds, it is not as frivolous as it sounds. Her young pupils, she insists, derive real and substantial benefits from their practice sessions. The young baton teacher and her classes are the subject of a feature in tomorrow's I-J Marin Magazine.

THE BONNY, BONNY HILLS OF WEST GREENBRAE

Dr. Bruce Manheim, a Greenbrae surgeon, plays the bagpipes on a hillside above Marin General hospital, (right) as 71-year-old Mrs. Catherine Rogan (left) a patient at the hospital, listens from her window and reminisces about her early life in her native Scotland. The impromptu concert has held yesterday after Dr. Manheim learned that Mrs. Rogan, whose sister is married to a piper in Scotland, was homesick for the sound of the pipes. The doctor, who learned to play about a year and a half ago, offered his services. She asked that he play on a nearby hillside, because, she said, the pipes don't sound right on the flat lands.

Cultural Scene Shut At Campus

The shutdown of the College of Marin has also shut down culture on the campus.

Weekend performances of Aristophanes's "The Birds" and the school's opera workshop production of "Albert Herring" have been canceled.

"The Birds" will open Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Building theater and run nightly through May 19, with a matinee at 2 p.m. May 17. Persons holding tickets for canceled performances may exchange them or get refunds when the college box office reopens at 1 p.m. Monday.

"Albert Herring" will open Wednesday, and run through Saturday, at 8 p.m. in the studio theater of the Fine Arts Building.

Hub Suspect Denies Taking Camper Truck

Charles Galbraith Carmalt, 26, of San Anselmo, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of car theft. A preliminary hearing was set for June 2.

Carmalt was arrested April 25 in the Trident restaurant parking lot in Sausalito as he alighted from a camper pickup truck allegedly stolen earlier in the day from a Seattle, Wash., resident.

Cotati Council Refuses To Allow Use Of Old Building

The Cotati City Council last night rejected an appeal to continue use of a business building that had been condemned.

John E. Nielsen, owner of the old Cotati Plaza market, adjacent to Plaza Park, asked that he be given 10 years in which to restore the building and be allowed in the interim to operate small shops from the location.

Fire district representatives and building inspectors said the structure is definitely unsafe and should not be occupied until all codes are met.

Nielsen said the large cost of improvements prevented it from being completed any sooner than 10 years.

The council rejected his plan and said all codes must be met before occupancy.

The Cotati City Council Also:

PLANNING—Accepted the resignation of Donald Leivas from the planning commission and appointed Patrick Geis and Floyd Mattern to fill the vacancies. The candidacy of David Hale was rejected because he lives outside the city limits.

SIGNS—Approved a motion banning political signs from public property and requiring those on private property be removed immediately after the election.

CITY MANAGER—Scheduled interviews with prospective city managers for May 15 and possibly May 14.

CITY HALL—Asked the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors to change the deed restrictions on city land to allow construction of a new city hall. The deed on the land adjacent to the Cotati Veteran's Memorial Building now is limited to park use.

Jannes Paintings

Watercolors by Fairfax artist Neil W. Jannes will be displayed throughout this month at Ross Valley Savings and Loan Association, 305 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo. The display will be exhibited from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and to 6 p.m. on Fridays.

Check Forgery Count Admitted

Salvatore Santos Gosman, 33, of San Rafael, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to one charge of forging a check and a second count of the same offense was dismissed.

He was ordered to appear Monday in Superior Court for setting of a sentencing date on the felony conviction.

Old Adobe Trustees Name New Principal

The old Adobe School District board, Petaluma, last night hired a principal and director of maintenance and transportation.

Robert Parker, vice principal of the Old Adobe School, was promoted to principal. Supt. Dean D. Magowan said he had not been assigned, but expected he would head the Old Adobe School. Parker's salary will be $13,000 per year.

William Gibbe of Petaluma was named to the new position to direct maintenance, transportation and grounds. Magowan said his salary range will be $650 to $800 per month.

The Old Adobe School District board also;

BUDGET — Reported receiving an additional $1,125 from the state and said $525 would be spent on equipment with the remainder set aside for teachers salaries next year.

PLAYGROUND — Approved the installation of irrigation equipment in the playground at La Tercera School and the planting of turf.

PROCESSING — Heard Magowan report that the district will use the county data processing services next year to tabulate testing scores.

Brainerd Heads Firemen Again

Colin Menzies III, secretary; Harold Roberts, treasurer; John Polacchi, property clerk, and Michael Thompson, director.

Chief Carl. O. Heynen Jr. said the officers will be installed at a dinner in June.

The firemen also voted to purchase a squad truck to haul fire-fighting equipment for $2,600. The 1952 model truck, now owned by the City of San Mateo, will replace a 1948 squad truck, Heynen said.

Tiburon Fire Board Takes Look At Budget

Directors of the Tiburon Fire Protection District got a look at a preliminary budget last night that may require an increase in the tax rate, this year 77.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Secretary Wellman H. Topham said the proposed budget for next year is $273,777, up from this year's $255,437.

"The tax rate may have to be raised a cent or so," Topham said, "but we hope that won't necessary." The board set June 4 at 8 p.m. at the fire house for further budget consideration.

Expenses facing the district next year include purchase of new equipment, including a replacement for a fire truck more than 30 years old; purchase of a parcel of land owned by the Northwestern Pacific Railroad, and a cost-of-living wage increase of 6.1 per cent for firement.

Driver Fined $225

Donald Irvin Peterson, 35, of Crockett, has been placed on one year probation and fined $225 in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving.

Cyclists Hurt In Marin Crash

Two men were treated yesterday at Marin General Hospital for injuries suffered when their motorcycle collided with an auto in Kentfield.

The California Highway Patrol said David R. Kelly, 23, of 280 Redwood Avenue, San Anselmo, and Edward A. Sears, 28, of San Francisco, collided at 6:30 p.m. on Kent Avenue near the Woodland Shopping Center with a car driven by Marshall F. Lyons, 16, of 240 Evergreen Avenue, Kentfield.

Kelly was treated for muscle spasm of the back, a scraped chin and second degree burns of the left leg. Sears was treated for a cut chin, scrapes and bruises.

Marinite Sues Over Vaccine

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A $100,000 damage suit against two drug companies was filed in superior court Wednesday charging a typhoid vaccine caused a nerve disorder in a Sausalito airline stewardess.

The complaint was by Bonnie J. Marr Hood, 27, who said the injection caused polio-like symptoms. She was inoculated July 1 at the request of her employer, Pan American World Airways.

Suspect Bound Over In Attack

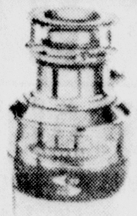

Roy Garcia Garcia, 26, of Sebastopol, yesterday was bound over to Marin Superior Court on felony charges of assault with intent to commit rape, assault with a deadly weapon and rape, after a preliminary hearing in municipal court.

He is to appear in court Monday for arraignment.

Garcia, who is on parole from the California Youth Authority where he served time for rape, was arrested April 30 after he allegedly assaulted a 26-year-old San Rafael woman inside her home.

Hearing Set On Mobile Home Permit

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Planning Commission yesterday set a public hearing for a mobile home permit in rural Petaluma for May 21 at 3 p.m.

The hearing request was filed by R.A. Quackenbush to rezone his unzoned land at 6560 Bodega Avenue to permit a mobile home.

At the May 21 meeting the commission said it would also consider the tentative map for the first section of development of the Jenner Bay subdivision by the Russian Harbor Corp.

The section south of the Russian River at Bridgehaven and Willow Creek will include single family homes. Developers said plans would reflect recommendations made by the planning staff regarding scenic corridors and placement of the homes to not obstruct the view from Highway 1.

Lake Balkhash is an unusual lake in southern Russian near the Chinese border. The water is fresh at the western end of the lake but at the eastern end it is salty. The lake is over 350 miles long.

Marin Demo Leaders Take Side Against I-J

Three leaders of the Democratic Party in Marin have circulated a letter to party members throughout the county urging them to cancel subscriptions to the Independent-Journal and to boycott advertisers continuing to use the I-J during the strike by San Francisco Typographical Union 21.

In a letter — similar to one beginning "Dear Friend," distributed by the union — Roger Kent, former chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, Nancy Swadesh, a vice president of Americans for Democratic Action, and S. Robert Politzer, chairman of the Marin Democratic Central Committee, repeat most of the charges against the I-J made by the union. It began, "Dear Fellow Democrat."

Kent, Mrs. Swadesh and Politzer, urging economic pressure on the I-J, said San Francisco Typographical Union 21 "is on the side of the angels."

Softball Field Change Planned

Preliminary plans to renovate Judge Field in Tiburon for use by the Tiburon Volunteer Firemen's Association softball team have been made.

At their monthly meeting Wednesday, the firemen discussed elevating the field to eliminate flooding and repositioning it to increase its size to Babe Ruth League standards, according to secretary Robert Hamilton.

The field is on Mar West in Tiburon, across the street from the Tiburon Peninsula Club, the owner of the property.

The firemen also voted to donate $125 to the Tiburon Little League, Hamilton said.

War Protestors In London Use Blood To Proclaim Opposition

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Protesters against the United States involvement in Cambodia demonstrated around the world today, some in London using animal blood to proclaim their opposition.

An anti-American demonstration by 300 Filipino youths was broken up outside the U.S. Embassy in Manila by riot police using tear gas.

Police arrested one young man as the demonstrators refused to leave after their permit expired. About 100 helmeted policemen guarded the embassy.

In London, pigs' heads and animal offal were dumped outside the offices of a number of American corporations in protest against the Indochina war.

hTe front doors of American Express, Bank of America, Pan American World Airways and Dow Chemical Co. were daubed with animal blood.

A mammoth protest is scheduled for London's Trafalgar Square Saturday when organizers say 50,000 marchers will converge on the U.S. Embassy in Groscenor Square.

About 150 students from the American school in London marched to the embassy today with a petition calling for a halt to military action in Cambodia.

A Vietnam moraotrium campaign was climaxed in Australia's major cities with demonstrations that involved 10,000 persons in Sydney.

More than 1,500 police stood by outside Sydney Tow Hall as speakers from trade unions, universities and schools called for the withdrawal of Australian and American troops from Vietnam.

Police blocked a breakaway group of 1,000 marchers who attempted to stop traffic on the Sydney Harbor Bridge.

More than 5,000 protesters marched in Brisbane. But students who tried to stage a sitdown were frustrated by trade unionists who continued marching.

An estimated 70,000 people took part in a peaceful march in Melbourne.

Snipers in Caracas, Venezuela, killed two high school pupils and wounded two others Thursday, the third day of anti-American demonstrations at the Central University of Venezuela.

The two pupils were hit by gunfire that broke out when police used tear gas and clubs to disperse demonstrators at a high school near the university. One was killed outright and the other died later in a hospital.

The source of the bullets was not known, but witnesses reported sniper fire in the area. Occasional rounds of sniper fire also broke out from within the precincts of the university after police stopped demonstrators from leaving the campus.

Demo Boss Wants Full TV Coverage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien asked the three major television networks today to give full coverage of a major foreign policy speech he plans Saturday night in response to the Nixon administration's Cambodia policies.

O'Brien's telegram cited the Federal Communications Commission's "fairness doctrine" and suggested that the networks either give his speech live coverage or tape it for "subsequent, but timely, showing in a desirable time segment."

The Democratic party leader is scheduled to address a statewide Democratic dinner in Milwaukee, Wis., at 10 p.m. EDT Saturday.

CBS TELEGRAM

His telegram was sent to Dr. Frank Stanton, president of Columbia Broadcasting System Inc.; Julian Goodman, president of National Broadcasting Co. Inc.; and Leonard H. Goldenson, president of American Broadcasting Co. Inc.

"My remarks will be devoted chiefly to the major foreign and domestic issues which confront the nation at this time and I will respond directly to views currently being espoused by representatives of the Republican administration," O'Brien said

CITES PRIME TIME

Besides O'Brien's request for free time, Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., is trying to raise $70,000 to buy television time so that the bipartisan sponsors of a Senate amendment to cut off funds for the war in Southeast Asia can make a public appeal for nationwide support.

Drug Possession Charge Dismissed

A charge of possessing marijuana against William Roscoe Dillen, 26, of Glen Ellen, was dismissed yesterday in Marin Superior Court after a motion to suppress the evidence in the case was granted by Judge E. Warren McGuire.

The judge had ruled that a search of Dillen, who was arrested Sept. 20 by a California Highway Patrol officer, was illegal.

Who's ROSENBERG?

Was Nixon Naive To Assured Cambodia Foes?

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon knew his Cambodian operation involved military, diplomatic and political risks. But it is now clear he vastly underestimated the breadth and bitterness of the opposition it would produce.

The opposition goes considerably beyond the "political consequences" Nixon mentioned in his April 30 speech when he said he was acting in spite of warnings it could mean the end of his political career.

One week after the Cambodian incursions began, scores of American colleges and universities have been disrupted or closed by student demonstrations, many of them volent. Many previously middle-of-the-road congressmen have joined avowed "doves" in attacking the administration.

Four students have been killed at Kent State University in Ohio. And Washington is bracing for a weekend student invasion of unpredictable size and consequences.

—On the military front, Nixon over-ruled Secretary of State William P. Rogers and others and followed the advice of Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and other Pentagon advisors who told him the risk in Cambodia was minimal considering the results that could be achieved. From a purely military standpoint, they may well be right, and they are paid to advise from a military standpoint.

—On the diplomatic front, presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger apparently convinced the President immediate international reaction could be discounted because showing a firm hand in Southeast Asia would strengthen the "credibility" of the United States around the world. Furthermore, the argument went, it would persuade the Soviets to take it easy in the Middle East, and prod Hanoi to discuss peace more sincerely at Paris.

During the past week, Kissinger has been busy in private talks propounding his "grand design" in which a tough Southeast Asian stand is supposed to persuade the Soviet Union, China and other potential enemies to proceed cautiously in confronting the United States. —Domestically, the Cambodian operation has caused a reaction which goes far beyond what Nixon apparently had in mind when he said that "I have rejected all political considerations in making this decision."

The opposition is becoming far more militant and disruptive in both the physical and political senses. It has increased the polarization of public opinion which many administration critics believe runs the danger of ending in repressive domestic measures or, at the other extreme, chaos.

Car Is Looted

A $150 camera, $30 adapter, $30 meter, a $25 electric frying pan and other articles making a total of $349 worth of equipment was stolen yesterday between 8 and 10 p.m. from a car owned by Daniel S. McDermott of 534 Third Street and parked at 725 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael police reported today.

Remodeled Restaurant Finally Made Legal

It was apparently a case of better late than never Wednesday night when the Sausalito Planning Commission granted a variance to permit remodeling of Edgewater Yacht Sales building into a restaurant.

Work on the Boathouse Restaurant, 300 Turney Street, was completed last November, but a recent judge's opinion in a continuing legal battle over the remodeling forced the city to issue a second variance for the work. The original variance was granted in February of 1969. On March 31, Marin Superior Court Judge Joseph F. Wilson said when building permits were issued for the Boathouse renovation, the variance allowing the permits was not legal because the city council had omitted certain necessary legal language in the ordinance which granted it.

Since 1968, Sam Zakessian, owner of the adjacent Zack's Restaurant, has fought the Edgewater project through the courts and in city hall. Zakessian has filed at least two lawsuits to stop the project and Judge Wilson's opinion was the latest step in the continuing legal battle.

The variance for the remodeling is needed because the Boathouse contains more floor area and the building covers more land on the lot than is permitted under regulations of the central waterfront district zone. The new, more stringent rules were adopted in May of last year, superseding old waterfront district regulations under which the original variance was granted.

In addition, according to H. Eric Borgwardt, Sausalito planning director, the Boathouse structure did not conform to the city's sideyard setback requirements (it does now) and it provides parking on a railroad right-of-way rather than on the site of the restaurant.

In his lawsuits Zakessian claims Edgewater was granted special privileges when it received a variance for parking for the restaurant and said structural modifications to change the sales building into a restaurant exceed half the value of the building, in violation of an ordinance limiting nonconforming buildings to that amount of remodeling.

In July of 1969, the city council, on the advice of City Atty. Leland H. Jordan, passed a resolution declaring the Edgewater Yacht Company had met all necessary legal requirements for the original variance.

The matter kicked around in the courts until March when Judge Wilson gave the opinion against the city on the legal technicality.

Borgwardt said the planning commission will on May 20 go through the required formality of approving substantiating arguments for the variance.

The variance will then be presented to the city council for final review and action, he added.

The Sausalito Planning Commission Also:

TREE REMOVAL — Amended the conditions of a conditional use permit to allow tandem parking at the Bernice Andron residence on Sausalito Boulevard to allow a large tree on the property to be removed since a tree surgeon indicated the tree cannot be saved.

LOT SPLIT AND VARIANCE — Approved a lot split application from Russell and Maria Lessig to divide three lots at 425 Locust Street into two larger lots and granted a variance for a nonconforming sideyard, with less space than the city requires, caused by the division. Borgwardt said the lot split eliminates other nonconformities which exist now.

ACTION DEFERRED — Deliberated at length but left undecided on a variance application from John Carmack asking that he be allowed to build a house on property at 63 Sunshine Avenue. Carmack is seeking permission to build on a lot created by a lot split some years ago although the original conditions for granting of the division permit have not been met, according to the city planning director.

Adjourned Session Set On Easement

The Strawberry Recreation District board has set an adjourned meeting for Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Strawberry Point School to consider a resolution of acceptance of a recreation easement along Strawberry Cove.

Clerk Jeanne Heick said the district board discussed Wednesday an easement from the owner of a MacDonald's restaurant, now under construction on Strawberry service road on the east side of Highway 101.

The easement would cover about 5,000 feet along Strawberry Cove and would guarantee public access to the wildlife refuge there, Mrs Heick said.

Attorneys for MacDonald's and the district will meet this week to draft the resolution. The restaurant will retain title to the land, according to Mrs. Heick.

The Strawberry Recreation District board also:

TENNIS—Heard a report from property manager Manuel K. Lehua that the present tennis program is being continued. Registration for residents only should be made through Mrs. Heick.

SWIMMING—Decided to hold four two-week swimming classes beginning June 15. Registration for the classes, open to both residents and nonresidents 4 years old or older, will be held June 11 for residents and June 12 for nonresidents at the pool at Strawberry Park, East Strawberry Drive and Ricardo Lane.

Gas Tax Boost Proposal Gains

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation to increase state gasoline taxes by half a cent a gallon was approved Thursday by a subcommittee of the Assembly Transportation Committee.

The proposal by Assemblyman Clare Berryhill, R-Ceres, would raise an extra $50 million a year for county highway building and maintenance.

Berryhill said Los Angeles County alone would get $13 million a year under the plan. His bill earmarks the extra revenue specifically for counties, rather than dividing it as the rest of the gasoline tax money is among the state, cities and counties.

Present state tax is seven cents a gallon, and the federal tax is four cents a gallon.

Larkspur Offices Fill Given Nod

Larkspur planning commissioners granted a grading and fill permit last night for the excavation of an office building plaza at Magnolia Avenue and Bon Air Road.

The developer of the land, T.W. O'Donoghue, will present architectural plans for approval at the May 26 meeting at 8 p.m. in city hall, according to secretary Barbara Bruton.

The development, called Sohner Plaza, will consist of a bank and office buildings, Mrs. Bruton said.

The commissioners also granted architectural approval to Charles McLeran for the remodeling of Miller's Market, the Liquor Store and Pinky's Pizza at 1159 - 1161 Magnolia Avenue, she said.

Commission chairman Charles Curley and commissioner Joseph Picetti were absent.

Novato Youths Held On Counts

Two Novato youths were arrested on suspicion of possession of alcohol and one of them for possession of narcotics paraphernalia, Novato Police reported.

Out of $315 bail on suspicion of a minor in possession of alcohol and possession of narcotics paraphernalia was Robert Doyle Fuller, 20, of 208 San Felipe Way, Novato. He is to appear next Friday in Marin Municipal Court. Held in lieu of $65 bail on suspicion of a minor in possession of alcohol was Michael Robert Rundle, 19, of 1363 Cambridge Street. He was scheduled to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

The two were stopped at 4:35 p.m. yesterday at Rowland Boulevard and Cambridge Streets when officers observed drinking in the car, police reported.

Washington Needs Fourth Airport Soon

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The nation's capital should begin planning for a fourth airport, according to Federal Aviation Administrator John H. Shaffer.

National, Dulles and Friendship Airports, which serve the metropolitan area, will not be enough to handle the demands of the next decade, he told the Aviation Space Writers Association Thursday.

Diehard Fans Take No Chances

BOSTON (UPI)—A Hopedale couple injured April 26 when a section of television camera fell on them at Boston Garden took special precautions Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gannett showed up for the Boston-St. Louis Stanley Cup hockey game and occupied their regular seats directly below the television camera location.

King Boycott Ends

Attendance was back to normal today at Sausalito's Martin Luther King School, school officials reported. Yesterday 122 students were absent in a one-day boycott of classes to protest the firing of King Principal Sidney F. Walton Jr. Monday by the school district board of trustees.

Corte Madera Restaurant's New Owners Seem To Be Thriving

Under the ownership of John Napoli, Angelo Camilleri and Bernard Epstein, Gregory's Restuarant in Corte Madera continues to thrive.

They have now been in possession over four months, the menu has been changed and some of the decor — and it still draws the customers. Which just goes to show I guess that different owners, if capable, can take the same place, operate it different ways and come up with the same result in the cash register.

Bernard's dishes for the most part are unlike those of Gregory Seubert, but each style has its own following. Incidentally, going on Bernard's menu soon is his veal chantarelle — a truly fine selection. But don't order it if you go there Mother's Day, when a special menu of nine selections will be served from 2 to 9 p.m. Save that choice for another time.

The cocktail lounge at Gregory's is especially popular since the advent of songstress-pianist Dori Green three months ago. Apparently she brought along her own fan club, for the piano bar is a scene of activity Wednesday through Saturday nights.

And you will still find talented young Brian Andrews and his accordion in the dining room most Friday and Saturday nights during the dinner hours. He's growing amazingly — and so is his repertoire.

SUNDAY is Mother's Day and restaurants will be busy. Many of them will be open and we suggest that you phone ahead for a reservation at your favorite dinery.

We named a few places and their Mother's Day plans last week. Here are more who have reported their schedule for the day.

DON BERNARD reports that Bernard's Executive Lounge in San Rafael will serve Mother's Day dinner from 2 to 10 p.m. A special menu has been prepared, with prices starting at $3.95. Reservations should be made.

IN SAN ANSELMO the Pepperwood will have a special Mother's Day buffet breakfast from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. With Ramos fizz this will run $2.75.

Dinner will be served from 1 to 10 p.m. Regular menu will be featured - also turkey and baked ham.

BUT GEORGE LOIZOS has recently left the Edgewater and Marin County to move on to Florida, I understand.

New manager is Alfred Kendlinger, who has been with the Compton Corp. about four years — most recently as assistant manager at International Inn in South San Francisco. He commutes daily from San Mateo but plans eventually to move to Marin.

Edgewater Inn Restaurant will serve a special Mother's Day brunch menu in the dining room from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., followed by dinner from 2 to 10 p.m. Regular dinner menu will be served. In the coffee shop, regular menu all through the day will be in effect.

Frits Verburg is still chef at the Edgewater.

AT OAK TREE INN in San Geronimo, Dee and Ray Brunal will serve their Mother's Day menu from 3 p.m. Specials are Virginia baked ham, roast beef au jus and chicken. Price for the complete dinner is $4 — for children $3. Reservations should be made.

PHYLLIS AND MATTS MATTSSON at The Old Viking in Lagunitas will serve dinners Mother's Day at regular menu prices. Reservations — definitely.

Incidentally, back on the menu now are the Swedish-style short ribs of beef — returned by popular demand and going over stronger than ever.

THE CRAB COOKING OLYMPICS to be held May 18 in San Francisco will draw at least one chef from Marin County to participate in the competition — Roger Braunn, from the Seven Seas in Sausalito.

Entrants are coming from such far distant points as Halifax, Nova Scotia, Tampa, Honolulu and Anchorage, who will compete in five categories for the title of Master Chef de Cuisine and of course for one of the trophies to be offered. It will be held at A. Sabella's restaurant on Fisherman's Wharf.

Roger is a young Swiss, European-trained and imaginative. At the Seven Seas he's regarded as a prize seafood chef. May he emerge as one also from the Crab Cooking Olympics.

A RETURN of the Jack Sheldon Trio to Gatsby's in Sausalito is scheduled for this Sunday.

Sheldon, Joe Mondragon and Chuck Burghoffer, who spelled Jean Hoffman and her group a few weeks ago while the latter were on vacation, proved to be so popular that Charlie Peet signed up the commedian-trumpeter for Sundays and Mondays through the summer. He'll be commuting from Southern California for this booking, appearing from 4:30 p.m. on Sundays and from 9:30 p.m. on Mondays.

The Jean Hoffman Trio will continue to be the regular entertainment feature at Gatsby's Tuesdays through Saturday nights.

Gatsby's has acquired quite a good reputation as a night spot whose patrons come from all parts of the Bay Area.

EL PASEO in Mill Valley is closed for three weeks while owner Mary Harkins takes care of some important business and undergoes a medical checkup. She tells me that patrons should be able to pick up frozen casseroles and popovers from the restaurant again by May 28. Full dinners may be delayed slightly longer.

NEXT CALIFORNIA NIGHT at the Cafe Bon Vin in San Anselmo is Wednesday, May 27, with Brother Timothy and the finest wines of Christian Brothers to be featured. Reservations well in advance might be very much in order. Last California Night dinner on April 29 was a sellout.

Fred Cherry notes that his Wine Discovery Shop carries regular supplies for home winemakers — including Form 1541 which must be validated by the Internal Revenue Service before getting into production. He's also organizing a class in home winemaking, using his bonded winery and the assistance of Santa Rosa enologist Ernest Lane.

CLOSED ON SUNDAY, Mother's day — but still serving a Mother's Day dinner is Jean's Kitchen in Ross.

Jean Dobson and her staff are taking the day off this Sunday — but the Mother's Day dinner will be served tomorrow from 2 p.m. — prime rib with all accessories, including home made apple pie, at $4 is the specialty.

Any other Sunday, you'll find Jean open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. for breakfast, lunch and dinner.

First Census Reports Are In

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau said today that Wells County, N.D., was the first to report its complete population count in the 1970 census.

The county's preliminary count was 7,772. The early totals are made at district offices and are subject to later revision.

Eight other counties were close behind.

The counties and their population are Alpine County, Calif., 430; Hamilton County, Neb., 8,689; Dodge County, Minn., 12,946; Washburn County, Wis., 10,383; Adair County, Iowa, 9,491; Cass County, Iowa, 16,646; Burnett County, Wis., 8,995; and Banner County, Neb., 1,001.

Warehouse Design Nod Is Delayed

Design review approval on a long metal warehouse planned along railroad tracks south of Corte Madera Creek will be held up until next Thursday.

County planner Rowland Darnell said the builder, Alan W. Rosenberg of Romac Pacific Co., agreed yesterday to a one-week extension because Corte Madera protested it had not been notified of the proposed building.

Romac Pacific Co. wants to build a 450-foot long metal warehouse 25 feet wide and 13 feet high on the property of Northwestern Pacific Railroad on the bay side of Highway 101, between Industrial Way and Corte Madera Creek. The proposed foundation is a long concrete slab to which the steel warehouse will be bolted.

"It's going to look like a row of railroad boxcars," said Darnell. But the property is zoned industrial, which permits structures like warehouses, he added. Werner Von Gundell, acting planning director, will rule on whether or not the design is acceptable.

Corte Madera town mgr. Ronald L. Usher declared that his city is opposed to the "further proliferation of metal sheds." He said that construction along the railroad right-of-way could also jeopardize the county's plan for a rapid transit system along the railroad rights-of-way.

The property which Romac Pacific wants to use is located between the Larkspur City limits to the west and Corte Madera city limits to the east.

Southern Span Delay Is Sought

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly Transportation Committee has approved a resolution calling for delay in the controversial Southern Crossing of the San Francisco Bay.

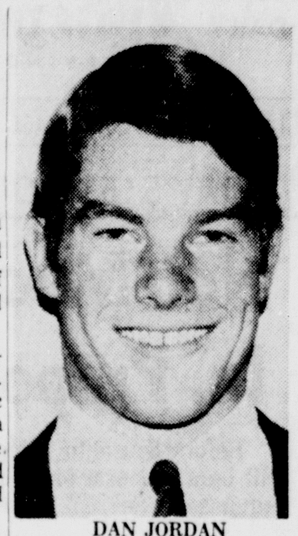

The resolution, approved Thursday, requests the California Toll Bridge Authority to hold up work on the proposed bridge until after the Bay Area Rapid Transit District system is in full service.

The resolution's author, Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, and other backers have said they hoped the development of a rapid transit system would eliminate the need for another commuter bridge with all the congestion and air pollution that would accompany increased auto traffic.

Not Much Usable Land In Proposed Bond Purchase

Before Sausalito voters on June 2 will be a proposal for a bond issue to purchase waterfront property that the city's recreation committee recommended eight years ago be acquired for a park.

The property is six lots, largely underwater, between Litho and Napa streets, owned by Sausalito Properties, Inc.

IN 1962, the Sausalito Recreation Commission recommended that the city try to acquire the property for park and recreation use. No such action was taken, however, and the lots were included in a plan by Sausalito Properties for a multi-million-dollar development on 44 acres of waterfront land.

To block that development, the City of Sausalito declared a four-year moratorium on filling and building along the waterfront. That moratorium was later ruled illegal by a Marin County Superior Court judge, but in the meantime jurisdiction over development had come under control of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

Sausalito Properties has sold off much of its holdings. And now the six lots between Litho and Napa streets, proposed eight years ago for a park, are sought by the city as a future city hall and library site.

BESIDES PROVIDING a location for city hall and library, the acquisition would preserve open space along the waterfront, the city council points out.

The proposed bond issue is for $560,000, which is the price at which Sausalito Properties has offered the land to the city. That is $5,000 below an appraisal made for the city, according to Acting City Mgr. H. Eric Borgwardt.

The six parcels are carried on the county assessor's roles at appraisals totaling $442,000. However, Sausalito property is being re-appraised this year, and that figure is likely to be increased.

Sausalito has tried for years to find sites for library and city hall that would meet with voter approval. The proposed purchase is touted as answering these needs and at the same time giving Sausalitans a waterfront park.

THERE IS, HOWEVER, a flaw.

Although the six lots total 9.7 acres, only 1.7 acres have been filled. The city does not contemplate further filling, according to Borgwardt. No fill application for the property has ever been approved by the BCDC, according to Joseph E. Bodovitz, its executive director.

In other words, the City of Sausalito is proposing to issue bonds of $560,000 to buy 1.7 acres of useable land and eight acres underwater.

On the 1.7 acres would have to go the city hall, the library, parking, and whatever facilities were installed to make the remaining eight acres of value as an aquatic park.

It sounds rather crowded.

SAUSALITO DEFINITELY needs a site to relocate its library and city hall. But three years ago a bond issue to build a library on property already owned by the city failed to pass.

We question whether Sausalitans will want to authorize an outlay of $560,000 plus interest for 20 years — probably at 6 per cent or higher — for what looks like such a crowded site.

From The Belly Of A Bee

A new instrument has been developed for almost instant analysis of drugs, including narcotics, poisons and pollutants. It is expected to find its first use in hospital emergency rooms.

The machine is hooked up to detect pulse-like movements in the severed abdomen of a honeybee. A solution containing the material to be analyzed is introduced into this abdomen. The abdomen's movements are different for each substance introduced and are electronically graphed. By reading the chart a trained researcher can immediately identify the substance. The whole process can be finished in a matter of minutes.

While we regret the sacrifice of the bees, it is something of a tribute to them. It means the belly of a bee is more intelligent in this field than the mind of man.

And if that doesn't make us a little bit humble, we don't know what will.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Governor Reagan Does His Bit To Stymie Federal Boondoggle

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—In declaring his opposition to HR 16311, the welfare measure passed by the House of Representatives and now before the U. S. Senate, Gov. Ronald Reagan appears to have done his bit to prevent a huge federal boondoggle that could bankrupt the state.

That California alone can't control the progress of the bill is apparent, but its opinion on the ultimate effects will be valuable when the Senate Finance Committee in Washington resumes hearings on the measure.

GOVERNOR REAGAN pointed out that the measure could increase federal spending as much as $15 billion a year, all of which comes out of the taxpayers' pockets; this without taking into account increased costs at both state and county levels.

"Over the long haul," said Governor Reagan, "it could bankrupt us."

The measure as passed by the House contains provisions for a guaranteed income, which Governor Reagan says he is opposed to philosophically.

"It says," the governor stated, "no able-bodied head of household recipient need actually work to be eligible for the annual income floor.

"The President has called for increased incentives and opportunities to encourage welfare recipients to seek job training and job placement, and I have repeatedly called for these.

"But the bill actually contains work dis-incentives, which make it possible for a recipient to have a higher income by remaining on welfare.

AMONG OTHER things, Governor Reagan said the measure "contains the seeds of a giant new federal bureaucracy which would stultify, if not destroy, innovation and creative solutions at the state and local level, and in the public and private sectors."

Further, he declared: "Washington would be 'buying' us with our own money as those federal monies come from the California taxpayer. The money would be returned with increased federal controls and regulations and more and more pressure on counties and states to conform, match, spend and tax."

Already, the governor said, one out of every 12 persons in California receives some form of welfare. The bill adopted by the House would put one out of every seven citizens of this state on welfare.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Must Be Something In Fund Raising

From time to time writers to the editor have commented on so-called junk mail in general, and upon requests for contributions in particular.

On March 17, more or less on the spur of the moment, I decided to accumulate a list of those delivered at this address over a period of one month. Perhaps the sheer volume of these soliciations may be surprising, so here follows my compilation, offered in the thought its contents will evoke some interest:

March 17, Cerebral Palsy; 19, American Security Council, American Bible Society; 20, Church League of America, Committee to Reelect Governor Reagan; 23, American Institute for Economic Research; 24, Hogan for Congress, Liberty Lobby; 25, American Red Cross; 26, United Republicans, U.S. Census (requiring not money, but a contribution of a considerable amount of time in what seems more a canvass of flush toilets than a count of people); 27, Boat Owners Association (I don't own a boat), A Personal Message from Tennessee Ernie Ford, Pallottine Missions; 30, Vietnam Gift Pac, National Work Committee, Office Retirement Gift Request.

April 1, American Forum for International Study, World Youth Crusade for Freedom; 3, Radio of Free Asia; 4, Deukmejian Committee; 7, Carter for Senator, Church League of America (second request), Bay Area Peace Action Council; 9, St. Michael's Building Fund; 10, United Nations Twenty-Fifth Anniversary; 11, African Council, Republican Congressional Committee, Ketenhoffen for State Board of Equalization; 14, Hemophilia Foundation, American Victory Force; 15, Air Force Association; 16, Radio of Free Asia (second request), Pinkerton for State Senator, Electric Railroad Association.

Since the month involved covers both property and income tax payment deadlines, it might be reasonable to assume that supplications would dwindle accordingly. It seems evident such an assumption would be ill-founded.

One cannot but wonder if there is some attraction to this fund-raising business beyond that which meets the casual eye.

Withhold Taxes To Protest War

With President Nixon's recent decision to send our American troops into further combat in an undeclared war, it has become the duty of every citizen to let his convictions be known to his elected representatives. If one sees an evil being done and takes no steps to stop it, one becomes as guilty of that evil as the doer. I am convinced that the real "silent majority" of America does not support Mr. Nixon today, but rather finds himself with no means of expressing disapproval other than extreme measures which many of us are loath to take. I cannot support the proposal of two groups of teachers (Tamalpais High School, Drake High School—I-J, May 2) calling for a nation-wide teachers' strike. The education of our children is in crises throughout the country as it is!

I propose that every taxpayer inform Mr. Nixon that, as a concerned responsible citizen, he will deduct from his income tax payment that percentage which is used to continue a shameful, futile conflict. Miss Joan Baez attempt it, was tried (I think) and fined. But she had to go it alone a few years ago. If today, Americans by the thousands would take this action, mailing statements of their intent to their senator, representatives, the Armed Services Committee, the House Finance Committee, it would give support to those congressmen who are considering now to vote down further funds for the waging of the Indochina War.

Candidate Urges Higher Rental

Mr. Norman P. Higby's letter in the April 30 issue concerning the lease between the Meadow Club and the Marin Municipal Water District is quite timely. As I recall, Mr. Higby wrote an article in a similar vien about six months ago. His earlier letter has never been mentioned at any MMWD board meeting although Mr. Robert G. Anderson, president of the board, had indicated that a "workshop meeting" (held AFTER a regular meeting in January) that the current lease of $480 per year was certainly unacceptable. At that time the Board discussed how to establish a reasonable and fair figure. At the next regular meeting, it was decided to appoint an appraiser to determine what a "fair" rental charge might be. His figure was given at the last meeting of the board, i.e., $5000.

There are many people, including myself, who feel that while this is certainly an improvement, it still falls far short of a realistic figure.

Accordingly, I have made a written request to the board of directors asking for citizen's time to duscuss this matter on the agenda for the meeting to beheld at 1:30 p.m. on May 13, and urge all citizens to attend and give their view as to what a fair rent for 147 acres of MMWD land should be.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

When Mrs. Gallagher's husband was kicked unceremoniously out of Alcoholics Anonymous, she decided that a trip to the old family homestead in Erin might be the thing to teach him sobriety. She was wrong.

As she tearfully admitted on her return to Boston, "St. Patrick may have driven the snakes out of Ireland, but my Pat's hangovers brought them all back!"

Mrs. Snodgrass, a familiar figure in her doctor's office, reappeared one morning with a brand new set of symptoms. "My back aches all the time, I've lost my appetite, and I get cramp after cramp in both legs," she complained. "That's not good," agreed the doctor.

"Let's see, how old are you now?" "I'll be 33 next Tuesday," said Mrs. Snodgrass. "Hm-m-m," nodded the doctor. "Slight loss of memory, too."

THE DRUMMONDS

Bold Cambodia Action Should Be Followed Up In Mideast

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's bold action in Cambodia needs to be followed by bold action in the Mideast—for the same purposes: There is strong interaction between the two.

What's happening in Indochina is important to the United States.

What's happening in the Middle East is vital to the United States.

We cannot afford to leave the Soviet challenge to the survival of Israel unmet because it would invite massive expansion of Soviet power and risk an unwanted war which could engulf both the United States and Russia.

Moscow has to be shown that further Soviet brinkmanship in the Middle East is perilous and cannot be safely employed on the assumption that the United States is in a mood to abandon its responsibility for peace almost anywhere in the world.

EXPECTING that the United States is too divided and distracted to react, here is what Moscow is now doing:

It is taking over the defense of the bulk of Egyptian air space with Soviet arms and Soviet personnel. It is manning the newly installed Soviet SAM sites with Soviet technicians. It is supplying the experts to handle the control towers and deep radar and it is providing Soviet pilots to fly Soviet planes in part to free Egyptian forces to expand their war against Israel.

Its purposes are evident.

IT AIMS to erase totally U.S. influence in the Middle East.

It aims to establish the Soviet Union as the dominating, all-powerful force in the Moslem world.

Its strategic aim is to reopen the Suez Canal so that Soviet ships and arms can move easier and faster to all of Southeast Asia where its goal is Soviet dominance.

To all of these ends it is apparently willing to go just as far as it can without rousing the United States to any effective counteraction.

The Kremlin is now confronting President Nixon with the equivalent of the Cuban missile crisis with which Krushchev confronted President Kennedy in 1962. This is Nixon's Middle Eastern "Cuban crisis" and it rest on the calculation that he will blink and look away.

WE DOUBT that Richard Nixon will do so. He gave the reason for not doing so in his address on Cambodia:

"If when the chips are down the United States acts like a pitiful, helpless giant, the forces of totalitarianism and anarchy will threaten free nations and free institutions throughout the world."

It is reasonable to expect that the President:

—Will warn the Soviets that we do not intend to leave Israel exposed to mounting Russian military power in Egypt.

—Will implement that warning by meeting Israel's request to buy U.S. jet fighters to counter the Soviet threat.

The U.S. refrained from providing these planes a few weeks ago hoping our restraint would be matched by Soviet restraint. It wasn't. Mr. Nixon then felt that the superior skill of Israeli pilots against superior numbers kept the balance of air power at least equal. Now Moscow is upsetting that balance by manning Soviet planes with skilled Soviet pilots.

ISRAEL IS the perfect application of the Nixon doctrine—that short of combat aid, the United States will help others to help themselves. Here is an independent, democratic nation, created by the United Nations, determined and able to defend itself if we will supply some of the means. It has never asked for and doesn't want a single foreign soldier to help. It will die before it will give up its life as a nation.

The United States will be defending its own security by helping Israel to defend its own survival.

$31 Million Safety Test Set For Grounded F-111

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Each plane in the grounded force of F-111 fighters will be proof-tested, under current plans, in a giant icebox, under peak wing loadings and at temperatures down to minus 40 degrees before the planes are returned to duty.

Two of the king-size cold "cells" are being built at Fort Worth and a third at Waco, Tex. The cost is estimated at $31 million. Additional testing costs for each of some 230 planes are estimated at $70,000.

That is the Rube Goldbergian testing plan which has been outlined to congressional committees. Air Force Secy. Robert C. Seamans Jr. says the program will "revalidate" each of the F-111s, which were grounded in December after a crash disclosed a structural failure.

THE GOVERNMENT will pay 85 per cent of the testing costs and the contractor, General Dynamics Corp., will pay the rest. However, those costs will not further inflate the bill for the F-111 program in which the government will soon have invested some $6.8 billion.

The testing program will be charged off against the new budget's $483.5 million outlay for F-111s. Under that arrangement, the Air Force will purchase 36 rather than 40 of the planes in the new fiscal year.

The first of the grounded F-111s are expected to begin clearing the proof-tests and other extensive inspection procedures some time in June. All are due back in service by May 1971.

Later, when the already delivered F-111s are due for regular overhaul, they will be fitted with a new wing component. The new wing "box" is designed to stand up for a longer period under the stress of high altitude flight.

Newer models of the F-111 will get the improved wing component at the outset. Cost for refitting the older models is estimated at $150,000 per plane.

ALL OF THESE remedial procedures were recommended by a special Air Force board which studied the F-111 wing failure which caused the grounding of the planes. The recommendations were based on a finding that one faulty metal casting had ripped, like a piece of fabric, under flight stresses.

Some congressional military experts are not sold on the validation plan.

In its formal report on the annual defense procurement bill, the House Armed Services Committee called the F-111 safety record "superb" as compared with other combat aircraft. It said the idea of reducing plane purchases to finance safety tests is unprecedented.

Would-Be Sunbathers Attack Mill Valley Nudity Ordinance

A law against a "crime without a victim" is being challenged in Mill Valley.

The law is a city ordinance adopted last year that makes it a misdemeanor to be nude in a public place. Offenders can be sent to jail for 60 days and fined $500.

Violation of the statute is "a crime without a victim" because a complaint from a citizen is not necessary. State laws against nudity require a complaining witness.

The city council passed the ordinance after residents of Cascade Canyon and others rose up in arms against persons, mostly young, who were fond of stripping for all-over tans at Cascade Reservoir last summer. Complaints, prerequisites for arrests, were hard to come by so the nude sunbathing continued unabated.

In July the council got around to passing the law. It took effect at the end of August. Armed with it, Mill Valley police have arrested 15 persons this year, most of them during Easter vacation's warm spell. Cool weather and the threat of arrest have curtailed nude sunbathing since then.

But the youths still use Cascade Reservoir. They sunbathe (clothed) on the dam and on a postage-stamp-sized flat on the lake's southwest side. They listen to transistor radios. And sometimes they take a dip in the reservoir in violation of a law against swimming there.

Continued use by these young persons has resulted in a corresponding drop in use of the reservoir area by "straights."

This being the case, the young people argue, why not let us have our nude sunbathing area? No one else seems to go there any more. It doesn't seem likely anyone would be offended by the sight of unclothed bodies, they claim, since the city couldn't even get enough complaining witnesses to enforce the old statute.

Such a nude area is not unprecedented. Nude beaches exist in San Mateo and Santa Clara counties.

Moral reasons alone dictate the rightness of allowing nude sunbathing at the park, claim the challengers. Other factors—the cost of police patrols, and arrest, booking, trial and related paperwork costs—provide a sound fiscal argument for nullifying the law, they contend.

Shooting At Officer Now Simple Assault?

Regarding your reporting of the sentencing of one John Eugene Fox by Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court. At the hands of Judge Haley, Fix received a nine-month sentence for burglary (a felony) and a whopping three months for assault on a peace officer, which is also a felony punishable by time in a state correctional institution.

Perhaps I am not as learned as the judge but I always thought that when you shot at someone it was called attempted murder not simple assault. However, I am quite sure this "victim of society" will learn his lesson by serving his time in our beautiful, new, modern, well-equipped jail, and never break the law again because he knows he will be dealt with to the letter of the law . . . whatever that is.

COUNTY COMMENT

Attempt To Snuff Departments May Be 'Last Straw' At Brasilia

Fusselman

Well, well, well! "I'm going to run this county and don't you ever forget it" Alan Bruce has a whole flock of the Peter Behr wild turkey type coming home to roost—and is he a concerned "commander"!

How's that? This is how's that. Anyone paying any sort of attention to the way of life out at Brasilia couldn't help but realize that the date of the last feather's (or perhaps straw's) arrival was getting closer and closer.

The three departments with 31 employees he wants to shuffle off, according to the front page story in the Wednesday I-J, are only symptomatic. Considered by themselves they are not impressive, but as the last straw, they are something else again.

The departments he has "COMMAND" of (the caps are mine; the word is his) are without a doubt the greatest example of duplication in the whole complex atop those hills.

STATE LAW reads that the auditor shall present a budget each year to the board of supervisors. When I first went on the board, that was being done. However, there was always the sort of phantom question as to just how much authority the auditor had in the department of any elected official. Personalitieies often didn't mesh, so I recommended that the board correct that by utilizing a short section of the state code which allows a county to add the word "controller" to the title. After some discussion this was done and the official became the "auditor-controller."

Here is how duplication, mentioned before, occurs. Mike Mitchell, the auditor-controller, as a matter of code requirement, sits in on all budget preparations, but it is strictly Bruce's show (in utter disregard of the code.) The man who is determined to run things takes over the department's budget.

IN 1958 THERE was an attempt, by the same group who "presented" you with the Frank Lloyd Wright complex (paid for with your money), to put over a charter which would have given the administrator the power of life and death over all departments. But 60 per cent of the voters said an emphatic "no." So from then on through 1964 county business was conducted as prescribed.

Then as the lady writer for a county weekly said, "As of Jan. 1, 1965 the board consisted of Kettenhofen (Ernest), Storer (Tom), Peter Behr, Byron Leydecker and veteran William Gnoss, producing a board dominated by the liberal view. . .Bruce staged a strong comeback. Henceforth he has supervisorial responsibility over all county department heads, elective or appointed on matters of concern to the board. . .He emerges as the most powerful figure in county government." And this with a $5,000 a year raise; the first of many.

He and his two buddies then on the board are the three cooks who mixed up this stew—onions and all. Now he is scared.

Perhaps more figures—costs that is—will be available next week.

Nixon's Secret Revealed At Last

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

'Massive Pollution' Statement A Myth

In Independent-Journal reporting (April 17) on the BCDC action on the county's plan for development of Richardson Bay, you state that the executive director "criticized the plan for its silence on what would be done about the already massive pollution in Richardson Bay".

Massive pollution in Richardson Bay is a myth not supported by the facts. Unfortunately, an untruth repeated often enough becomes a fact in the minds of the public.

"Pollution means an alteration of the quality of the waters of the state by waste to a degree which unreasonably affect: (1) such waters for beneficial uses, or (2) facilities which serve such beneficial uses".

Richardson Bay is protected from pollution by two treatment plants providing complete secondary treatment followed by disinfection consistently meeting all discharge requirements of the Regional Water Quality Control Board. . .

Irresponsibel statements made by public officials who fail to ascertain or fairly interpret the facts or who wish to gain some advantage by adding to the present public hysteria regarding pollution are stabs in the back to the many dedicated people responsible for solving sanitary problems in the area. . .

With present day technology and advances in waste treatment processes to be expected in the future, there can be no question that with adequate treatment facilities the water of the bay can be protected for all legitimate uses for the ultimate development within the watershed.

Phosphate Ratings Of Detergents

Most of us are hunting for specific ways in which we, as individuals, can help to decrease or eliminate the pollution of our environment.

The latest issue of Audubon Magazine has on article entitled "Phosphates, Putrefacation and the Detergent Dilemma" containing information on which detergents are the safest at present, though further research is being pushed.

Housewives who wish to help curb pollution are advised by Audubon to use ordinary soap wherever possible and only those detergents with the lowest proportion of phosphates, which led to the "death" of Lake Erie.

Trend detergent, with 1.4 per cent phosphate, is currently the most desirable brand from an environmental standpoint, according to the Audubon statistics. Runners-up were Diaper-Pure, with 5.0 per cent, and Wisk, with 7.6 per cent.

The phosphate percentages ranged up to a high of 43.7 for Axion, followed by 40.4 for Biz and 35.5 for Bio-Ad. Sixteen other brand names ranged in between on this "environmental offenders" list.

One Candidate Filed Statement

Your editorial of April 28 suggested that since widespread conflict of interest involving judges seems indicated by recent disclosures, it might be well if a statement of financial holdings were filed by each of Marin's 13 judicial candidates.

Your editorial failed to mention that Harry Rice filed a statement of his financial holdings with the county clerk on April 14. TO my knowledge, he is the only judicial candidate who has done so.

Reasons Behind Golf Club Lease

Your editorial of May 1 in regard to the lease by the Marin Municipal Water District to the Meadow Club merits clarification.

In 1946 an agreement was entered into by the district and the club at a time when the very existence of the golfing organization was in jeopardy. Foreclosure on the buildings and equipment seemed imminent. Membership had diminished. Finances were not forthcoming. The outlook appeared gloomy.

The 162 acres could have reverted to a cow pasture, the drainage from which would not have enhanced the quality of Alpine Lake, one source of the fine water which the district is ever vigilant in providing for Marin County.

To retain this very valuable recreational asset, the Marin Municipal Water District offered a lease at a very low annual rental, renewable and negotiable every 10 years. And it agreed to provide adequate water for the extensive greens at regular rates.

During the ensuing years the club has survived. It has improved the property, making it one of the most attractive courses in the state.

The lease became renewable and negotiable in 1969. In order to arrive at a fair and just rental contract, the board sought expert advice, as it always does in problems requiring special skill and knowledge.

The directors, with aid of staff, after much discussion and consideration felt that the rental should be $5,000 per year. And the district will still charge regular rates for the thousands of gallons of water used in maintaining its attractive environment.

Which is better? A cow pasture with bovine pollution of our drinking water, and minimal rental—or an attractive recreational facility with fair rental and a substantial income from the sale of water?

Decision Makers Should Be Listening

I wish to commend you for your timely and astute editorial April 23 regarding U.S. priorities. I only wish the decision makers in Washington were listening.

Commuting to the moon while our earth remains devastated and innocent victims of the industrialized economy become disillusioned and children become retarded because of malnutrition may make sense to majority in Congress but it certainly doesn't make sense to the people who hunger.

If all persons who agree with you would let his representatives in Washington know how they feel it would help.

They may not read the letters personally, but they are counted at least and this is an election year.

Garment District's Birdwomen

By PATRICIA MC CORMACK

Marin Women

Friday, May 8, 1970 Independent-Journal, 17

NEW YORK (UPI) — You've heard of "The Birdman of Alcatraz?"

It happens that feather touches are what's news in fancy fall and winter collections being shown the nation's buyers assembled here. And that's how we get this "birdwoman."

She was seen in the Geoffrey Beene show, all dressed in a pink long gown with a pink feathered jacket. The outfit was topped by a feather helmet, also pink.

WHEN SHE came on the scene this birdwoman tickled ribs so much that the usually tightlipped buyers broke into uncontrolled laughter.

"That's the end of Miss White Owl," a buyer said, referring to the sexy symbol for a cigar manufacturer. "We now have Miss Pink Owl."

Beene put shocking pink feathers all over long sleeves of a black long dress. A collar of what looked like porcupine quills — feathers, we were assured broke the monotony of another long black with portrait neckline.

It was worn tips up — reaching to the ears and lips.

"THAT'S TO hide your flea collar," one buyer quipped as more laughter rocked the showroom.

Ted Burton, vice president of Robert Simpson Co. in Toronto, commented:

"Call it 'ambush.' A mouth full of feathers. It could only happen in America." Weinberg and Beene followed the long lean line for daytime clothes, with hemlengths roaming from less than a foot from floor to mid-calf most of the time.

In case you have any doubts about the hemline length that's going to dominate, listen to what Weinberg said.

"While some of us have played with different lengths in previous collections, this time we mean business.

"I feel that every woman who has fashion awareness will also have a new wardrobe of lengths — that is all lengths starting from below the knee and moving downward to suit the different mood of the moment."

"KNOWN AS THE unconstructed look, this is exactly how it is achieved — ununnecessary undercover agents."

He meant bras and all the bra-burners in women's lib will be pleased to know the designer practices what he preaches.

Several of his long, after-five dresses had clinging but opaque long sleeved bodices. The way the fabric clung to the anatomy it was plain these were meant for wearing sans bra.

Both Beene and Weinberg had lots of pants suits. New with Weinberg was the poncho dress — a midi length that ended in a point fore and aft.

BEENE REVEALED some of his stark long black dresses with a turban of netting that trailed down the back to the shoe tops.

"If this keeps up," a buyer said, "the nuns will have to get their old habits out of mothballs to look fashionable."

Larry Aldrich's collection indicated that he, too, favored the soft look, so much so that it almost was subdued. His styles were plain, uncomplicated and of course midi, in brown and black with an occasional bright orange.

The highlight of Aldrich's collection was his evening wear in sparkling oranges, pinks, and green and gold brocades.

Buttons were on almost every item strung sometimes all the way from neckline to hem.

By MOLLY MARIN

Six couples, all residents of Las Casitas Mobile Home Park in Rohnert Park, were honored Sunday at a reception and tea given by the social committee of the park. The couples who will observe 50 years of marriage during 1970 included Messrs. and Mmes. A. S. Parlett C. R. Christensen, Chauncey De Pue, Peter Wynne, Josephy Le Valley and Burt Dickinson.

Some 300 guests including friends and relatives attended the affair in the park's social hall. Mrs. Ross Stangle did the flower arranging and Mrs. Stuart Hatten and Mrs. Goerge Parker poured tea. Cake was served by Mrs. Leo Commins and Mrs. Michael Kocan served punch.

Each couple received flowers, a gold pen, and a guest book signed by all the guests.

MILL VALLEY councilman and Mrs. Jerome Hauke have invited 70 couples to a cocktail party to be held Sunday at their home in Mill Valley from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. honoring former Mill Valley Mayor Dean Meyer and Mrs. Meyer.

Denise will be married to Don A. Robertson of Novato on May 16.

Guests attending the shower wer Denise's mother, Mrs. John Gobbi of Novato, Donna Ashworth of San Rafael, Mrs. R. J. Scribner, Mrs. Orbert Harrigan, Vicki Hachmyer, Debbie Far and Carolyn Caldwell, all of Novato.

A REHEARSAL DINNER will be held tonight at Hamilton Air Force Base Officers Club for the wedding party of Maureen E. Mulvaney and James Hartigan Jr. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. L. C. Mulvaney of Tiburon.

Attending also will be James' parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Hartigan of Arlington Heights, Illinois, five bridesmaids, five ushers and Rev. John O'Connor of Catholic Social Services, a friend of the young couple who will officiate at their wedding Saturday, May 9 at St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon.

Maid Of Honor

The maid of honor is the most important of the bride's attendants. Her gift is always a little extra to go with her status in the bride's party. A single strand neclace of pearls with matching pearl earrings or a pearl bracelet, tailored gold or stone-set necklace and earrings or pin and earrings pay special honor to the maid of honor.

Food Prices Predicted To Rise Six Per Cent

CORONADO (UPI) — Food prices by the end of 1970 probably will be 6 per cent higher than last year, according to Clarence G. Adamy, president of the American Association of Food Chains.

He told the 2,000 delegates attending the convention of the Western Association on Food Chains that inflation will hit the food dollar much harder.

"It will get much worse before it gets better," he said. "It will show up most glaringly on your shelves."

He noted the Department of Agriculture had predicted a 4 per cent rise but prices already have gone up 4.3 per cent and studies indicate no real letup.

The continuing rise in prices, he said, are caused by increased marketing costs such as transportation, labor, rent and packaging.

"New contracts being negotiated across the country could have a disastrous effect on grocery prices," he said.

Adamy urged grocers to talk to customers about what they are doing so perhaps they will understand the supermarket is not the villain. He noted the food retailing and supply industries are being given a "black eye."

The fact that people shop more often at supermarkets and pay cash means they feel rising prices more than they do at such places as the department store or automobile dealer. Food prices have risen only 75 per cent as much as prices in other consumer outlets, he said.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Telephone Solicitors Who Study The Vital Statistics Are Cruel

DEAR HELEN:

Telephone solicitors I can take (though I'd rather not), but the kind who study vital statistics columns are too much.

You have a new baby. You're busy with formula, diapers; and just as Junior settles down for a nap, he's waked up screaming by the telephone.

The pattern of conversation is something like this:

"Congratulatons on your new baby. How is he doing? Does he look like you?"

You desperately try to recognize the voice.

Then, "Don't you remember me? I met you at Mrs. (Mumble's)" And here it comes, "Have you tried the XYZ Diaper Service?

You've been trapped again. Not sold, perhaps, but fooled and imposed upon.

Then there's the statistic watcher who studies the marriage announcements. Being young and inexperienced, the bride-to-be is often taken in by these sales pitches, especially if she thinks she's talking to a friend.

But the cruelest, vilest and most obnoxious of these callers is the one who follows the obituaries. When the survivor is a woman, she is approached by hot tippers on investments, real estate; all sorts of salesmen who want to get their grubby hands on her inheritance. And so often they pose as business associates of her late husband.

As a widow of two months, I know whereof I speak. During this time I have listened to predators—from realtors wanting to buy my home for a song, to "accountants" who would straighten out my affairs, to insurance and repair men, to investment brokers and even sellers of plastic flowers for the deceased's grave. All these in the name of sympathy, with a sales tag attached.

But the one that prompted this letter is the following call:

Caller: "I am Mr. Sam Smith and I want to tell you how sorry I am to hear of your husband's death. . .Would you have a small photo of him?"

Me: (thinking he must be a good friend) "Well, yes, but not of him alone."

Mr. Smith: "That's all right. I can take his section and make a beautiful enlargement at a very low price. . ."

That did it. I burst into tears and dropped the receiver. How long it was off the hook I don't know but some time later a repairman came to see if the line was out of order. It was.

If you see fit to print my letter, maybe it will get through to these numbskulls how cruel they are.—MRS. H. E. F.

DEAR MRS. F:

Your letter won't stop the vultures: Sales people who use death to turn a profit don't come equipped with consciences. But I'm sure your warnings will alert many innocents to the "vital statistics" pitch.

While such telephone callers are within the law, their names and addresses, turned over to the Chamber of Commerce or Better Business Bureau, might at least bring a reprimand.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Here's a little change of pace for you. Definitions:

Socialism: You have two cows and give one to your neighbor.

Communism: You have two cows; the government takes both and gives you the milk.

Fascism: You have two cows; the government takes both and sells you the milk.

Nazism: You have two cows, the government takes both and shoots you.

Bureau-ism: You have two cows, the government takes both, shoots one, milks the other, and throws the milk away.

Capitalism: You have two cows; you sell one and buy a bull.

Mrs. Walter G. Strauss Heads Medical Auxiliary

MRS. WALTER STRAUSS

Mrs. Walter G. Strauss of San Rafael is the new president of the Women's Auxiliary to the Marin Medical Society. A nine-year-member of the auxiliary, Lee Strauss has served as president-elect, first vice president and held several chairmanships.

Members are wives of Marin County doctors who assist the medical society. They also provide scholarships for nursing students and support the Medical Society in furthering good health in the community. Scholarship funds are being raised through the sale of cook books.

The new president was born and reared in New York City. She received a bachelor of science degree from Hunter College and a master of arts degree from New York University.

Mrs. Strauss taught diet therapy at Skidmore College School of Nursing. She served as staff dietitian for the New York City Department of Hospitals and chief dietitian at Mary's Help Hospital in San Francisco.

The Strausses lived in Panama and London during periods of Dr. Strauss' training in internal and tropical medicines. In Panama Mrs. Strauss taught junior high and high school home economics.

She is a past Parent-Teacher Association president. Her other activities as a volunteer are assisting cooking classes at a school for the physically handicapped and as a Camp Fire Girl leader.

Barbara, 12, Bill, 10, and Linda, 8, are the Strauss children. Lee Strauss does dressmaking and designing, mostly in leather. Her hobbies are travel, tennis, skiing and gourmet cooking.

Fiftieth Anniversary Party Given For J. O. Tretheweys

The 50th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Trethewey of the Leisure Lake Mobile Home Park in Petaluma was celebrated Sunday when the couple were honored by the congregation of their church, the Christian Missionary Alliance Church of Petaluma. Members presented Mrs. Trethewey with a corsage and gave a boutonniere to her husband.

Later in the day, the couple were dinner guests of family members at Sonoma Joe's. Those present were daughters and their husbands, Messrs. and Mmes. Harry MacDuffie of La Habra and Al Brengle of San Rafael; sons and their wives, John O. Trethewey from San Diego and Robert K. Trethewey from Houston, Tex.

Grandchildren present were Ken and Cheryl Edwards, Marsha Brengle, Neal Brengle and his wife, Nancy and Kirsten Brengle, the couple's great-grandchild.

The Tretheweys were married May 1, 1920, in Tucson, Ariz. and moved to Petaluma in September of 1969.

Basket Grill

A long-handled hinged or basket grill makes camp cookery of small or fragile foods, such as fish or burgers, much easier on the cook. It allows you to turn all the food at once without breaking it up. If the fire blazes up unexpectedly, all the food can be removed quickly and at one time so the flames can be reduced. Hot dogs and other foods that require frequently turning also are easier to handle in these grills.

ON BEING BLACK

All Causes Have Sizzling Militants

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

The slightly graying woman smiled as she joined me on the park bench facing the playground.

Momentarily, my group of five children gathered around noisily to show me a ladybug and then raced back to the playground.

"They're not yours, are they?" she asked.

"Well, yes." I shrugged my shoulders. I was about to retort with an idealistic statement that as an adult I considered all children my children.

(Actually, only two of the group were my own.)

"I had just one," she said proudly.

"That's nice. A boy or a girl?"

"That's nice."

"You don't look old enough to have so many children. But then with your people you can't really tell."

I was about to tell her I had five more in school when my multihued, stair-step group again converged on us with another bug.

Looking as if her oyxgen supply had just been usurped, the woman walked away.

Wow! What's a person to do these days? If the racists (black or white) didn't get you last year, there's a good chance you'll "get got" by the ecologists this year. And if history is to repeat itself, as it usually does, we can expect the ecology advocates to range from lukewarm supporters to sizzling militants.

Though there are several facets of the current ecology thing, one of the major concerns is people pollution.

We can safely predict just how far the conservative advocates of the anti-more-people movement will go. But what about the anti-more-people militants — those who advocate absolutely no more children for anyone? When all else fails — written requests (signed with a claw) and verbal pleadings (with folk music in the background) — can we expect sit-ins at local matrnity wards and bombings of obstetricians' offices?

The ultimate, of course, would be when these dedicated militants resort to stoning pregnant women in the town plaza. Don't laugh! It will be sort of like the antiwar people who wage war to end war and the love people who hate those who do not love their love.

If the anti-more-people militants succeed, it will pose still another problem. What will we replace that venerable American cult of Motherhood with?

During our contemporary cause, we blacks replaced blonde motherhood with dark, kinky-haired motherhood. (We even replaced apple pie with sweet potato pie.) But what are we to replace the entire cult with?

This will be particularly difficult for the black female, because we come from a long line of mammies and mothering has been our major forte (for far too long, I might add). But alas, what are we to do?

And what about us staunch black feminists who, even though determined not to support the myth that all black women have umpteen children, occasionally come face to face with a soft, brown bundle of gurgles wrapped in a fluffy pink blanket? What about that queazy kind of feeling in the bottom of your stomach?

Don't these feelings have a place in the ecology, too?

Nancy E. Scott Engaged To Timothy R. Gavin

Dr. and Mrs. Ronald L. Scott of Sonoma announced the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Edith, to Timothy R. Gavin during a family party in their home.

Nancy is the sister of Beth Scott. She attended Sonoma Valley High School and will be graduated from Chico State College in June.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Gavin of St. Paul, Minn. are the parents of the future benedict. Timothy, who is a lieutenant in the Air Force, was graduated from the College of St. Thomas. He is commander of Detachment Two, Military Airlift Support Squadron, at the Udorn Royal Air Force Base, Udorn, Thailand.

The couple plan a fall wedding.

ON THE AGENDA

Five Belvedere Gardens To Be On Tour At Sunny Hills Event

A tour of five gardens in Belvedere will be featured Wednesday afternoon by the five Belvedere Guilds of Sunny Hills, along with a tea and bazaar to be held at the San Francisco Yacht Club.

Gardens on the tour, from 1 to 3 p.m. will be those of Dr. and Mrs. Robert McNaught, and Messrs. and Mmes. Lou Hymans, Robert Davies, Herbert Spilman, A. Donham Owen.

Two min-buses will leave the yacht club in Belvedere for the 2-hour tour of the gardens.

Honorary members of Sunny Hills will pour tea at the yacht club, where a silent auction table and display of handcrafted articles will be featured. Bazaar items are the work of the five guilds and their members also will provide the tea sandwiches and sweets.

Guild 1, represented by Mrs. E. J. Perry, president and Mrs. Milton Stannard, tea chairman, will offer their knitting and many hand decorated boutique items.

The handcrafters of Guild 2, represented by Mrs. Robert Lamoree, president and tea chairman, will contribute trivets, telephone book covers, fire starters, candles, paper weights and pressed flower pictures.

Guild 3, represented by Mrs. Donald O'Leary, president, and Mrs. Clayton Brunsell, tea chairman are artisans of decorative dried arrangements, raffia dolls and door-stop flower baskets.

Sale art items, created by Guild 5 members, are oils, water colors and ink drawings. Wig and hat forms, crewel designs, ceramic mushrooms and fabric pictures are also offered.

Tickets for the entire event may be purchased through Belvedere Guild members or at the San Francisco Yacht Club prior to the tour.

REGGIE MACK

Mmes. Charles Matheny and Bruce Hanna. Other chairmen are Mmes. Robert Sutherland, James Denebeim, John Danner, Perry Smith, Walter Benson, Norman Armends, DeWitt Mason, Betty Jacobson, Ed Neumeier, James Banfield and Robert Maher.

The event will be held at Alexander Hall of the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, with champagne served at 11:30 a.m. followed by the luncheon and show.

INSTALLATION OF officers and a panel of youth from Marin County high schools showing films they have produced will be featured at the general meeting of the Marin Motion Picture and Television Council on Tuesday at the First Methodist Church, San Rafael, at 10 a.m.

A special report on the May conference of the Federation of Motion Picture Councils held in Detroit will be given by the president, Mrs. Adele Ulman, a delegate.

Officers to be installed at the meeting are Mmes. Ulman, president; Douglas Godfrey, vice president for motion pictures; Don Mansell, vice president for television; Bruce Clark, recording secretary; Maruice Murray, corresponding secretary; Robert Roumiguiere, membership; John O'Connor, treasurer; A. D. Owen, auditor; W. H. Gudmundson, historian; and H. A. Heberling, James Kephart and Miss Ellen Eilert, directors-at-large. Fairfax Theater manager Hazel Nelson is honorary vice president.

THE NOVATO Parents' Nursery School will hold an open house from 10 to 11:30 a. m., Tuesday in the educational annex of the Novato United Methodist Church.

Registration forms for the fall semester of Monday, Wednesday and Friday sessions will be available at the open house. Children 3 to 5 years old are eligible to enroll. If the fall registration warrants, the nursery school will consider adding a Tuesday-Thursday session. Mrs. John D. McDonald of Novato is membership chairman.

THE SAN Rafael Branch of the Needlework Guild of America will hold the annual ingathering on Tuesday at the Old Court House Annex, Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, at 1 p.m. Section presidents from various areas of Marin County will deposit clothing made by their members, household articles, and lap robes for patients in the many convalescent homes in Marin County.

Sections are headed by Miss Huldah Moorhead, San Anselmo; Mmes. D. A. Murphy, San Rafael; Ernest Giono, San Anselmo; J. J. Fischer, San Rafael; D. M. Springer, Inverness; L. L. Walsh, San Rafael; Kenneth Larkins, Greenbrae; Estella Smith, San Anselmo; Gertrude Hofman, San Rafael. Some 500 members comprise this branch.

Distribution will be made to the following agencies, whose representatives will be attending; American Red Cross; St. Vincent's Home for Boys, Sunny Hills, the Holy Family Sisters, Marin City and the Sonoma State Hospital. The 1969 ingathering distributed 3,378 articles to the agencies.

Hostesses will be the members of the needlework senior citizens sewing group of San Rafael, headed by Mrs. Estella Smith.

OFFICERS FOR the 1970-71 year for the Tamalpais Valley Parent-Teacher Association have been elected.

Re-elected were Mmes. Thomas Spencer, president; H. J. Cornelius, second vice president and teacher representative, and Charles Hendrickson, treasurer. Newly elected were Mmes. David Valdick, first vice president and William G. Henry, secretary.

GREEK PASTRIES will be sold tomorrow at 10 a.m. in two shopping centers by the Ladies Auxiliary — Philoptochos Society of the Greek Orthodox Church of Marin. Places are the Red Hill Shopping Center in San Anselmo and Scotty's Market in Terra Linda.

Pastries to be sold are baklava, kourambiethes, diples, melomakarona and koulouria. Chairmen are Mmes. John Pappadopoulos, Chris Christo and Gus Stathis.

THE ANNUAL Fairfax-Sleepy Hollow Little League fund raising dinner dance will be held May 16 at Sleepy Hollow Clubhouse. Cocktails will be served at 5:30 p.m. The barbecue will be served from 7:30 to 9:30, followed by dancing with the Red Garter Band.

Chairman Mrs. Dave Campbell is also reservations chairman.

MARIN COUNTY Panhellenic Association will hold a coffee meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry Summers, 130 Upland Roa, Kentdfield on Monday at 10:15 a.m. About 30 members, representing 17 sororities in Marin, will discuss plans for the July 29 fashion show and luncheon which Panhellenic co-sponsors with the Northgate group of Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

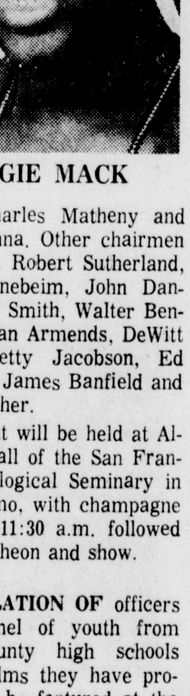

VALLEY COMMUNITY Church Guild in San Geronimo will have its spring fashion show and luncheon tomorrow at the church from 1 to 3 p.m. Local youth groups will show the fashions, directed by Joan Lindsay. Betsy Irving is directing the exhibition by local artists. Mrs. David Isaacs of Woodacre is reservations chairman and tickets will also be available at the door.

THE SECOND annual Rohnert Park Junior High School mother-daughter tea and fashion show will be held on Tuesday at 2:15 p.m. in the school multipurpose room. Students will show outfits they have made.

Post time is 1 p.m. and luncheon at noon in the Turf Club is included. Ticket chairmen are Mrs. Robert Stickney any Mrs. M. K. Taylor of Corte Madera, co-chairmen of the day. Bus transportation to the field may be arranged by calling Mrs. J. Norman Hendrickson of Ross.

Proceeds will provide supplies for the turkey sandwich booth for which the Larkspur Corte Madera Guild is noted at the annual Grape Festival in October, according to Mrs. Richard Basco, president.

ERON TABOR

be special guests are Eron Tabor, who plays the lead; Jennifer Lee and Reggie Mack.

Half An Egg?

If you are cutting a recipe in half and need to divide one egg in half, do it this way. Beat the whole egg until yoke and white are thoroughly combined, then measure and divide.

Sauteed Corn

Sauteed corn cooks in 5 to 8 minutes. Combine 3 cups of fresh corn, cut off the cob, ¼ cup of butter or margarine, ¼ teaspoon each of sugar, and salt and 1-16 teaspoon of ground black pepper in an 8-inch skillet or 1-quart saucepan. Cook, stirring, over medium heat until corn is tender. Serve hot, garnished with 3 slices cooked, crumbled bacon. Makes 4 portions.

Egg Prices Drop A Few Cents, Broiler-Fryers Still Good Buy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that food shoppers will find a few more meat and fresh produce items featured at food stores and supermarkets this weekend.

Leading the list again this week are beef roasts, steaks, and broiler-fryers, with pork chops, bacon, and ham prominently featured in some instances. At the fish counter, according to the U.S. Department of Interior, look for fish sticks and portions, canned salmon and canned tuna.

Vegetable counters in most stores are piled high with onions, carrots, potatoes, and radishes. In fruits, you'll find oranges, grapefruit, raisins, prunes, and canned peaches generally featured. Items on USDA's plentiful foods list for the month of May are canned tomato products, milk and dairy products, dry split peas, canned fruit cocktail, eggs, canned green beans, canned and frozen sweet corn, and canned apple sauce.

All sizes of eggs are 3 to 5 cents lower in all West Coast markets.

Fresh and smoked pork prices are mixed while other red meats and poultry are generally unchanged. Pork loins are as much as 5 cents a pound higher in Portland and 5 cents lower in San Francisco. Boston butts are also as much as 5 cents higher in Portland and 1 to 3 cents lower in California markets. Smoked hams are 2 to 5 cents lower in Portland and 1 to 2 cents higher in Los Angeles.

In San Francisco, veal is as much as 7 cents lower and calf is 1 to 4 cents lower.

Lamb is 5 to 6 cents higher in Portland.

Broiler-fryers are as much as 3 cents lower in San Francisco while turkey hens are 5 cents higher.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply include: Apples, bananas, grapefruit, oranges, strawberries, cabbage, carrots, lettuce, onions, and potatoes.

Seafood buys to watch for in the West, according to the U.S. Department of the Interior, are sea bass steaks, swordfish steaks, rock fish fillets, canned tuna, snapper fillets and Dover sole.

PHOTOGRAPHY SHOW — Some of the more unusual approaches to the medium are provided by John Spence Weir in works such as this in the current College of Marin gallery show of 13 Bay Area Photographers.

ART REVIEW

College Show Grants Photography Its Day

By LAURA DEVENDORF

In most art shows there is little, if any, photography. But each year the College of Marin does us the favor of devoting a slice of its gallery exhibition calendar entirely to this medium.

Through May 25 the college gallery has an exhibit of 13 Bay Area photographers organized as the "Visual Dialogue Foundation," 11 of whom are included with one work in a portfolio also in the Kentfield exhibit.

Oddly, for such a large, college-oriented group, the dialogue never rages. Most of the work is very low key with experimentation being of a more subtle, inwardly directed nature. The overtone is one of sensitive, quiet insight and where there is much superimposition of forms or double exposures, the editorializing is gentle and without rancor.

Several members of the group explore these multiple images to advantage. Michael Harris produces complex layers of subject, some of it drawn or painted in vivid colors. With this technique, Michael Bishop suggests dim figures in thick ivy. While Linda Conner's unusual work softly, and almost imperceptibly imposes faces or color upon the landscape.

John Spence Weir explores this approach too, but his work is most notable for its strength and concept. He uses silvery negative images, standard photographs and a touch of color, often in a strange montage of repeating forms.

One of these impressions is a series of women's faces from negative to positive with two whose lips are vivid red.

Most of the photographers including Ed Douglas from the College of Marin faculty, Judy Dater, Harvey Himelfarb, Lee Rice, Charles Roitz, Sue Robinson Roitz and Jack Welpott, reject single themes and quietly explore personal visions of people, places and things.

Most of the photographs are in black and white or only touched with color. Those by Don Worth and Oliver Gagliani are exceptions. Through filters and a special knack for finding gorgeous settings, Gagliani produces a sensitive display of nature from rocks and roots and lily ponds to dark dawn forms silhouetted against the streaked lights from water and sky.

Although Worth offers several studies in black and white, his most spectacular work is done in color, wild splashes of it on the landscape or almost opalescent, as in his assemblage of translucent rocks, net, tissue paper, a peacock feather and a skull.

Record Heroin Purchase Jails Five Suspects

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Federal agents said today they and local officers seized 92 pounds of heroin, after probably the largest undercover purchase of heroin in history, and arrested three men and a woman.

U.S. Atty. Segal Wheatley estimated that if the heroin had been diluted and sold to addicts it would have brought $25 million.

Wheatley said the seizure was made at two hotels late Thursday night after federal agents purchased an undisclosed amount of the narcotic.

"My belief is that this is probably the largest buy of heroin by undercover agents in history —anywhere," Wheatley said.

Charged with conspiracy and with selling imported heroin were Yolanda Schmidt Yanez, 32, and her companion, Manuel Dominguez Suarez, 49, both of Mexico City; San Antonio nightclub owner Alfredo Montemayor, 33, and Salvador Mazatini, 36, both of San Antonio. They were arrested at the hotels and a tavern.

Police said Suarez cut his throat when apprehended but was not seriously wounded. He was hospitalized under guard.

Ethiopia's nomadic Danakil tribesmen build mobile homes using brushwood, goatskins and straw mats. When water and forage run short, a family simply bundles the collapsible shelter onto a camel and moves on.

Kindergarten Signups Set In Petaluma

Registration for kindergarten and first grade for schools in the Petaluma and Old Adobe school districts will be held Wednesday.

Registration for the Petaluma city elementary schools, Cherry Valley, Grant, McDowell, McKinley, McNear, Valley Vista and Penngrove, will be held at the schools from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m.

Registration for Old Adobe District schools, La Tercera, Old Adobe and Bernard Eldredge, will be held from 9 to 11 a.m.

Children must have been born on or before Dec. 2, 1965 to enter kindergarten and 1964 to enter first grade. Kindergarten students now enrolled need not register again for the 1970-71 year.

Parents should bring proof of birthdate and evidence of immunity against measles and polio. If registration cannot be made Wednesday, parents should call the school to make other arrangements. Children need not be present for registration.

Victim Only 22

Susan E. Luna, of 11 Tyler Street, Novato, who was injured in a traffic accident on Highway 101 Tuesday, is 22, not 56 as reported in Wednesday's Independent-Journal.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and from Parents Magazine. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"King of Grizzlies" — Exciting biography of cub growing to king of his domain. Adventure film is marvelously photographed in Canadian Rockies.

"Oliver" — Delightful musical version with splendid sets, rousing score and excellent performances though there are a few scary moments for children.

"Run Wild, Run Free" — A simple, moving, quietly told story about an ill child and the curative power of nature and love is so convincingly acted it becomes an emotional experience.

ADULTS AND TEENS:

"Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" — Deft comedy about two charming bandits whose exploits made headlines in early 1900's. Delightful scenery, witty script and memorable performances.

"Catus Flower" — Middle-aged playboy dentist drafts his nurse to masquerade as his estranged wife and rescue him from a complicated situation with his current mistress.

"Down Hill Racer" — A brilliant study of the development of a ski champion. Action sequences are complimented by story about the dynamics of sports competition.

"Five Million Years to Earth" — Fantastic science fiction tale about giant insects from Mars. Since Satan is in command, the destruction on earth is far reaching. Acting is convincing, special effects excellent.

"Molly Maguires" — Important segment in history reconstructed. Irish coal miners used violence to protest inhumane conditions. Harsh exciting well acted film contains some strong language.

"Sterile Cuckoo" — Set on a college campus, story of a kooky girl and a boy who is serious and square. Their love affair and first sex experience is told with simplicity and insight. Acting excellent.

"True Grit" — When a young girl's father has been killed she convinces a federal marshal to track down the murderer. Humor and suspense mingle effectively. Violence is an integral part of story.

BORDERLINE:
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Easy Rider" — Two hippie drug pushers ride their motorcycles to New Orleans. Film relates their experiences including a wild LSD trip and a senseless tragic ending.

"I Love You, Alice B. Toklas" — Lively contemporary comedy about a square turned hippie spoofed to a fare-thee-well.

"Scream and Scream Again" — Ghoulish film set in mod London, mixed with international intrigue. Scientists attempts creating superrace through brain and limb transplants.

"Thank You All Very Much" — A Ph. D. candidate becomes an unwed mother whose child has a heart defect. Acting is good but point of the story is elusive.

ADULTS ONLY:

"Best House in London" — Bawdy farce is showcase for profuse nudity and sexual deviation. Lavish production set in Victorian London tells about a brothel and its occupants.

"Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice" — An irreverent social satire, slick in its trimmings, has a sharp bite in its characters, dialogue and frank appraisal of modern marriage and morals.

"Loving" — Quiet desperation of surburban life of a commercial artist is artfully explored. Bitter contemporary drama with language and sex scenes that are extremely frank.

"MASH" — Title stands for Mobile Army Surgical Hospital. Antiwar film deals with three surgeons. Scenes are gruesome as they are funny. Bittersweet element of truth in action and dialogue.

"What Do You Say To a Naked Lady" —Allen Funt of Candid Camera has recorded reactions of unsuspecting passersby to a naked woman.

Six Accused Of U.S. Pot Counts

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Five men arrested Wednesday in Mill Valley after selling narcotics agents about 180 pounds of marijuana have been charged by a U.S. Commissioner for possession and sale of the weed.

Commissioner Robert S. Goldsmith said yesterday a sixth man, Michael McGuire of Southern California, turned himself in to the U.S. Marshall, and was also charged with the crimes.

According to Goldsmith, Eric F. Millican of Long Beach was freed on $5,000 bail, John A. Papia of Mill Valley and Thomas N. Hamer of San Francisco were freed on $3,000 bail, and Sheldon Levy of San Francisco, Raymond A. Laurent of Larkspur and Michael McGuire were all freed on their own recognizance.

Preliminary hearing was set for May 21 in U.S. District Court, San Francisco.

PIANIST—Joanne Gaizutis, a 15-year-old sophomore at San Domenico School for Girls, will be the soloist at a concert at 3 p.m. Sunday (May 10) at San Rafael High School by the San Domenico Orchestra da Camera conducted by Hugo Rinaldi.

THE PEACEFUL PEACE MARCH

Marinites Keep Cool

By LARRY MOWELL

Ignoring militants' disruptive tactics, hundreds of students from throughout Marin trooped into downtown San Rafael yesterday for a peaceful rally and march in protest of the widening war in Southeast Asia.

Afterward, police and leaders of a group which organized the demonstration, Marin Peace Coalition, exchanged compliments for cooperation shown by both sides.

The demonstration, which began outside the Selective Service office on D Street shortly after noon, was so peaceful that a group of about 15 radicals who staged a sit-down were shooed off by other youths before police could arrest them.

The coalition, comprising students and faculty at the College of Marin, also snuffed out a takeover of the demonstration by militants.

Police cordoned off D Street in front of the federal building so the rally could be held in the street. However, after about a dozen people had talked on peace and political trials, a militant student took the bullhorn and urged all present to march 20 abreast down Fourth Street to shut down San Rafael businesses.

Control swung back to the organizers, however, as almost 500 young people and a sprinkling of adults moved en masse towards Fourth.

There Thomas Place, a teacher and president of the academic senate, at College of Marin and several other coalition members got the demonstrators organized in groups of 20 a block apart to walk on the sidewalk to the courthouse four blocks away. This was recommended by police.

"The leaders cooperated to the fullest with the police department," Lt. James Carlton, head of the police detail on the scene, said.

The police, however, were prepared to arrest the cadre of militants if they had not moved, Carlton said.

The little group managed to disrupt traffic for a few minutes before it moved.

The bulk of the ralliers, high school students from Terra Linda and San Rafael high schools and many junior high students, refused to join those who baited police. They shouted down the little group of trouble-makers several times on the old courthouse steps.

The little group argued heatedly with several peacemakers after leaving the street, then went to the midst of the crowd and tried to arouse it with cries of "Let's go to Marin (College of Marin)" and "Let's take back our school", but each chant was greeted with a resounding "No" from the crowd.

Some of the young people in the crowd began the day picketing the Terra Linda overpass during commute hour, then marched to Terra Linda High School to join up with other students at about 10:30 a.m. for the long march to downtown San Rafael.

The string of Terra Linda High School students which stretched about two blocks and numbered from 100 to 200 reached the federal building just as the rally began shortly after noon.

Terra Linda High Principal Frank Stocking said 284 students were absent from classes — twice the normal rate.

Reports from San Rafael High indicated that about 100 students were absent in the afternoon only.

It seemed that all these absentees were at the federal building wildly applauding statements for peace, withdrawal from Cambodia and Vietnam, and justice in America — and just as wildly denouncing the advocates of violence.

The scene at the courthouse almost resembled a pep rally for peace as students waving placards gyrated and chanted, then dissolved into little groups on the lawn to enjoy the warm afternoon sun or drifted away.

Homemade signs which abounded among the students, read "Four Died to Say No", "Out of Cambodia Now" and one boy handing out leaflets to passing motorists balanced a sign which read "Support your men in Vietnam — Bring them home now."

One such circular read, "We come in PEACE today . . . This is a positive demonstration for peace, not a negative demonstration against our government or school system."

In spite of the small dissident group, the demonstrators stuck to their pledge. Only three extra policemen were called out and Lieutenant Carlton said James Standard, head of the coalition, came to him to ask for guidelines as soon as police arrived.

Carlton promised to shut off the area in front of the post office if the students would stay out of the federal building and not disrupt business in the downtown area by marching through it. He instructed them to move in separated groups of 20 when they left and his instructions were followed.

Stephen Robinson, another coalition monitor, said, "I think this is a pretty important thing if you've got this many people and they (the police) can handle it."

Robinson and other coalition members circulated petitions asking for a state law similar to recent Massachusetts legislation which denies the federal government the right to use men from that state in an undeclared war. Robinson said about 1,000 such petitions with 22 spaces each had been filled since yesterday.

He and other College of Marin students who spoke over the bullhorn told the crowd such petitions, not violence, would attract corrective attention to their grievances.

High school students who cut classes face normal disciplinary action when they return to school, according to Terra Linda principal Stocking, but other more earth-shaking issues were in their minds yesterday as they argued and cheered and discussed the questions of the day.

Quentin Escaper Nabbed In Chico Flight Attempt

CHICO (UPI)—A San Quentin Prison escaper was captured Thursday when he leaped out of a second-story window at a rooming house into the arms of waiting police.

Edwin L. Heidrich, 23, Berry Creek, was taken to the Butte County Jail in Oroville where he slashed his wrists and arms with a razor.

He was treated at a hospital and returned to his cell. Deputies said the slashing was apparently an attempt to make another escape.

Deputies said Heidrich later flooded his cell by plugging a toilet and set his shirt afire. He was not hurt by the flames.

He leaped out of the window when police, acting on an anonymous tip, showed up at the rooming house.

Heidrich fled from a San Quentin work furlough program in Oakland March 29. He was serving a term for burglary and escape in Butte County.

Probation Ordered In Narcotics Case

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court yesterday placed Wathka K. Ray of Novato on probation for two years and ordered her to submit to periodic testing to determine if she is using narcotics.

He also gave Mrs. Ray, who had earlier pleaded guilty to two charges of forging prescription blanks to obtain drugs in Novato last year, a suspended 30-day jail sentence.

Terra Linda Students In Peace Plea

About 150 peace marchers from Terra Linda High School strolled through the Civic Center yesterday strumming guitars, carrying signs and handing out mimeographed pleas for peace.

The group had received permission to go through the building from Assistant Administrator John F. Barrows when they appeared at his office about 3:30 p.m.

Several deputy sheriffs escorted the peace group through all four floors of both wings as they sang "All we ask is give peace a chance."

The walk culminated a busy day for the Terra Linda students who picketed a highway 101 overpass during commute hour, then walked to downtown San Rafael for a peace rally in front of the federal building and the old courthouse.

Today is Friday, May 8, the 128th day of 1970 with 237 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning star is Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1879 George Selden of Rochester, N.Y., filed for the first patent on an automobile. It was granted in 1895.

In 1964 President Truman became the first former Chief Executive to address a regular session of the Senate.

A thought for the day: President Truman, before the atomic bomb was dropped on Japan, said, "The force from which the sun draws its power has been loosed against those who brought war to the Far East."

Topless Dancer Faces Ouster

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The government plans to deport a topless dancer who once earned $750 a week and allegedly paid a U.S. citizen to marry her so she could stay in this country.

The Board of Immigration Appeals cleared the way Thursday for the deportation of Yvonne d'Angers, a topless dancer at Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas in 1966, to her native Iran or France.

There was testimony she married an American, paid him $100 when they married and another $100 when they were divorced nine months later. She never lived with him.

South's Real Problem: Not Medication, But Meditation

The Sheinwold Foundation for Medical Research has discovered that pernicious anemia of the checkbook does not come from the people next door. One of the principal causes is failure to check back on the bidding during the play of the cards. Today's case history is typical.

KING OPENER

West opened the king of diamonds and halted when East played the discouraging deuce. West shifted to the queen of hearts, and South took the ace.

Declarer drew trumps and led the queen of clubs for a finesse. East won with the king of clubs and returned the ten of diamonds, whereupon West defeated the contract with two diamond tricks.

"Why can't I win a finesse?" South moaned. "I brush my teeth and take all the right pills, but nothing seems to help."

TYPOGRAPHICAL ERROR

South was guilty of a typographical error. He looked for medication when the situation called for meditation.

At the second trick it was clear that West had started with the A-K of diamonds and Q-J of hearts. Since West had passed as dealer he couldn't also hold the king of clubs.

South could make the contract if he played East for the king of clubs. Declarer must begin by letting West win the second trick with the queen of hearts.

THEN SWITCHES

Even if West then switches to a club (the best defense), South can put up the ace, draw two rounds of trumps, cash the ace of hearts, and return to dummy with a trump to discard the queen of clubs on the king of hearts.

Now declarer leads dummy's jack of clubs, planning to discard if East plays low. South ruffs if East puts up the king of clubs. Declarer then returns to dummy with a trump to discard on the ten of clubs. South thus limits the loss to two diamonds and one heart.

DAILY QUESTION

Dealer, at your left, bids one spade; and your partner bids two hearts.

The next player passes, and it is up to you with:

♥ Q J 8 4
♦ A K J
♣ 8 7 5 4 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid four hearts.

Your partner should have as good as an opening bid for his overcall at the level of two, and you have 11 points in high cards plus three points for the singleton. Partner should have an excellent play for game.

Holding Firms Not Too Risky

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. In the past, "holding company" was a bad term. Today I notice many companies are so listed. Why do companies adopt this form? Is there danger in buying stock in a holding company?—A.R.

A. In the late 1920s and early 1930s the holding company concept was utlized to extend corporate control and create additional wealth for a few aggressive entrepreneurs. Starting with a small ownership base, they successfully manipulated one stock deal after another, ultimately forming an organization which resembled an inverted pyramid. This topy-heavy equity structure was highly vulnerable to the financial calamities accompanying the 1929 market crash and resulting depression.

The holding company evolved during the late 1800s when utility company executives could see that operating economies were possible under unified management.

Two modern examples, both highly respected corporations, are American Electric Power and General Public Utilities. Recently the concept has been widely publicized because banks, insurance companies, mutual funds and some savings and loans have reorganized under holding company charters to provide "packaged" financial services and to utilize certain tax and other advantages available to holding companies. No more danger is likely to appear from buying shares in a good holding company than in any other well-managed corporation showing a strong growth trend.

Q. Recently I tried to place a stock order for $280. Two brokers, with whom I have dealt before, would not accept the order. — M. J.

A. Some firms have had their own policies for refusing orders under a certain amount. Larger brokerage houses, which have traditionally catered to the small investor, will accept small orders. Another alternative would be forming an investment club.

"This constant fencing between production and sales has got to stop."

Fight Steals Limelight In Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market drifted downward in slow trading this afternoon as traders turned their attention to antiwar demonstrations and fistfights on Wall Street.

Trading had slowed to a crawl as office workers and investors left the stock exchange floor and stood by the windows, watching the demonstrations at Board and Wall Street.

Fighting erupted when helmeted construction workers from nearby building projects marched into the center of a student antiwar rally. At least one policeman was injured in attempting to clear the area.

At its lunch-hour peak, thousands of demonstrators and onlookers were reportedly milling around the area.

In the market, declines were leading advances by more than 2 to 1.

Many investors were sitting on the sidelines awaiting President Nixon's news conference tonight, analysts said.

A ROCKET BURNER

This Airco oixy-fuel rocket burner, displayed outside the firm's industrial gases laboratory at Murray Hill, N.J., was developed for use in melting furnaces to speed production of glass, aluminum and other metals and reduce air pollution problems. It mixes streams of oxygen and natural gas or fuel oil to produce a high velocity beam of flame at temperatures up to 3,300 degrees.

Beverly Sees Earnings Jump

PASADENA — (BW) — Beverly Enterprises (AMEX) has reported an 86 per cent increase in net earnings and a 65 per cent increase in revenues in 1969 over 1968.

Roy E. Christensen, chairman and president, announced net earnings for 1969 were $2,830,000, or 70 cents per share, compared with $1,525,000, or 43 cents per share in 1968 restated to include companies acquired on a pooling of interests basis.

Revenues were $66,518,000 in 1969 compared with restated revenues of $40,243,000 in 1968.

THE WEEK'S BUSINESS

Union Oil Introduces New Low-Lead Regular Gasoline

Union Oil Co. of California today introduced in more than 500 of its California service stations a new low-lead regular gasoline with 80 per cent of the lead removed.

Initial distribution has been concentrated in Los Angeles, Orange and Sacramento Counties but the low-lead fuel is scheduled to be available in practically all of the company's stations in the state within 90 days.

The gasoline is said to be similar in octane rating to leaded regular gasolines on the market and was to be priced to sell at one cent higher per gallon. The company decided not to take out all the lead as present car engines are not yet mechanically designed for lead-free gasolines.

Standard Oil Co. of California has announced it will wait until Sept. 1 to coincide with the introduction of 1971 model automobiles before placing an unleaded gasoline on the market and then sell it throughout its entire domestic operating areas. The gasoline will be in the 91-octane range and formulated for the new model cars.

KETCHUM, MacLEOD AND GROVE, INC. AND ITS WESTERN SUBSIDIARY Botsford-Ketchum have formed an international company, Ketchum International, Inc., which will embrace Botsford foreign facilities and include David Williams and Partners, Ltd. of London. At the same time Ketchum, MacLeod and Grove has purchased the London firm for cash. KM&G and Botsford advertising agencies have an annual billing volume of over $100 million and represents 31 of the 500 largest U.S. industrial corporations.

CALIFORNIA FINANCIAL CORP., San Francisco has reached an agreement to acquire 51 per cent of Far West Securities Corp. stock in Mountain View Savings and Loan Association. The transaction is subject to stockholders approval and that of regulatory agencies. Upon approval, Mountain View Savings will become a branch of Security Savings and Loan Association.

MORLAN PACIFIC CO., which recently sold its subsidiary, Commonwealth National Bank, to Union Bank of Los Angeles, has reported consolidated net earnings of $1,459,325 or 94 cents per share for the year 1969; compared with $1,335,928, or 92 cents per share in 1968. Excluding Commonwealth, 1969 earnings were $1,541,588 compared to $1,273,548 in 1968.

PAN AMERICAN WORLD AIRWAYS, INC. and its consolidated subsidiaries lost $20 million after taxes for the first three months of 1970. This compared with a $10.8 million loss for the first three months of 1969. Primary loss amounted to 58 cents per share compared with a loss of 32 cents per share last year.

SEARS, ROEBUCK AND CO. reported sales for the four weeks ended May 2 were 4.4 per cent higher than last year. Gross sales totaled a record $754.2 million compared to $722.3 in the comparable period of 1969. Sales for the 13 weeks ended May 2 totaled a record $2.214 million, up from $2.138 million a year ago.

MANALYTICS, INC., San Francisco, a new management research firm, has been formed to conduct stdies in transportation, distribution and related fields. Officers, professional and supporting staff include 21 people who held comparable positions in Matson Research Corp., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Alexander and Baldwin, Inc., which was phased into an internal research department in January.

DILLINGHAM CORP., Honolulu, has appointed Edmond F. Brovelli Sr. chairman of the board of Basalt Rock Co., Inc. an affiliated Dillingham company. He has been president for the past eight years. Jack Streblow, who was vice president and general manager, is new president. He is the son of the founder of Basalt Rock.

Laser Boom On; $1 Billion Business Forecast In 1970s

By DEAN C. MILLER

NEW YORK (UPI) — The laser, once characterized as a solution in search of a problem, today is a $250 million annual business expected to hit $1 billion in the early 1970s.

Practical applications in Data Processing, communications, illumination, materials processing imagining and information display, measurement and alignment and security and scientific research has taken it out of the "Buck Rogers" miracle weapon category.

It still has important military uses. In Vietnam, for instance, it no longer is necessary for a whole squadron of fighter bombers to "inundate" an area to knock out a single bridge. With a forward air controller or ground observer holding a laser beam on a coordinate, one fighter bomber can "home in" on a fly speck target — bridge or otherwise — and knock it out with little trouble.

But non-military uses of lasers and their components are even more dramatic. Five thousand men and women walking around today have had their eyes treated by lasers to remove tiny tumors or to weld detached retinas.

Both the 8,202-foot Azotea Tunnel built under a mountain at Chama, N.M. and the 23-foot diameter, 3,609-foot-long tunnel bored under Lake Ontario for the Rochester Gas and Electric Co. were kept in precise alignment through laser beams.

Voice communications over a laser beam has been achieved routinely across distances up to eight miles for the Army by RCA with a mobile optical communications system.

IBM has built an experimental computer memory that uses lasers and photographic film in combination with Holography to store digital information with a packing density of up to 2 million bits of data per square inch. Yep, that's right, per square inch.

The General Telephone and Electronics laboratories recently developed a laser television receiver that takes standard television signals from the air and projects them onto a screen as full color pictures 48 inches wide by 31 inches high.

RCA has developed an intrusion alarm system that uses mirrors and an invisible, infrared laser beam to form an electromagnetic "fence" that could be used to protect anything from bank vaults to missile sites. No one can get through it undetected.

A laser system developed jointly by the Aluminum Co. of America and Laser Systems Corp. is being used by one manufacturer to drill the tapered feed and vent holes in rubber nipples for baby bottles.

At the moment, three types of lasers account for all these miracles. They are the optical crystal, the gas and the injection laser, all of which had been achieved by the fall of 1962, scarcely two years after Theodore Maiman built the first laser at the Hughes Aircraft Research Laboratories.

In those eight years, the laser has a laboratory to marketplace transition that is remarkable, judge either from stockbroker or scientist values. The laser no longer is a plaything; it is a force that must be reckoned with in the business world.

Factory Paycheck Ahead Of Costs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—California factory workers are earning more money but it buys no more than a year ago, the State Human Relations Agency reported Wednesday.

The average factory worker in the state earned $6.12 a week more in March, 1970, than he did in March, 1969. But in buying power he was only about 35 cents ahead, according to statistics released by the Department of Industrial Relations.

The average worker's pay was $148.83 a week in March, including overtime. The pay ranged from $90.51 in apparel manufacturing to $189.93 in oil refining.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Drug Abusers' Steeds Fall Into Five Main Categories

Drugs most likely to be abused fall into five categories — narcotics, stimulants, sedatives, certain transquilizers, and hallucinogens. All are medically useful, except for the hallucinogens (LSD, marijuana, etc.) which are used mainly in medical research.

On the other hand, they are easily abused because of their effect upon the nervous system.

They may alter mood by producing changes in emotional responses and reactions. The abuser "needs" the drug because it makes him feel "high," happy, or relaxed. But more often he takes it to escape from reality or avoid a responsibility which is particularly painful.

HEREIN LIES the appeal of these dangerous drugs to the emotionally unstable and insecure individuals. This is known as psychic or psychological dependent and is present in most victims of drug abuse. Unfortunately, they want to reexperience the feeling over and over again. While under the influence of drugs, their problems are set aside.

With repeated use, many, but not all, of these products induce a physical dependence. The body develops a tolerance to the drug and adjusts to it. This means that the user must take more of it in order to obtain the same effect he obtained from the first, and usually smaller, dose.

If he takes larger doses for some time and then is deprived of the drug, uncomfortable and often serious withdrawal symptoms ensue.

PHYSICAL DEPENDENCE is marked in narcotic addicts. They build up great tolerance within a short period of time. In addition, withdrawal symptoms are so agonizing and severe that the users are afraid to stop.

Barbiturate withdrawal is said to be more dangerous because it is associated with convulsions and delirium.

Stimulants, such as the amphetamines, produce psychological, but not physical, dependence. Mental depression and fatigue may follow withdrawal. The same can be said of marijuana except that the user is likely to develop a moderate to strong psychic dependence.

NOTHING TASTES GOOD

D.G. writes: For two years nothing I eat has tasted good. What could cause this condition?

REPLY

This is a difficult question to answer because there are several possibilities. If this represents a form of indigestion, it may stem from a stomach or gallbladder disorder. Another possibility is a lack of digestants in the gastrointestinal tract. The problem also has neurologic and psychiatric implications.

HAMMER TOE

Mrs. E. E. writes: Please tell me how I can avoid hammer toe?

REPLY

Hammer toe is a congenital or an hereditary defect. It can also be caused by improperly fitting shoes and injury. If you were not born with the defect, wear proper footwear and try to avoid injury.

NO CURE, YET

A reader writes: Has a cure for leukemia been found? If we do not have a cure for this condition, how is the person kept alive?

REPLY

There is no cure, but with treatment, life can be prolonged for months, and in some cases, years.

ROOM FRESHENERS

Mrs. G. writes: Are room deodorants and air fresheners doing us any harm?

REPLY

Not to my knowledge.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Shared Damage Can Be Given

The city approved a new shopping center near a residential area. It put in culverts and the shopping center built low bridges over the culverts. The result: The bridges blocked drainage and the first rains flooded nearby homes.

The homeowners sued the city and the shopping center. The court which found them to blame ordered them to share the damages. Neither one alone would have to pay for all the damage.

The city's action alone might not have caused the flood, nor alone would the shopping center's low bridges have caused it. But their combined acts did cause the water to back up. Both the city and the shopping center, therefore, had to pay the homeowners their shares of the damages.

Likewise a chemical firm dumped waste into a stream. Downstream, an oil refinery's wastes seeped into it. Together they polluted the stream and ruined downstream farmland. Again the court apportioned the damages. Neither industry had to pay the whole damage, but each had to pay a separate part.

As a rule, the law favors the best use of land.

Courts do not hold landowners who improve their land liable for causing a "nuisance" unless they act unreasonably. Owners may also be liable for certain acts which change drainage or affect lateral support. In making a decision the court weighs the usefulness of the landowner's acts and the foreseeability of the harm against the extent of the harm.

When two people do wrong, the right to make the other pay his share of the damages is new. At common law, if two defendants injured a person, he could collect from either one. Neither of the losers could make the other share in the damages.

But since 1957 California has added a "contribution statute." One co-defendant could make the other pay his share of the damages. Where two speeding cars strike a pedestrial, he can make both drivers responsible and collect all the damages from either one. But the one pickup cast gm 4-15-70 who paid could sue his co-defendant to make him pay his share.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Anti-Smokers' Group Is Due

Chapters of Smoke Watchers International, a New York based organization working to teach the country's cigarette smokers how to give up the habit, are coming to Marin.

Licenses to operate the chapters have been given to Najean Witt of 412 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley and Janice Arnheiter of 324 A Yerba Buena Island, San Francisco.

Iniormation about introductory lectures planned to explain the organization may be obtained from Mrs. Witt.

Youth Present Resolution On Cambodian Drive

The Mill Valley Youth Commission has asked the city council to adopt a resolution "deploring . . .the invasion of Cambodia."

By a 6-to-2 vote, commissioners voted Wednesday night to ask the council to take the action "in light of the Vietnam proposition of 1968," in which Mill Valley voters urged President Lyndon B. Johnson to withdraw American troops from Vietnam.

The youth commission's resolution read:

"Be it resolved that the Mill Valley City Council, in light of the Vietnam proposition of 1968, deplore the resumption of bombing in Nor h Vietnam, the invasion of Cambodia and further ground escalation in South Vietnam.

"Be it further resolved that the Mill Valley City Council call for cessation of offensive operations in South Vietnam and call for all United States troops to withdraw from Southeast Asia."

ANTI-CAMBODIAN PROTESTERS MARCH WHILE THE ELDERLY PLAY DOMINOES

The college scene yesterday was a mixed bag — some violence mixed with peaceful demonstrations across the nation. In New Orleans (top photos) two uniformed Coast Guardsmen wave to marchers (left) while a demonstrator is contained by a club wielding policeman. At lower left, two elderly gentlemen continue their domino game in Denver as students in the background assemble for an anti-war, Kent State University showdown at the civic center. The scene (center below) was similar, however, in Minneapolis to that in New Orleans as a policeman attempts to subdue a University of Minnesota student. Soviet Ships In Caribbean Area

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — The U.S. Navy announced today that three Soviet naval ships have entered the Carribbean Sea and are under surveillance by U.S. planes.

A statement from the 10th Naval District in San Juan said two submarines and a submarine tender entered the Mona Passage of western Puerto Rico at about 2 a.m. today.

It said three other Soviet ships were about 250 miles behind the first three. This second group, the statement said, consisted of a Kresta class guided missile cruiser, a Kanin class guided missile destroyer, and an oiler.

The Navy said the two submarines in the first group were conventionally powered vessels.

The Navy statement said: "The intentions of the group are unknown."

It said a similar Soviet naval task group conducted operations in the area last summer and there recently have been flights of Soviet TU95 long-range reconnaissance Bear aircraft to Cuba.

The Navy said the cruiser and destroyer, expected in the Caribbean later, had been participating in the recent worldwide Soviet neval exercises called Okean.

It said the ships have been under surveillance by aerial reconnaissance aircraft operating from Bermuda, Roosevelt Roads in Puerto Rico and by U.S. ships operating in the area.

The Soviet Union last month announced large-scale naval maneuvers in the Atlantic and Pacific and adjoining seas, including the Mediterranean, later described as the biggest naval exercises in Soviet history.

Code named "Okean," for ocean, the maneuvers were meant to show that the Soviet Union "is not only a great power in land warfare but naval as well," Soviet newspapers said.

Adm. Sergei Gorshkov, commander in chief of the Soviet navy, said in an interview in the government newspaper Izvestia the maneuvers area would include the Barents Sea, the Sea of Norway, the North Sea, the Sea of Okhotsk, the Sea of Japan, the Philippine Sea and the Mediterranean, Black and Baltic seas.

Student Trip Funds Awarded

The Marin City Home Owners and Improvement Association has given Vonda Riley, a 16-year-old Sir Francis Drake High School junior, $504 for her trip to Norway this summer under the Experiment in International Living program.

The contribution represented the proceeds from a tea held last month to honor and support the Marin City student.

Miss Riley, daughter of the late William Riley and and Mrs. Imogene Riley of 50 Buckelew Street, was chosen by the school's chapter of the Experiment in International Living to make the trip. The program is designed to establish better relations with people of other countries, and she will live with a family in Norway.

Hebrew High School Will Graduate Nine

Rodef Sholom Hebrew High School will graduate nine students tonight at 8 o'clock during ceremonies at the temple in San Rafael.

According to Alan A. Lor, director of education, the graduates are: Hunter Austin, Michael Boorstein, Richard Coldert, Branden Hill, Larry Levy, Shelley Lor, David Millstein, Ron Schlager, and Lisa Sher.

Jobless Rate Jumps; Highest Since 1964

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The nation's unemployment rate soared from 4.4 per cent in March to 4.8 per cent in April, with jobless roll rising to the highest total in more than six years, the government reported today.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said the 0.4 per cent rise in the jobless rate, the second such one-month jump since December, meant that 3.9 million persons in the labor force were unable to find work. That was a 300,000 increase —on a seasonally adjusted basis —from March.

The 4.8 per cent level was the highest since April, 1965, while the 3.9 million listed as looking for jobs was the highest figure since March, 1964.

The 0.4 per cent rise in the unemployment rate matched the increase from December to January. Since December, the rate has jumped from 3.5 per cent.

A Labor Department spokesman said April's increased jobless rate was due to cutbacks in defense spending, strikes, and weaknesses in the soft and durable goods industries.

After adjustments for seasonal factors such as weather, nonfarm employment showed a drop of 90,000 last month as a result of wildcat strikes by truckers in various parts of the country, as well as other work stoppages.

After adjustments, the increase in unemployment in April was estimated at 300,000 although the Labor Department said that the actual number of persons who lost jobs last month was less than April, 1969.

A Labor Department spokesman said new employment over the last few months had slowed to a virtual standstill.

He said the December-to-April increase in unemployment, from 3.5 per cent to 4.8 per cent, was the highest four month increase since the rate jumped from 5.8 per cent to 7.4 per cent between January and April, 1958.

At Hot Springs, Va., where the high-level organization of business executives —the Business Council —was meeting, some members expressed some concern that the 4.8 per cent level had been reached so quickly.

Mekong River Fleet Sails; Reds Blast Viet Targets

SAIGON (UPI) —A flotilla of 100 U.S. Navy and South Vietnamese river boats snaked slowly upstream today on the Mekong River toward the border town of Chau Doc, leaving in its wake a storm of controversy over the lack of secrecy about its mission.

Informed sources said it would not cross into Cambodia before Saturday morning.

Its every move has been broadcast to the Viet Cong in advance, and heavy opposition was forecast on the 45 miles between Chau Doc and Phnom Penh.

The controversy over security delayed its departure, but reports today said it was nearing Chau Doc with South Vietnamese soldiers along to protect it from ambushes. U.S. and South Vietnamese planes would be expected to provide air cover.

The heaviest opposition was expected at the Cambodian river crossing town of Neak Luong, 30 miles below Phnom Penh and 15 miles above the South Vietnamese border. Strong Communist forces controlled the ferry crossing there, and Cambodian troops were reported moving slowly into the area from Phnom Penh to try to dislodge them.

The Allied operations in Cambodia brought savage reaction from North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers who killed 57 Vietnamese civilians and wounded 82 in shelling and terror attacks reported today.

Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam's premature disclosure of the planned operation Thursday became a target of criticism for military men who contended he endangered the lives of Allied troops by telling newsmen of the plans.

Allied sources said the flotilla would include patrol boats, high-speed "swift" boats, transport ships, minesweepers and a hospital ship.

This unprecedented development, following negotiations in Phnom Penh between officials of both governments on the plight of the estimated 600,000 Vietnamese in Cambodia, came as:

—U.S. troops in the Fishhook region of Cambodia 70 miles north of Saigon reported turning up what the White House called "a major sophisticated base complex" covering at least three square miles and containing 500 huts and warehouses with radio antennae in the area where the Communists' war headquarters was believed situated. (Associated Press quoted U.S. military sources as saying this was not the enemy's main headquarters, however.)

—Military spokesmen announced eight Americans killed Thursday in a Fishhook battle, the costliest fight yet in the Allies' eight-day-old Cambodian campaign. North Vietnamese losses were put at 24 dead.

— President Nguyen Van Thieu said he has set no deadline for the withdrawal of government troops from Cambodia despite President Nixon's promise U.S. soldiers will be out by July 1. Thieu said once his men are out of Cambodia, they will go back in if the need arises.

—Communist troops, striking back in response to the presence of Allied forces in Cambodia, shelled Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, killing seven civilians and wounding 12, and detonated a mine 14 miles south of Da Nang, killing 26 civilians and wounding five.

TV REVIEW

Bad News Finally Arrives

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The expected big, bad news finally came for the television networks Thursday. The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has voted to strip them each of a half-hour of prime time programming every night.

The idea behind the decision is to promote diversity and local programming. The effective date is Sept. 1, 1971.

In brief, the many stations affected will be able to use programs supplied by the networks in only three of the four hours between 7 and 11 p.m. EDT.

Actually, entertainment prime time usually is from 7:30 to 11 p.m. EDT - with news programs often a 7 p.m. entry. But one of the immediate effects, according to network people, is that the cutback has dashed hopes for expanding the nightly network newscasts from 30 minutes to an hour.

The FCC decision is a modified version of an older plan that few observers felt ever would be realized. The original idea was for the networks to be restricted to only 50 per cent of prime time, with local and other programming filling the other half.

It generally was agreed this was unlikely because, in the basic economic system underlying American broadcasting, stations need large amounts of highly-polished network shows in order to attract the big money that keeps the whole structure going. It doesn't necessarily have to be the best programming. But it has to look sharp, professional and consumer-aimed or it won't get the big sponsors. That's the system, plain and simple, and the surprise is how many good shows turn up within it.

The FCC decision apparently presupposes there will be a cultural blossoming and creative upswing by local stations using their extra 30 minutes. FCC Chairman Dean Burch, who voted against the decision, dissents. And I agree with him. He says there will be:

"More of the same — more games, more light entertainment along proven formulas, more 'emcee' talk shows." Local stations are not altruists. They are in business to make the most money. Yet they do not have the funds and manpower to try out new, contemporary directions in a big way, as the networks do. Networks may not be ideal, but, in its current setup, American television cannot succeed unless they do.

Critics of networks say they helped bring on the FCC decision by their failings. And, of course, local and regional programming are to be encouraged. But it hardly seems likely that an extra 30 minutes a night is going to turn station philosophy around.

The new video channels in coming years, and the cassettes, will bring about the effect the FCC desires for the public. Burch said Thursday's decision is "a futile effort to administratively tamper with the economics of programming as it exists rather than attempting to create a situation where the economics could make sense." He is a wise, clear-eyed man.

On the business side, the networks will lose about 10 hours of programming a week — and the income from it. That's a lot. There will be fewer openings for new network shows, and therefore fewer chances to develop new ones. Hollywood, of course, will be hit hard, and it is already reeling.

Under the new decision, special network news shows, such as space shots and political broadcasts by candidates, are excluded from the three-hour limitation. And local stations affected by the ruling cannot fill the prime time period with either old network series programs or previously broadcast movies.

Radiation Joins Other Three Rs

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP) — The three "R's" are getting a teammate.

Ralph W. Herold, a science teacher, said radiation has become a fourth "R" in the nation's schools in an effort to stimulate a desire among students to become nuclear scientists.

A wide range of experiments in physics and chemistry now include experiments with radiation and its phenomena.

Students Prove Way For Safety And Fun

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP) — Recently, police and students in this community worked out a dance in exchange for lesser traffic tickets. The police promised high school students that if fewer traffic tickets were issued during the week from Jan. 30 to Feb. 6, the officers would sponsor a dance.

The number of tickets dropped significantly, and police handed out more than 900 free dance passes at the high school.

Replacement Is Announced

Harold Blue has been elected vice president of the North Marin Federation replacing Guthrie Greene who took over as president when Arnold Baptiste resigned to run for supervisor from the Fifth District, secretary Evelyn Johnson has announced.

Greene named James Mumma to cover the Novato Civic Foundation meetings; Mrs. Johnson and Dorothy Young, the Novato Chamber of Commerce; Blue, the planning commission, and Greene, the city council.

The federation has tentatively set 8 p.m., May 27, at San Marin High School for a presentation on the $2.9 million park bond issue and to hear the candidates for the supervisoral race, J. Wayne Womack and Baptiste.

Ecologists Cheering For The Grasshopper

An eye-catcher in the nautical parade that launched the 1970 San Francisco Bay yachting season Sunday was a nine-foot boat dressed up as a huge grasshopper being chased by a 16-foot craft containing a giant can marked DDT.

I don't know who the farmers were for, but I heard some ecologists cheering for the grasshopper over the dichloro-diphenyl-tricholoroethane.

GEORGE STEWART, former distance running all-star at College of Marin, performed well at Oklahoma State this season with a 4:08.4 best clocking in the mile and a second in a field of 28 in the Kansas Relays.

Other ex-COMers stepping up in competition at four-year schools are Steve Carroll now steeplechasing at Cal Berkeley and Mark Byers running the distances at Humboldt State.

WORD OUT of Los Angeles is that Filmways, Inc. will close down Sears Point International Raceway if it doesn't sell the Sonoma County motorsports plant soon. The better to take the tax write off than to continue losing huge sums of cash, like the 300 grand it dropped in the past year.

And Lots With Nice Views

With 763 acres of property in the raceway package, someone noted that it would make a beautiful housing development.

"Yes," smiled 30-year-old SPIR president Craig Murray of San Rafael," and if you find a developer, tell him we already have in the streets and sewers. Also there are some nice view lots up there around turns 2, 3 and 4."

And on a clear day you can see Andy Granatelli.

It would make a lovely setting for a subdivison but I'm afraid the neighbors might have trouble with hotrodders on weekends.

The survivors of the SPIR budget cut are bravely planning to go ahead with the 1970 schedule in the face of economic disaster, hoping to lure cash customers to upcoming events.

Next on the agenda is the California Drag Racing Championship May 17.

In addition to the regular races featuring Dan Ongais in Mickey Thompson's Mach I and John Mazmanian in his new 1970 Cuda, the meet will be open to all comers.

Not Ignoring 'Little Guy'

"Anyone with the price of general admission ($4 adults, $2.50 students) and four wheels can race til their hearts' content," said SPIR vice-president Steve Castoldi. "We're making our all-comers meet in five brackets. The fifth bracket will be for cars in the 15 seconds and up category. Also, we're putting up cash prizes instead of trophies."

Criticized in the past for ignoring the "little guy" drag racers, Castoldi said: "Now we're opening up a big championship meet for the little guys; let's see how the little guys respond and help us."

I WAS WONDERING whatever became of former San Rafael High All-American prep gridder Kent Francisco (1958 vintage) when Pete Limm of College of Marin's athletic staff dropped by to say that Kent is teaching at a high school in Santa Monica.

Kent and another prep All-American, Ron Snidow, played side-by-side at SRHS and both went on to play pro ball. Snidow still is with the Cleveland Browns.

1,000 Spills Equals 1 World Champ

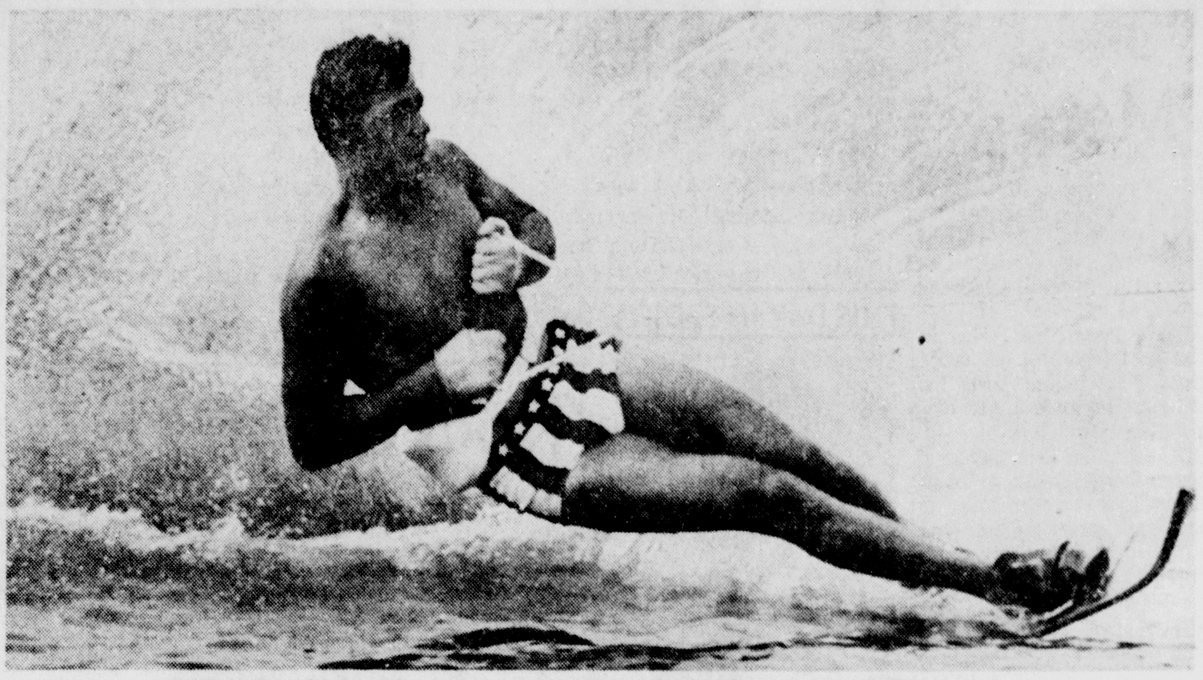

By RALPH CHATOIAN

He's skimming over the water at about 60 miles per hour on a pair of skis. He tears into the jumping ramp and then shoots off the end, flying through the air before coming down with a hard spash, somehow remaining upright.

Looking at him from the safe, soft chair on the towing boat, you quickly realize competitive water skiing is not for the faint of heart.

Mike Suyderhoud skims over the water during a slalom run.

As the boat pulled Mike toward the middle of the lagoon at Bahia subdivision in Novato, his father leaned over and said, "Mike's success has not been easy. It represents a thousand hours practice and a thousand falls."

But Mike is the kind of guy who gets back up after a fall, no matter how hard. He wears his world champion crown in true champion style.

Before I could say a word, Mike was already going through a trick routine with amazing rapidity. Turning, then twisting, then his foot through the tow bar, going backwards, then a twisting jump, kicking off a ski going through another set of tricks.

"He's got 20 seconds to go through his 16 tricks on the first pass," said his father. "Then we come back and he goes through another 20-second pass."

Mike is working hard to perfect a 540 degree turn on one ski. If you forget your math, that's a turn and one-half. Try doing it on the ground, now think of doing it on water.

The world record in trick skiing is 5,300 points and Mike has scored a high of 4,930. If he could successfully complete his full bag of tricks during international competition, he could score as high as 5,700 points.

After a short pause, Mike smiled and said, "Let's do some slalom." And man, that kid is something else when he turns those buoys.

In slalom competition, the boat maintains a speed of 36 miles per hour — exactly — and the skiier goes around a set of six buoys. The tow rope is 75 feet long — at the start. The trick is to keep shortening the rope until it gets as short as 39 feet, and the angle the skier has to maintain with a short rope is made much more difficult.

With 33 feet off the rope, Mike stormed through all gates, criss-crossing through the wake of the boat. His body was extended, almost parallel with the water, one gloved hand on the rope, the other in the air. Then ripping over the water to the other side, the other hand on the rope. It was a combination of beauty, grace, and strength, all joined to make one.

Next came the jumping, in which Mike holds the world record of 162 feet. He made three beautiful jumps, one of them estimated by his father at about 155 feet.

With the boat and Mike combining for a "crack the whip" action, Suyderhoud almost doubles the speed of the boat, which is going at a steady 36 m.p.h. At a speed of about 60 miles per hour he hits the ramp and then off, by now soaring almost parallel with the boat. Then the powerful landing.

Mike says it's the speed he develops before hitting the ramp that gives him his record distance jumping ability. What does it feel like coming off the ramp? "Like being shot out of a cannon," he laughed.

Mike, born in Java, has been nicknamed the "Flying Dutchman," a very apt name. He's a sophomore at Sonoma State College where he is majoring in chemistry. His roommate, Ron Goodrich, a graduate student, is also a competitive water skier.

Mike says he practices his skiing at least four times a week, even during the winter months, about an hour of actual skiing each session.

In addition to the endorsement in which Mike has for water ski equipment, he is appearing on national television, doing a commercial for Wheaties. He's shown taking spill after spill because he didn't eat his Wheaties.

"That was really rough shooting for that commercial" he said. "They had me falling like that from 8 o'clock to 5 o'clock, with just a break for lunch."

If there was ever a proud pop, it's Jaap, who does most of the boat driving during Mike's practice sessions.

"It's been a lot of hard work," Jaap said. "It was up at 6 in the morning to practice before school. Talent alone won't get you to the top. It takes hard work."

Now that he's the best in the world, winning the bi-annual world titles in 1967 and 1969, what is Mike aiming for?

"I want to win first place in all three events in the world championships," he said. "I think I have a good change to do it."

That's quite a goal, but if anyone can do it, I'll put my money on the Flying Dutchman.

Last Gasp For Blues In Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Even one of Glenn Hall's super goaltending jobs couldn't stop the Boston Bruins Thursday night, and now the St. Louis Blues are down to the last gasp in their mismatched Stanley Cup final playoff series.

The 38-year-old Hall was immense in the nets, but his teammates were no match once again for their bigger, stronger, faster foes. The Bruins just kept pouring in and bombing away for a 4-1 victory and a 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven National Hockey League championship series.

PRAISE

"He's a fantastic goalie," said Phil Esposito, who was thwarted eight times in his bid for a record-breaking 13th playoff goal. "My arms were sore from shooting. The score could easily have been 10-1."

That just about sums up the one-sided contest, in which the Bruins outshot the Blues 46-21, and it doesn't give St. Louis much to look forward to in the fourth and presumably final game here at Boston Garden Sunday.

SLUGGISH

The Bruins, easy winners of the first two games at St. Louis came out appearing a bit sluggish and fell behind 1-0 on a fluke goal early in the opening period. It was the first time they had trailed the Blues at any stage in the series.

St. Louis, playing better than it had at home and benefitting from Hall's remarkable goaltending, hung onto the lead until John Bucyk scored on a power play to tie it up at 13:23. Johnny McKenzie scored again exactly five minutes later to put Boston ahead to stay, although it was't until the final session that Wayne Cashman scored twice to boost the final margin.

Bill Lee Might Get Chance Against A's

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND—Jim Lonborg will be starting on the mound for the Boston Red Sox tonight against the Oakland Athletics in the Coliseum, but former Terra Linda High and USC ace Bill Lee will be waiting in the wings.

Lonborg has been out of action for the past two weeks with a muscle spasm in his back and his condition is a question mark.

Lee, who arrived in Oakland late last night with the team, told the Independent-Journal he would possibly be used in long inning relief tonight if Lonborg's injury acts up.

"There is also the possibility that I might start one of the two weekend games," he said. His one victory this year was at the expense of the A's.

OAKLAND (AP) — "Two pitches turned the game around," Oakland Athletics Manager John McNamara lamented after his team lost 7-3 to the New York Yankees Thursday night.

One of the pitches was thrown in the first inning by Rollie Fingers; the other in the eighth by Paul Lindblad.

Both went to slender Roy White, who hit each one over a fence to drive in six runs.

"With two swings of the bat we were out of it," McNamara said.

White, who weighs only 170 pounds, looks more like a batboy than a home run hitter. He never had hit two homers in a major league game before and the feat of hitting one from each side of the plate would be unusual for any team other than the Yankees.

Former Yankee Mickey Mantle holds the major league record with 10 two-homer games, one from each side of the plate.

White doesn't consider himself a homerun hitter. He has only three this season and 36 in his major league career, begun in 1965.

"I hit depending on the situation," he said.

"If we need runs, I'll swing for a homer. This was the first one I hit right-handed since 1968 and that was against Oakland too."

Manager Ralph Houk of the Yankees said White is the perfect player to have on a team.

"He can fit in anywhere in the batting order. He has power but also the ability to get runners home from third base. There are lots of power hitters who can't do that."

The A's outhit the Yankees 10-9 but had only one homer, a solo shot by Sal Bando.

Oakland had a chance to get back into contention when it loaded the bases on three singles in the eighth inning. But relief pitcher Lindy McDaniel came into the game to retire pinch-hitter Don Mincher to retire the side.

"I knew he was a low-ball hitter but I wasn't going to give him a pitch he could hit for a homer," McDaniel said.

McDaniel saved the victory for Fritz Peterson who now has a 3-2 record. Fingers, 1-1, was the loser.

Giants Vs. The Mets In N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP) — Finding the last-place Montreal Expos no soft touch, the San Francisco Giants traveled to New York today for a three-game series with the tough Mets.

The Giants had hoped to build up a few wins in Canada in their road trip but instead split the series 1-1. The Expos even set a team record in runs Thursday night in clobbering the visitors 15-8.

QUICK RALLY

Willie Mays smashed his 604th career homer in the first inning to put the Giants in front 1-0. Montreal rallied quickly when Jim Fairley hit his first home run of the season in the bottom of the first inning with two men on.

Dick Dietz' two-run single put the Giants ahead 6-5 in the top of the fifth, but the Expos erupted for six runs in the bottom of the fifth. A two-run single by Jack Hiatt highlighted the big inning.

Ex-Champ Joe Louis Switches Hospitals

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Joe Louis, former world heavyweight boxing champion, has been transferred from Colorado Psychiatric Hospital to the Veterans Administration Hospital here at his own request, his attorney, Irving Andres, said Thursday.

Andrews said Louis, 56, was in "excellent spirits" and added the former champion indicated a willingness to receive further treatment from private doctors associated with the VA hospital.

Louis was admitted to the University of Colorado Medical Center facility May 1 on a "hold for treatment" order issued by Denver Probate Court Judge David Brofman.

'Old Man' Showed Up Kids In Masters Bowling Tourney

Therriault, who once quit bowling for 12 years, capped perhaps his best year of bowling by averaging 212 through the 18 match play games of the tourney, held last weekend at Greenbrae Lanes.

Therriault, a Kentfield resident, says he's normally a 180 or 185 bowler, but this year finished the 910 Travel League with a 192 average, which helped his team — Larry Mar's Bowling Supply of San Francisco — win the league championship.

Two other members of that team, Dan Burke and Chuck Fischer, made it to the Masters finals.

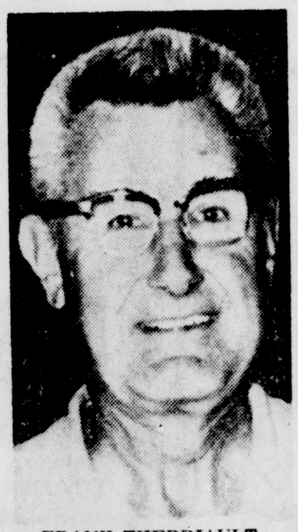

"We started out the league with a 910 average and ended it with a 930," said Therriault, a taxi owner-driver in San Francisco. "I've won the most improved bowler award two years in a row now and they're calling me 'sandbagger'."

What really happened is that he averaged 168 two years ago and had to undergo a wrist operation during the season. The following year he averaged 180, and this year picked up 12 more pins to 192.

Therriault, a native of Missoula, Montana, moved to the Bay Area in 1935. He began actual league bowling in 1945 in San Francisco travel leagues.

"Those were the good leagues," he said. "They stopped having those leagues in 1948 and I got so mad I just quit bowling."

It was 12 years later before he started bowling in handicap leagues at Country Club Bowl San Rafael.

FRANK THERRIAULT
Master bowler

He and his wife, Frances (Frank's real name is Francis, and he says he had a heck of a time convincing the clerk when he obtained his marriage license), bowled in quite a few mixed leagues and one time ran off a string of seven league championships.

The Therriaults, who have two daughters and five grandchildren, also do a lot of golfing together.

"We love golf, bowling, just about all sports," Therriault said. "I love competition, but had no idea I would win the Masters." It was the first time he had ever entered.

Frank's highest game and series in American Bowling Congress-sanctioned play is a 275 and 701 bowled three years ago in the California State tournament held in Modesto. He was also on the winning team of the Marin Bowling Association's City Tournament in 1964.

Unlike many of the bowlers competing in the Masters, Therriault bowls only in one league a week, the 910 Traveling.

In the Masters finals, it was Therriault, with experience on his side, against 23-year-old Gene Helbing of Novato, fresh out of the Army. Score was 687-521. In two earlier meetings between the paid things were much closer, Therriault winning once, 663-640 and Helbeing the second time, 721-630.

"That Helbing is really a good bowler," said Therriault. "In that last series I found the line and he didn't. I was able to adjust to the lanes and that was the difference."

Any summer bowling for the new Masters champ?

"Naw," he said, "In the good weather I like to get outside. I'll be playing a lot of golf instead."

But you can bet he'll be back to the lanes next winter bowling season.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Parker Slugs L.A. Past Mets

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Mets are stumbling through one of those cycles. Wes Parker went through one of his own Thursday night and showed the world champions how to do it.

After smacking a double, homer and single earlier, the slick-fielding Los Angeles first baseman slammed a tie-breaking two-run triple in the 10th inning as the Dodgers erupted for three runs and whipped the Mets 7-4.

The setback left the Mets with a 13-13 record—6-13 in games which Tom Seaver hasn't started—and once again the defense and the bullpen were at fault.

Elsewhere in the National League, red-hot Cincinnati downed the Chicago Cubs 5-2, Montreal trounced San Francisco 15-8, San Diego trimmed Philadelphia 8-2 and Pittsburgh beat Houston 9-5. Atlanta and St. Louis weren't scheduled.

In the American League, it was Baltimore 7, Kansas City 6; Minnesota 9, Detroit 6; Milwaukee 5, Boston 1; the New York Yankees 7, Oakland 3 and California 8, Washington 0. The Chicago White Sox and Cleveland had the day off.

Parker called his hitting display "about the biggest thrill I've ever had in baseball" and said he's been waiting two years to hit for the cycle.

"I've thought about this ever since I just missed doing it against Cincinnati two years ago," Parker disclosed. "I had a single, double and triple and my last at-bat I missed a home run by a foot. The outfielder—I don't remember who it was—caught it leaping against the wall. It's something I've always wanted to do."

Parker tied the score 1-1 with a seventh-inning homer off starter Ray Sadecki, triggering a four-run uprising.

Agee's leadoff single in the first inning extended his hitting streak to 18 games, tying the club mark set by Frank Thomas in 1962, the Mets' first year.

The scorching Reds increased their winning streak to eight games and sent the Cubs to their sixth straight defeat and first at home after 10 triumphs.

Bernie Carbo hit a two-run homer for the big blow and Jim McGlothlin got the victory, with ninth-inning help from Clay Carroll.

Nate Colbert hit two solo homers for the Padres against Philadelphia and shortstop Steve Huntz, brought up from the minors less than two weeks ago, cracked his fourth homer and drove in three runs. Colbert has nine.

Al Oliver's tie-breaking two-out single in the eighth inning touched off a four-run uprising that carried Pittsburgh by Houston, snapping the Pirates' seven-game losing streak.

The Bucs also scored four in the first inning, three on a homer by Willie Stargell and another on Bob Robertson's solo shot.

It All Comes Down To One Game

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Knicks have the home court—and Willis Reed back in sneakers—tonight in the sudden-death seventh game of the National Basketball Association title playoffs with Los Angeles.

Long-suffering Knick fans who have waited patiently for their first championship will no doubt pump some adrenalin into their heroes with tireless exhortation. The game will be televised on ABC (channels 7 and 13) beginning at 4:30 p.m.

But—as the Knicks' Cazzie Russell said earlier in the playoffs—"They don't put the ball in the hole for you."

That's where Reed comes in. Importance of the Knicks' ace center was graphically demonstrated by Wednesday night's 135-113 loss to the Lakers. While Reed watched from the bench with a bruised right hip, Los Angeles' Wilt Chamberlain ate the Knicks alive with 45 points and 27 rebounds as the Lakers tied the series at 3-3.

It's true New York won the fifth game Monday night at Madison Square Garden after Reed got hurt in the first quarter, but it was a super team effort and quick change of style that baffled Los Angeles. On Wednesday night, the Lakers had time to adjust.

So the arduous season—with its seemingly never-ending crop of playoff games—comes down to one game. And for the Knicks, it hinges on a rectus femoris muscle, the one that Reed hurt.

The 6-foot-10, 235-pound Reed will play, but how effective he will be, is the big question mark.

Team doctors have been putting him through the most sophisticated healing processes. They've run him through a steam room, an ice plunge and a standup whirlpool.

BEMAN LEADS IN HOUSTON

Hogan Off To Good Start

HOUSTON (AP) — He came stumping down the fairway on once-shattered legs, limping badly on an injured left knee, the familiar white cap a signpost out of the past.

And the fabled Texas Hawk who dominated another era of golf received an ovation at every green from the gallery that came to study the moves of the master who won 10 major championships, including four U.S. open titles.

He responded with a par 71, a highly respectable score on the treacherous Champions Golf Club course, and trailed leader Deane Beman by just three strokes going into today's second round of the $115,000 Houston Champions International Invitational Golf Tournament.

It was the first competitive appearance in almost three years for the man who swept three major championships—the U.S. and British Opens and the Masters—in 1953.

"I must admit I was a little nervous," said Hogan, long reputed to have nerves to match his steel-gray eyes. But he made some putts when he had to—it was putting woes that forced him into a semi-retirement several years ago—and really had trouble only on the sixth hole, which he double bogeyed.

The 32-year-old Beman, who had an outstanding amateur record before turning pro only three years ago, played in relative obscurity early in the day, posted his 68, then sat back and watched it stand up for the lead.

He held a one-stroke margin over Gibby Gilbert, who had only the marshals as a gallery, Australian Bruce Crampton and Bert Greene, tied at 69.

South African Gary Player, one of the pre-tourney favorites for the $23,000 first prize, bogeyed the last two holes for a 72. Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper are not competing.

"No, I'm not satisfied," the 56-year-old Hogan said. "I'm never satisfied. But I can't change the score now.

"I hope to do a little better.

Miss Walsh, MacKay Advance

Sharon Walsh, 18, of San Rafael defeated Carol Graebner of New York, 6-3, 6-2 and Barry MacKay of Ross eliminated Jim Osborne of Honolulu 6-4, 6-4 yesterday at the Central California Open Tennis Championships at Sacramento.

Ashe, of Gum Springs, Va., defeated Stanford star Roscoe Tanner Thursday, 6-4, 6-2, and Graebner, of New York, downed Ken Stuard of Long Beach, Calif., 6-3, 7-5.

In some minor upsets, unseeded Tom Gorman of Seattle defeated No. 7 seed Jim McManus of Berkeley, Calif., 6-2, 1-6, 6-2, and fifth seeded Roy Barth of San Diego lost to Jaime Fillol of Chile, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4.

Joe Kapp To Be Honored At Benefit Dinner In S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Joe Kapp, the Minnesota Vikings quarterback who led Cal to its last Rose Bowl game in 1959, will be honored tonight at a benefit dinner to help needy student-athletes at Cal.

More than 800 persons — mostly coaches and athletic alumni from California—are expected to attend the dinner at the Hilton Hotel.

Kapp had requested that the proceeds from the $25-a-plate dinner go to aid the athletes.

Kapp, son of a Mexican mother and whose father was of German descent, spoke Thursday to minority students at Laney Junior College in Oakland.

FISH AND GAME

Trout Fishing Will Improve In Marin

By AL GIDDINGS

With the trout season opener in Marin County last weekend labeled a bust, maybe a few questions should be answered here and now.

One question, "What happened to the trout plants?" can be answered by saying a foul-up resulted in the schedule when the Department of Fish and Game fisheries men planned to start the plants of trout to coincide with the March 1 opening this year.

When the Marin Municipal Water District kept the lakes closed for the March 1 opening, the scheduled plants were all rerouted to different waters.

The rescheduled plants for lakes Phoenix and Lagunitas were last minute plants rerouted from other areas. The fish, 1,000 in Phoenix and 2,500 in Lagunitas, were somewhat in shock for the opener, having been planted May 1. The two 5,000 fish plant orders scheduled for Phoenix and Lagunitas were lost in the shuffle somehow at the hatchery.

The second question, "Will there be an improvement in the fishery this season?" is answered affirmatively by Fish and Game fisheries men. New plants are being scheduled for Phoenix, Lagunitas and Rodeo Lagoon for the near future.

ALSO SCHEDULED are the possibilities of a chemical treatment plan for Phoenix Lake for the eradication of the carp now there. Fish and Game net crews, before the trout season, took close to 250 carp in one haul.

The carp (three or four spawners) were planted by a well-meaning but misinformed conservationist last year These spawned and now we have the lake full of small carp.

The Nicasio Lake carp problem may be handled the same way the Clear Lake carp problem is handled in Lake County, to wit: A commercial fisherman is given the contract to rid the lake of carp by netting. All the game fish are returned to the waters during the netting operations, the fisherman sells the carp.

DURING THE week, three young anglers rang my doorbell to show me their fish taken from the creeks through Woodacre. Rich Raddue, aged 12, Bernie Simpson, 12, and Greg Kalemha, 14, all from Woodacre, each caught a trout. The fish each weighed about four to five pounds and were taken from those deep holes from under the tree roots that make such good hiding places for fish along the creeks.

AND DON BAMBAUER of Greenbrae dropped me a line to say that he had taken a small salmon from Lake Nicasio on a red rubber nite crawler. Impossible? Nope. Some salmon and steelhead escape the downstream traps above Nicasio Dam, thereby ending up in the dam itself. These fish are legal to keep! Don released his!

IN THIS week's release from the Department of Fish and Game there are no scheduled plants at the Marin lakes or Rodeo Lagoon. Forget it until next week.

ALSO, CALIFORNIA'S northwestern trout season will open Saturday, May 30, instead of the May 24 opening incorrectly released by the DFG last week. The area included in the northwestern season includes Humboldt and Del Norte counties, the Mad River drainage below Ruth Dam in Trinity County and the Eel River drainage in the counties of Humboldt, Mendocino, Trinity and Lake below Pillsbury Lake.

DID YOU know that Clear Lake produces more fish than any other lake in Northern California?

DFG studies show that Clear Lake produces more than 50 pounds of fish per surface area. This includes carp and blackfish that are taken commercially. Crappie, bluegill and catfish make up more than 90 per cent of the catch. Other species included largemouth bass, carp and green sunfish. The average angler caught six fish per trip. March through July are best months for crappie and bluegill. Catfish hit best in fall and winter.

I RECEIVED the annual mussel quarantine order this past week from the State Department of Public Health. The quarantine is in effect from May 1 to Oct. 31.

The order reads: "In view of the high toxin levels encountered in 1969 and the occurrence of two outbreaks of poisoning involving 15 persons, it is highly desirable that surveillance of mussels and clams for toxin be continued through the 1970 season. Each coastal county is asked to submit mussel and clam specimens to the Sanitation and Radiation Laboratory from at least two representative locations on a twice-monthly schedule. All suspect cases of paralytic shellfish poisoning should be reported immediately by telephone to the Bureau of Communicable Disease Control."

With clam tides this Saturday and Sunday, the health department recommends discarding all dark meat parts of the clams.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

Avoid shoving the ball out and galloping to the foul line. The delivery should be graceful. . .a fluid action from start to finish. And, of course, your speed should inchease as you move closer to the foul line.

Kaline Not Among The A.L. All-Star Game Nominees

NEW YORK (AP) — Al Kaline, veteran outfielder for the Detroit Tigers, is counting on votes from baseball fans to make the American League All-Star team this year at Cincinnati July 14 for the 14th time.

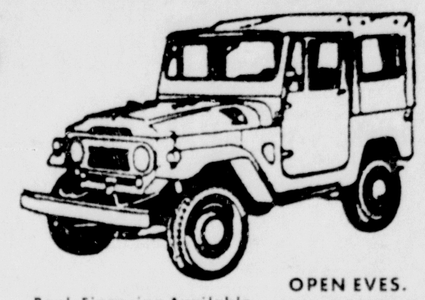

Kaline, hampered by injuries the last two seasons, was omitted from the list of 48 AL players nominated Thursday by managers and players.

The fans' vote on the candidates will determine the actual selections. There is an empty space for write-in choices, on the ballot and Kaline is counting on sufficient write-ins of his name to make the team.

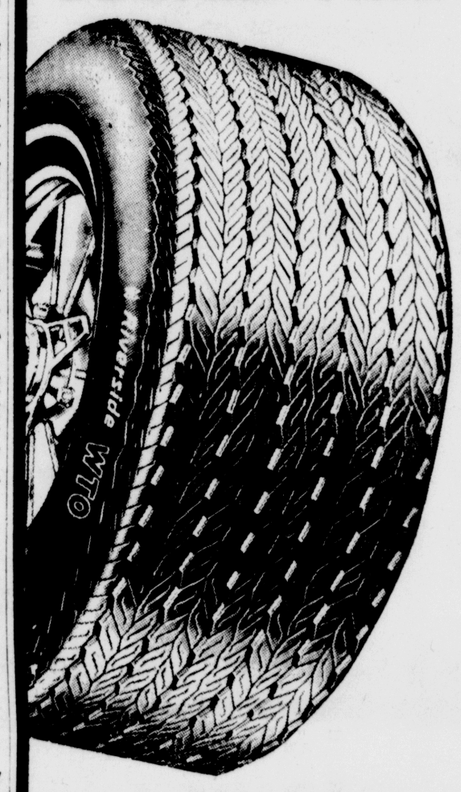

"It could happen," said Kaline, who is hitting .330 so far this season. "Any way you make it is an honor, but if people went to all that trouble of write-ins maybe it would be more of an honor."

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who announced the candidates, said the National League nominees would be announced later. The Gillette Company is distributing the ballots through retail outlets. Voting starts May 30 and ends June 28.

The American League nominees are:
First base — Norm Cash, Detroit; Mike Epstein, Washington; Tony Horton, Cleveland; Boog Powell, Baltimore, Rich Reese, Minnesota; George Scott, Boston.
Second base — Mike Andrews, Boston; Rod Carew, Minnesota; Dick Green, Oakland, Tommy Harper, Milwaukee; Dave Johnson, Baltimore; Dick McAuliffe, Detroit.
Shortstop — Luis Aparicio, Chicago; Mark Belanger, Baltimore; Bert Campaneris, Oakland; Leon Cardenas, Minnesota; Jim Fregosi, California; Rico Petrocelli, Boston.
Third base — Sal Bando, Oakland; Harmon Killebrew, Minnesota; Ken McMullen, California; Bill Melson, Chicago; Brooks Robinson, Baltimore; Aurelio Rodriguez, Washington.
Catcher — Joe Azcue, California; Bill Freehan, Detroit; Elrod Hendricks, Baltimore; Duane Josephson, Chicago; George Mitterwald, Minnesota; Duke Sims, Cleveland.

Agricultural Preserve Cutback Need Argued

Marin's agricultural preserve area should be cut back to include mostly lands which have already signed 10-year agreements, Marin Land Conservation Advisory Committee members declared unanimously.

After the cutback, the committee intends to review all properties in more detail to see which should be excluded or included in the agriculture preserve.

A letter recommending this method of approach will go to the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Advisory committee member Waldo Giacomini wanted to use a more drastic approach of limiting the agriculture preserve entirely to those already with 10-year agreements. This would not preclude those outside the preserve from applying for entry, he argued.

Chairman Boyd Stewart and other members, however, convinced Giacomini that the cutback should leave some options, in case there are lands not yet under agreement which obviously should be in the preserve.

Stewart pointed out that in the Point Reyes seashore area, for example, there are many ranches not yet under 10-year agreement. If the county assessor begins raising assessments in the seashore area on the basis of current sales on the Lake Ranch, other property owners may want to enter into an agricultural preserve contract, said stewart.

Parcels on the Lake Ranch have sold for $2,000 to $3,500 per acre.

The advisory committee also voted 4 to 1 to take no action on a request by Nancy Dunn of Marshall to have her 34 acres included in the preserve area. She wants to breed Arabian horses on the property, just north of Marshall between Shoreline Highway and Tomales Bay.

Giacomini moved to table the request until the committee has made an overall study of what areas should be included, and what uses would be compatible with agriculture. He was backed by George Grossi, Harold Gregg and chairman Stewart.

Anthony Silveira voted "no", explaining that Mrs. Dunn should not be denied just because her application came at a time when the committee has started an overall review.

The next meeting of the advisory committee is set for 10 a.m. May 21 in the county counsel's office at the Civic Center.

Campaign For Better POW Help

The Marin County Chapter of the American Red Cross observed World Red Cross Day today by launching a two-day "Write Hanoi" campaign aimed at getting more humane treatment of American prisoners of war held by North Vietnam.

The Red Cross wants Hanoi to furnish to the Red Cross the names, ranks, serial numbers and birthdates of American prisoners; to permit prisoners to communicate with their families; to repatriate seriously ill and wounded prisoners as soon as they are well enough to travel, and to permit a neutral agency to inspect prisoner facilities.

The Red Cross — conducting this campaign nationally — feels a flood of letters to the government of North Vietnam might persuade it to adhere to the Geneva Convention regulations, a spokesman said.

Red Cross volunteers will distribute information sheets and sample letters till 8 o'clock tonight at the Northgate Shopping Center. They will be at Red Hill Shopping Center in San Anselmo, Town and Country Village in Strawberry and Pacheco Plaza Shopping Center in Novato between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. Saturday.

Letters should be brief and non-abusive, the Red Cross said, and addressed to: Office of the President, Democratic Republic of Vietnam, Hanoi, North Vietnam.

Selling Heroin Case Is Refused

The case of an 18-year-old San Anselmo youth accused of offering to sell heroin has been refused by Marin Juvenile Court becuase of the nature of the charge, it was reported yesterday in municipal court.

A plea of innocent to the count was entered by George Billy Wigner Jr. and a preliminary hearing was set for June 4.

Reunions Slated In San Rafael

Reservations may be made with Mello at 2171 45th Avenue, San Francisco.

Homeowners Warned On School Funds

The Peacock Gap Homeowners Association has been told that unless the voters approved a tax rate increase June 2, San Rafael City Schools budget would be reduced by about $400,000 next year.

H. L. Childress, president of the San Rafael Board of Education told the group Wednesday that priorities have not yet been established, but some school programs would suffer, according to J. Robert Hunt, president of the homeowners association.

Childress said he felt the first programs to be effected would be those which would not effect the education program, Hunt reported, adding that Childress indicated he was thinking of the athletic program.

Other effects, the board president said, might be the elimination of bus transportation, class size increases and nonreplacement of school equipment.

The board of education is requesting San Rafael voters to approve a hike in the general purpose tax rate of 40 cents per $100 assessed valuation for the elementary schools, and a rate increase of 30 cents per $100 assessed valuation for high schools.

Those rates are now $2.25 per $100 assessed valuation, for elementary schools, and $1.75 for high schools.

The homeowners also heard a report on McNears Beach from John F. McInnis, chairman of the Marin Board of Supervisors and Pierre Joske, director of the county parks and recreation department.

Homeowners' Leader Named

Other officers elected at the association's monthly meeting Wednesday were James E. Rutledge, vice president; Shirley Griffen, secretary; Robert A. McHugh, treasurer, and Howard B. Scholten, Carolyn Myers and Robert A. Davies, directors.

The board also endorsed the Cal-Fong development in the Alto Bowl area. The project, which will have 120 garden cottages on a 27-acre site, was approved April 27 by the Mill Valley Planning Commission.
